Preparing for Tunnel Celebration.

In his first annual report to the New Jersey-New York Real Estate Exchange on Jan. 21, President Otto Kempner says:

"The Exchange has two important undertakings on hand, both of which deserve the most serious consideration. The first is the celebration of the opening of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company's tunnel, which should be observed as an event of far-reaching significance to the entire State of New Jersey; the second is the project of a united headquarters for the real estate and railroad interests of New Jersey in the new Hudson Terminal Buildings.

"In reference to the first project, I beg to say that the union between New York and New Jersey by means of the tunnel will afford a chance to bring to public notice the great residential and industrial opportunities that New Jersey offers, as no other event in the history of that State could ever have done. We are confident that the completion of the tunnel will be the turning point in New Jersey's prosperity, and mark an era of unparalleled good times, particularly as to real estate.

Legislative Digest.

Mr. E. J. McLaughlin, of Brooklyn, dealer in masons' building materials, has taken steps to have a bill introduced in the Legislature relative to changing the New York State Lien law to comply with the New Jersey Lien law.

Assemblyman Levy introduced a bill repealing the "call loan" laws, which modify the usury law to permit the charging of more than 6 per cent. interest under certain conditions. He believes the running up of call rates to a prohibitive extent had a great deal to do with the recent financial crisis.

Senator McCarren—Giving the Commissioner of Bridges in New York City, on approval of the Board of Estimate, the power to select sites for bridge approaches.

Mr. Hackett—Requiring two motormen on surface, subway and elevated cars in New York City.

Mr. Schmidt—Exempting real estate of religious corporations in New York City from assessments for public improvements.

The plans which the New York Central has for a Bronx "grand central" station hang upon the bill which Senator Owens introduced this week giving to the New York Central and its leased roads rights under the surface portions of Spencer pl, 144th st, Mott av, Cheever pl and 138th st. This is a modification of his bill of last year. It is said that the work intended to be done here will cost several million. At 150th st the subway road passes, and one of the underlying reasons for the new depot is the possible connection with the underground road to further relieve congestion at the terminal and at the same time add to the convenience of travelers. The plans must be approved by the Board of Estimate, to which body they have not yet been presented.

The bills prepared by Mayor McClellan and advised by his financial cabinet have been introduced by Senator Saxe. Under one of these bills the liens on real estate resulting from arrears of taxes will be sold at public auction as a measure for the collection of back taxes. These liens will take precedence over all other liens, including first mortgages. Another bill provides that in the determination of the tax rate the Board of Aldermen must act within three weeks after the assessment rolls shall have been delivered to it. This is to give ample time for the extension of taxes. The bill also provides that the extension of taxes shall be undertaken by the Tax Department instead of the Aldermen. Another bill provides for amendments to the tax laws relative to the taxation or corporate stock. It provides that the capital stock, except such as shall be exempt by law, together with its surplus profits after deducting the value of its real estate, shall be assessed at its actual value.

Home Show at the Grand Central Palace.

At the Grand Central Palace, from May 2 to May 9, inclusive, the Home Show will have its exhibit, devoted to everything that pertains to the home. It is the first opportunity that all the building, furnishing and decorating trades have had to exhibit together. Modern saving devices, furnishings of all kinds and building materials will be on view. Undoubtedly prospective home purchasers and builders will gain much knowledge by attending the Home Show.

Calling in a Mortgage.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Kindly inform me in your legal column whether a mortgage can be called in previous to given date if worded as follows: "To be paid on or before the first day of May, 1910."

"SUBSCRIBER H."

Answer.—No; the option of payment before 1910 is with the mortgagor.—Ed.

Forfeited His Rights.

(From the Record and Guide, Jan. 11.)

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

A (a merchant) owns a plot of land with an old building thereon. B (a broker) approaches A, who wishes to lease the lot and erect a new building thereon. The rent of the lot is stated by A and is satisfactory to C, who finally decides that he cannot spare the funds to erect the new building. Later on B approaches A and says that C will take the lot at the rent stated if A will erect a building thereon, C to pay an additional rental of 10% per annum on the cost of erecting the building. B acts in all the negotiations and draws a lease for the lot and building and has the lease executed by both parties, B witnessing the signature of both parties. Several days later B sends A a bill for commission for renting the lot, which A paid. No mention is made of any further commission to be charged, and A says he had no fore-knowledge that such commission would be charged, and he does not capitalize the commission. Subsequently, or after the erection of the building, B sends A a bill for commission on the rental of the building, the amount of which could not be computed until the cost of construction was determined. A refuses to pay on the ground that nothing was said about commission on the rental of the building. B holds that both lot and building were one transaction, as per the lease drawn and executed; that the bill presented was for the part then delivered, and that the subsequent bill for commission could not be rendered before, as the building was not erected and the cost of same was not known to either A or B, so that it was impossible for B to present bill to A until the cost of construction was known, so as to fix the rental which C was to pay. A and C agree that B acted in all the negotiations. The matter was left to arbitration, each side selecting a real estate man as arbitrator. The arbitrators cannot agree, and you are requested to decide the matter. Is B entitled to commission on rent of the building?

Answer.—We are of the opinion that B concluded himself as to any further claim of commissions by his first bill for same, rendered and paid, after the lease had been made and executed, and no new facts arising, not known to the parties at that time on which to base the further claim. The form of that bill, or what was said between the parties at the time of its rendering or payment, which are not before us, might influence this view, however.—Ed.

Second Answer.—After seeing copies of the original statement, lease and bill in question, which have now been forwarded, we are of the opinion that the broker forfeited his right to any subsequent commission. While the broker was morally entitled to the full commission, still he was negligent in not making mention of the fact during some conversation with the owner of the property or on the first bill rendered. Had he rendered no bill until the entire transaction was completed he would have been entitled not only to a commission on the lot but also on the building.

Concrete Piles for New Boardwalk.

A recent illustration of the growing confidence in the permanency of concrete construction is evidenced by a decision of the City Council of Atlantic City to reconstruct a large portion of the famous "Boardwalk," using concrete piles connected by concrete girders. This contract has been awarded to the Raymond Concrete Pile Company, of New York and Chicago. The portion of the walk which is to be reconstructed extends from Connecticut to Pacific avs, and is located between 300 and 500 ft. nearer the ocean that the site of the present walk. The change of position is necessitated by the building up of the land, which has taken place during the past four or five years. It is the intention of the city officials to replace the present wooden boardwalk as occasion demands with a structure of a permanent nature. Contract as awarded calls for 800 ft. of a walk, 41 ft. wide and 3,400 ft. of walk 21 ft. wide. The walk is supported on 380 concrete piles 16 ins. in diameter, varying from 28 ft. to 32 ft. in length. These piles are arranged in bents of four and two, 20 ft. from centre to centre of bent. The tops of the piles are connected by a reinforced concrete girder 24 ins. in depth and 8½ ins. wide. These girders form a support of the 14x4-in. joists. The upper surface of the walk is faced with 2-in. plank, thus retaining to a certain extent the appearance of the former boardwalk.

Barnett Berger has been appointed by Judge Newburger, of the Supreme Court, receiver of rents of the property 230 East 111th st, a 6-sty flat. This is the result of an action to foreclose a mortgage of $8,500 brought by Leon Tuchman against Moses Wolf and others.

Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association

THE work of the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association during the year 1907 covered a wide range of subjects. The development of the locality with which it is associated has been so rapid that many matters of public improvement which ordinarily might be left to take their customarily deliberate course have become urgent and have demanded an active interest which only such organizations can be depended upon to exercise.

The establishment of the express system on the third or middle track of the Broadway division of the subway, which convenience was the result of the active and determined persistence of the association, has greatly aided in this rapid development, but without the accompanying preparation for the accommodation of the incoming population, by street openings, paving, sewerage and lighting, the advantages of the locality would not have been utilized.

The exertions of the association have for some years been devoted to these matters, and the improvement and repaving of Broadway and of Amsterdam, St. Nicholas and Edgecombe avs have had an extraordinary influence in promoting the building of high-class apartment houses, bringing the most desirable element of residents to the Heights.

The Borough President was urged to undertake these improvements, and evinced a personal interest therein, with results which must be regarded as some of the best accomplishments of his term of office.

The association has realized the wide importance to the city at large, of the Riverside Drive extension, and has succeeded in overcoming local opposition and obstacles to the regrading of side streets connecting with that great parkway which will render it more accessible, and will conduce to the erection in its neighborhood of high-class buildings.

The opening and sewering of new streets in the neighborhood of subway stations had been too long delayed, and property owners have had to be stirred to action to prepare for the growth of each such district.

One of the important matters in which the citizens at large are as much interested as those of the Heights is the securing to the Riverside Drive of the unobstructed outlook on the Hudson side, and much work has been devoted to the effort to induce the Board of Estimate to take early steps towards this protective policy. In view of the probable construction of a large garage at one point on the west side of the drive, the board finally directed the acquisition of a strip of land from 161st st to 165th st, which tract has been utilized as a dump for vast masses of rock brought from the subway and other excavations. During the recent financial scare this action has been reversed and the matter now stands where it did a year ago.

The intersection of Riverside Drive extension with the Boulevard Lafayette at 158th st and Audubon pl has been a matter of concern to all who have observed the plan, and the dangerous conditions which will be presented when the drive is opened to this point, by reason of the acute angle at which the drive connects with the crossing stream of hauling traffic on 158th st and Audubon pl. The association opposed a scheme of rectification by a high and costly viaduct extending from 155th to 160th sts, and prepared and submitted an alternative scheme, which was adopted by Mr. F. Stuart Williamson, C. E., the consulting engineer of the Borough President, and is embodied in his interesting and beautiful plans for the future improvement of the northerly portion of the drive, extending from 155th st to and connecting with the Hudson Memorial Bridge on Inwood Hill.

In connection with this general subject, the association has undertaken the task of defending the West Side section of the city from the undue burden of cost of the drive, of which 50% is proposed to be laid on a narrow area of assessment from 72d to 218th st, and between 8th av and the Hudson R. R. tracks.

This opposition is based on the ground that such an imposition upon a limited number of property owners is unfair, by reason of the character of the drive as a general public parkway, and in view of the probability of future similar costly improvements to the drive, in which the whole body of citizens is equally interested, it is easily to be seen that the locality would be excessively burdened.

In the public agitation which was engendered about the suggested application of the Hofman or Neill system to the awards for property taken to widen the east side of Riverside Drive, from 158th to 165th sts, the association took some part, representing the view that the reckless statements as to the values of the property which were made by certain parties interested in opposing the awards were unjustifiable. These parties' statements were mainly inspired by a desire to cast the cost of this work upon Washington Heights, and the representations of the association were the only means employed in maintaining as wide an area of assessment as possible.

The most important as well as strenuous work for the public undertaken by the association during the past year was the exposure and defeat of the so-called Eleventh Avenue Track Removal bill, engineered by the late Board of Rapid Transit, and containing provisions as to the disposal of public lands and concessions of other rights and unnecessary privileges to the railroad company which were particularly injurious to the Washington Heights section.

Although the bill was forced through the Senate, the force of public opinion induced the Assembly to hold it up, and it finally lapsed in their committee. In this work the association enlisted the support of a number of other organizations, and there can be no doubt that the public interest excited by this matter contributed to secure the passage of the Public Service Corporation Act, by which such deals are rendered practically impossible in future.

To the investigation of the inadequacy and mismanagement of subway, elevated and surface transit the association contributed information and observation on schedules, train irregularities and statistics, and it is at present, as it has been during the past two years, endeavoring to secure action towards better treatment of the public, and is urging the Public Service Commission to take action requiring better facilities at the deep tunnel stations at 168th and 181st sts, where the inadequate elevators and dangerous stairways menace the security of the patrons of these stations.

The attempt on the part of the merged transit corporations to secure the closing of 9th av and 218th st at the upper end of the Dyckman tract was successfully opposed by the association, whose action was endorsed by unanimous public opinion. The view adopted and presented was that the burden of proof lay upon the company, of showing that the site which it already possesses was insufficient or undesirable for the purposes of car repair and storage. No attempt was, however, made by the corporation to present such a demonstration, and the authorities were asked to deprive the public of important roadways merely on the assertion of a railroad official that the area was necessary. With any other class of individual it might be expected that the lesson of this failure would produce some impression, but the association has had sufficient dealings with transit officials to know that they, as well as city officials, need careful observation, and that this attempt to steal public property will be renewed at the first sign of public indifference.

In view of the growth of traffic to the subway stations, the association asked for additional stairways at the 137th and 145th st stations, which are now under construction.

For two years the late commission permitted the Interborough Company to maintain two large ventilating fan houses in the middle of Broadway, at 138th and 142d sts, which constituted a public menace and nuisance. After continuous agitation these buildings have been removed and grated openings substituted through the centre pathways of the Broadway park plots.

During the year the membership considerably increased and the meetings have been marked by a growing interest in public affairs, and these results, combined with the issue of the important work reported and numerous other detail matters during the past year, make a record of an active and successful period in the history of Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association.

A Plea for More Attractive Back Yards.

The newcomer to town, impressed by our skyscrapers, subways, shops and residence fronts, is often correspondingly depressed and dismayed by the unkempt appearance of our rear areas. Almost everywhere from hotel windows and elevated trains a vista of tall, weather-beaten poles is in evidence, from which radiate pulley lines, strung high in the air, with a nondescript assortment of the family wash, much of which, seemingly, a sense of delicacy and refinement would shield from public view. Furthermore, the custom is primitively inconvenient and a menace to life, as the weekly record of accidents proves. They manage such things better abroad and in certain cities of this land where back yards are made attractive with balconies, benches, trellises and shrubbery, and the convenience, privacy and safety of the laundry work is studied.

There are several inexpensive devices made for the convenient drying of clothes, one contrivance in particular being patterned after the style of the old-fashioned revolving lawn reel. A half dozen or more of this pattern have been observed in operation on several apartment houses in West 141st st, between 7th and 8th avs, and it may be said that their appearance at least is greatly in their favor. Their general adoption would, it is believed, lend toward increased rentals and higher values. In this connection it is understood that a petition is being signed having for its end the passage of a city ordinance prohibiting the further erection of pulley poles in residential centres.

When an Appeal Is Taken.

Property owners can now examine the books in the assessor's office and file their protests. These protests will later be heard by the Tax Commissioners, who can reduce the assessment or leave it alone. It is possible to have the work of the commissioners reviewed by the Supreme Court on a writ of certiorari. The court reviews only the case as presented to the Tax Commissioners, and if the property holder goes before the court he must rely solely on the case he has made out before the Tax Commissioners.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1907.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagees. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Registers office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

January 17, 18, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

JERSEY CITY.—John T. Rowland, 15 Exchange pl, Jersey City, is receiving estimates for the 2-sty factory building, to be erected by Jabez Burns & Co., to cost $50,000.

BELLEVILLE.—The Belleville Board of Education will ask the legal voters of the township to appropriate $46,500. Of this sum $5,000 is intended for the purchase of a plot at Hornblower av and Rutgers st, and it is proposed to erect a school building thereon at a cost not to exceed $38,400. The remaining $3,100 is for the purchase of a plot of land adjoining the Jerolaman st school. Chas. G. Jones, 280 Broadway, Manhattan, has prepared plans.

TRENTON.—Henry T. Caullet expects to build ten houses, to cost about $1,800 each, on East State st, east of Assanpink Creek. He is now finishing eight new brownstone houses on East State st, east of Clinton av, and is planning to build two more.—Benj. C. Skirm will build two houses on the south side of East State st, adjoining the Lewis Parker property. Mr. Skirm also will build two houses adjoining ex-Sheriff Thropp's residence. All these are to be costly.

NEWARK.—T. Cecil Hughes has drawn plans for a 2-sty store and dwelling which the Alliance Investment Co. will build at Lentz av and the Central Railroad. It will have ground dimensions of 30x38 ft. The ceilings and side walls of the building throughout will be of metal. The estimated cost of the structure is about $4,000.—Thomas Cressey has completed plans for a 4-sty brk store and tenement building, which Alfred G. Williams will erect at 202 and 204 8th av, at a cost of $15,000. The structure will measure about 40x90 ft.

JERSEY CITY.—E. E. Quaife, 709 Grand st, Jersey City, has prepared plans for two 4-sty brk store and flat houses to be erected by Henry Schumacher, 10 Gates av, at Ocean and Lembeck avs, at a total cost of $40,000. It is stated that estimates are desired by the owner on all parts of the work but masonry.

CERTAIN regulations for the use and occupation of the streets, recommended for adoption to the Board of Estimate by a special commission, would abrogate the right of builders to occupy one-third of the street, and leave the determination of the area to be occupied, as well as the time of occupation, to the Commissioner of Street Cleaning. As in effect they would under arbitrary enforcement limit the term for the completion of building works, it will be seen that the proposed regulations possibly hold grave consequences for the building trades, and at any rate should receive their attention. The suggestion emanates from a commission of three engineers appointed last June by the Mayor to investigate and report on some new and improved system of street cleaning. Tendencies and conditions resultiug from rapid city growth have so complicated the herculean task of keeping the thoroughfares in order, the Mayor considers that a better method is imperatively demanded. The commissioners have, after studying the problem here and abroad, made an exhaustive report. While they regard the general use of street flushing, rather than sweeping, as the most important of their recommendations, there are other directions in which changes are suggested. The laws and ordinances relating to street-littering of all kinds should be rigidly enforced, and as permits to occupy the streets for building purposes affect the operations of the Department of Street Cleaning more than any other city department, they believe that all such permits should be issued by this department, that a fixed license fee, based upon the area occupied and the locaton, should be exacted from builders, and that a date of expiration should be named in the permit. A renewal of the permit at double rate would be eutirely discretionary with the head of the department. This is a proposition which we think should be carefully studied. No doubt it is well intended, with the object of reducing street obstructions to the minimum, but the power of determining within what period of time a building work shall be executed is one which, if exercised at all, should scarcely be reposed in such unaccustomed hands.

WIIILE it is improbable that any plan of charter revision will be sufficiently developed in detail to pass during the current session of the Legislature, there is one recommendation of the commission that should not fail to receive favorable action. There should be no hesitation in passing the proposed amendment to the State constitution which exempts money spent on remunerative improvements from inclusion within the debt limit, and this amendment should be so worded as to include dock improvements as well as subways. For years the Record and Guide has been insisting upon the necessity of action to this effect. When under Mayor Low's administration some relief was obtained by a general increase of real estate assessments, we pointed out that such relief could only be temporary; and the time gained should be used in passing an amendment that would put subway and other paying improvements in the same class as the new water-supply system. Nothing, however, was done; and the city again finds its borrowing power wholly insufficient for its imperative needs. The insufficiency is so obvious that at last every responsible municipal official is in favor of it. The Governor and the Public Service Commission have recommended it, and both the Mayor and the Comptroller have admitted its necessity. It will take, however, at least three years to consummate the amendment; and the process should consequently be commenced by the passage of the first bill, submitting the amendment during the current session. Organizations, both local and general, representing the real estate interests, should work actively and persistently on behalf of such legislation. It is absolutely necessary for the future welfare of the city and for the prosperity of its property-owners that the amendment should be passed with the smallest possible delay.

BUT whether or not the Legislature passes an amendment excluding money spent upon remunerative improvements from within the debt limit, the beginning of new subway works concurrently in Manhattan and Brooklyn—even if it is only a section at a time—should not be delayed to that extent. Every effort should in the meantime be made to advance them, with or without private capital. The Record and Guide has always favored as a matter of general polcy the construction of subways by the city, but we fear that just at present the city may lose more by waiting for municipal construction than it would by offering private capital a sufficient inducement to construct the subways that are immediately needed in Manhattan and the Bronx. In view of the over-crowded condition of existing means of transit, the disastrous effects of delay in starting new construction does not need much emphasis. Furthermore the condition of the city's credit is such that for some years as little money as possible should be borrowed. No doubt the value of New York's securities will improve with the general improvement of good bonds, but if the city is obliged to keep on borrowing at the rate it has borrowed since 1900, it will still be obliged to pay excessively for its accommodation. A city such as New York should be able to borrow at 3½ per cent.; but it will never reach such a position as long as it keeps on flooding the market with more of its securities than can be conveniently assimilated. If there is any way, consequently, of diminishing substantially the output of city stock, such a diminution will mean that the city will be able to save just so much interest on all the securities it issues; and this saving might well amount to many million dollars. Yet the burden of raising the $100,000,000 soon to be needed for subway construction could be transferred to private corporations, and the result would be undoubtedly to improve the city's credit by half a point during the next few years.

WITH the Parker building as an illustration, a committee of the Merchants' Association has endeavored to make particularly plain to the Board of Aldermen the meaning and intent of the building code recently proposed and now again the subject of attention at the hands of a commission. It seems to be necessary to repeat for the benefit of some that the Parker building was not erected under the provisions of the existing code, but was fairly typical of the speculative operations of the period. Had the building been constructed under specified regulations identical with those in the code recently proposed for enactment it would no doubt have been a safer repository of goods and light machinery, but would have required a heavier investment of capital and resulted in a building with less rentable space, because of decreased height. The cost per square foot being greater, the rental schedule would have been in the same proportion, and the question is would the investment have been a paying one in those times and for that quarter of the city? The building would not have been more than 150 feet high; the large floor area would have been divided in two by a fire wall; the heavy safes and other weights would not have broken through the floor arches; the columns would have been protected by four inches of fire-resisting material, the girders by three inches and the beams by two; and wire-glass windows in metal frames would have shut off one of the principal routes by which flames extend themselves through a building. But would the fire department have been any more efficient in a crisis, and can anyone say positively that there might not have been other mischances by which the consequences to the tenants and the insurance companies, if not to the building, would have been much the same as in the recent conflagration? Since the point has been raised, it might be well to suggest to the expert builders of the new commission the desirability of making an estimate of the sum that such an operation as the Parker building, taken only as a type, would cost if constructed under a code which will hereafter be submitted for enactment, to take the place of the existing code. What would be the difference in cost for various types of buildings. Then submit the figures to some body of real estate experts with the query, would buildings so constructed produce a reasonable return for their owners? The investment feature cannot be separated from the question of fire-class construction. We do not want to make New York impossible for too many lines of business by raising building costs, and consequently rents, very much higher than they are.

Construction of Tenements.

The Modern Apartment House as the Representative of the Best in City Building.

IT is difficult to fully realize the field of work that has been covered in the reconstruction of old "tenements" and the building up of new. In the old tenements there are perhaps none so conversant with the unsanitary conditions to which the poor have been subject to as the "architect" and the "rent collector."

MAXIMILIAN ZIPKES.

When the tenement house law was first introduced and its various laws enforced, the owners of property who were not so easily convinced or who were not quick enough to grasp or foresee its advantages, threw up their hands as if an officer of the law had stepped in to take their property away. The more conservative owner, however, as well as the shrewd operator, saw at once the advantages and benefits of these laws, and instead of fighting and trying to overthrow them, hailed them as a new avenue by which to increase their holdings, at a profit to themselves and a blessing to the tenants.

Facts and figures have proven that the removal of school sinks from the yards, and the installation of toilet compartments on each floor, as well as the installation of washtubs and sinks in each apartment, have been considered a convenience by the tenants for which they gladly pay the increase in their rents; in all cases proving and bringing a large return in the investment to the owner.

In doing this work it was necessary in a great majority of cases to construct shafts of fireproof material in the center of the house, thus rendering two rooms on each floor on side of shaft lighter, and so affording a breath of air to those whose circumstances still compel them to occupy dwellings of this kind.

Glass windows between rooms acting as transmitters of light and air are also beneficial suggestions of the Tenement House act. Glass panels in doors opening into public halls, as well as ventilating skylights on top of these halls, have added material comfort to the health of the tenants, for there is nothing which helps to accumulate dirt more than darkness.

A great many builders, operators and owners have from time to time experienced grievances in (what seems to them) the harsh rulings of the department. In all complaints against the department, however, they find that the officials are covered by the law. This goes to show that it is not the officials, but the law that needs changing. A great many complaints are due to a technical interpretation of the law. A great number of these, I think, could be obviated, if the Tenement House Department had in connection with it, an official board of examiners, consisting of five paid architects who, by their experience and dealings with the tenements and departments have shown both ability and honesty, and to whom all points and questions of differences should be submitted at a regular stated meeting, and whose opinion should be final.

There is perhaps no form of structure which requires more study and care as well as detailed attention, than the construction of an up-to-date apartment house. Conditions have made it so that a large majority of the rich prefer living in apartment houses. Every known improvement, and every possible effort is used to make an apartment comfortable and attractive. The best of woods and finest of silks are used in the decorative schemes, and as each house is finished we imagine that we have reached the climax of perfection, when, however, our attention is diverted in other directions showing different improvements and new comforts.

Reports from the Boroughs.

Daniel F. Featherston, Secretary of the Manhattan Joint District Council of Carpenters and Joiners, recently received reports from delegates in various parts of the city showing the status of work in that trade during the past year. From these reports we are permitted to make the following notes. They show that in Queens and Richmond times have been at least fair, and reports from the Bronx and Manhattan are optimistic.

DANIEL F. FEATHERSTON.

Mr. John Tower, representing Manhattan, and reporting on conditions in 1907, said that the building industry, at least that in the speculative line, has apparently traveled the pace that kills. "The result has been the extinction of a cheaper class of speculators to the betterment of all concerned." Otherwise, the builder, the owner and worker are all profiting, he says. The wild flurry of the last few years he does not consider to have been of any advantage to any one in particular. It was an incubator which brought forth the worst kind of wildcat realty and construction companies, and now that the panicky times have about passed, it can be said in a general way that they caused some good in eliminating some undesirable elements. In conclusion Mr. Tower says we may properly take the optimist's point of view and be thankful for what we received during the year 1907 and look forward to a brighter future in 1908.

Mr. Charles H. Bausher, representing the Bronx, reports a decided tendency toward a better class of work throughout that borough, and this has resulted in a vast army of skilled mechanics coming to the Bronx. "A great many have moved here and work here whenever the opportunity presents itself, and favorable conditions exist." While the recent financial crisis has seriously affected building operations and mechanics in general, it has also at the same time created a decided lack of confidence in the present banking and financial system, but this is expected to induce capital to seek investment in real estate, which would accelerate the building industry in the Bronx.

Messrs. Charles Bickel and Charles Lamge report that the condition of Richmond during the past year was very prosperous, especially for carpenters. There were employed on the average twelve hundred men, and the prospects are bright.

Mr. James Asher, reporting for Queens, notes that the general condition of the building industry in that borough during the year 1907 was normal. There never was at any time any particular boom. It has rather been a steady growth. But it is true that the late financial crisis stopped several of the large construction companies from building on an extensive scale, on account of their being unable to procure extensive loans. The following are some of the localities where real estate has advanced in valuation and various buildings of the better class have been erected:

Forest Park: Mostly all private houses averaging about eight thousand dollars each. The Dickel Construction Company has built and disposed of about forty 2-family houses, averaging in price about $6,800 each. The Richmond Hill Investment Company has erected and disposed of about thirty 2-family houses, averaging in price about $7,000 each—and the Englehardt Construction Company has erected about sixty houses which they have been very successful with, especially with the property in Brooklyn Manor.—A large number of houses have been erected and sold in Richmond Hill and Morris Park sections, and the increase in valuation has been about twenty per cent.—The Liberty Heights section is still making progress, being within a few blocks of the Kings County Elevated Railroad. The Queens County trolley and the Freeport trolley pass the property.—Various houses have been built in Jamaica, adjoining the Hillside av section, ranging in price from ten to twenty thousand dollars.—Eastwood and Hollis have take quite a lead, and a large number of houses have been erected, mostly of the better class.—All the Rockaway districts have felt the steady growth in population in the same measure as the other parts of the borough.

The west side of Queens, where are situated Long Island City, Elmhurst, Corona, Flushing, College Point, Whitestone and Woodside, have all shared in the prosperity in proportion, with the rest of the borough. The completion of the bridges and tunnels will insure the future of the Borough of Queens and the vicinity. Every farm on the south side of Long Island, from the Kings County line to Brentwood, a distance of forty-five miles, has been sold and cut up in building lots by the various realty companies.

—Since consolidation Brooklyn has obtained appropriations for two bridges, one subway and one municipal ferry line; Queens, one bridge, and Richmond a municipal ferry. Old New York has had only one new rapid transit line. Give the old town a square deal.

THE REALM OF BUILDING.

Nameplates for Fire Windows.

NEW RULES AND REQUIREMENTS GOVERNING THE CONSTRUCTION OF METAL WINDOWS.

The most important matter regarding the construction and use of fire windows that has taken place for some time is the adoption by the New York division of the National Board of Fire Underwriters of rules and requirements governing the construction of such windows. The rules and requirements referred to were formulated some years ago by officers of the National Fire Protection Association. These rules are calculated to govern the construction of metal fire windows and assure the users and purchasers of fire window installations against poorly and cheaply made work that would not stand against a severe fire. The importance, of course, can be readily comprehended and appreciated.

To make these rules more effective and the window more valuable to the insurance business, the laboratory at Chicago for the past year has been requiring of window manufacturers that they should have their windows tested in an oven specially arranged by them and operated by gas. Any and all windows upon being tested and found strong and suitable for maintaining wire glass are very fully investigated, photographed and described for the records of the laboratory and for distribution to the various local underwriters' offices throughout the country. By these very voluminous reports, the inspectors of the different local underwriters' offices are made fully acquainted with the work that should be installed.

Accordingly, it is easy to see that the manufacturer, the buyer and the insurance office having jurisdiction are brought together in a sensible manner by the nameplate that is required to be attached to each and every window carrying the authority of the underwriters' laboratory and the manufacturer of the window through the number that appears on the nameplate.

These nameplates are issued to the manufacturer of windows in any quantity he may wish to order, all regularly numbered and the number of the plates so recorded by the laboratory at the time of shipment. When manufacturers are about to deliver ten or more windows, such windows before shipment are examined by the local representative of the Chicago laboratory. Upon the approval of the work by the inspector, the windows are shipped and the numbers of the plates attached to the particular windows are accounted for to the Chicago laboratory; the Chicago laboratory in return keeps this record and advises the local underwriters' association of such an installation. Accordingly, it is easily seen that the system is very complete and far reaching.

Inasmuch as the fire underwriters have all along been noncommittal on the question of fire windows, and are even inclined to-day to give them no more consideration than the ordinary fire shutter, it is quite probable that fire window installations will much increase in popularity, for it does not seem as if there was anything like an equality (as the underwriters presume) between an installation of fire windows and an installation of ordinary windows in combination with fire shutters.

Fire shutters invariably are open during the day for the purpose of securing light and ventilation. Against a day fire, the shutters being open, the building is practically unprotected. Against this, of course, the insurance companies claim that between the fire patrol and the fire department the shutters are regularly closed before any damage or any danger can be experienced.

An examination at almost any day fire will easily demonstrate that these shutters are not uniformly closed by the patrol or the fire department. Against a night fire, while in many cases the shutters will be closed, yet there are always a few instances where there will be a few shutters left open, sometimes for the purpose of ventilation and sometimes on account of the shutter being out of order, while in some cases there are buildings fully equipped with shutters and never closed. In the latter case the manufacturers assert that it can be found by investigation that a rating has been given on buildings and contents upon the condition that the windows are hung with shutters without regard seemingly as to whether the shutters are regularly opened and closed morning and night.

Waid & Willauer to Prepare Parker Building Plans.

4TH AV.—Messrs. Waid & Willauer, architects, No. 156 5th av, have been commissioned to prepare plans for rebuilding and renovating the Parker Building, recently damaged by fire, situated at the southeast corner of 4th av and 19th st. No building contracts have yet been awarded, except for removing the debris to E. & J Marrin, No. 520 East 18th st.

Cement Companies Form New Association

ASSOCIATION OF LICENSED CEMENT MANUFACTURERS REPRESENTS NEARLY 70 PER CENT OF THE ENTIRE PORTLAND CEMENT OUTPUT OF THE UNITED STATES—WILL GRANT LICENSES UNDER EXCLUSIVE PATENTS.

The Association of Licensed Cement Manufacturers has been organized in New York by the North American Portland Cement Company, the Atlas, Alpha, American, Lehigh, Lawrence and Vulcanite Portland cement companies, and various other important companies in the East and West, including the Dexter, Edison, Nazareth, Pennsylvania, Penn-Allen and Catskill, all of which have secured licenses under the Hurry and Seaman, Edison, Carpenter and other patents controlled by the North American company. Other applications for membership have been presented and are under consideration. The officers of the association are A. F. Gertsell, vice-president and general manager of the Alpha Portland Cement Co., president; Conrad Miller, president of the Dexter Portland Cement Co., vice-president; and Alfonso De Navarro, vice-president of the Atlas Portland Cement Co., secretary and general manager.

The purposes of the association include the general betterment of the mechanical and chemical processes used in making cement, the improvement of the quality of cement, dealing with matters of traffic and shipment and the establishment of an association laboratory for technical tests and experiments. It is understood that all existing and properly equipped cement plants will be granted licenses and admitted to membership. Infringers of the patents above referred to will be rigorously prosecuted.

Nearly 70% of the output of the Portland cement industry in this country is already represented by the association, this being double the annual production in Great Britain, the pioneer Portland cement manufacturing country, equal to the combined output of England and France, and in excess of that of Germany.

In the '80's, a few far-sighted American manufacturers undertook to manufacture Portland cement on a large scale, employing the vertical or bottle kiln method then in use in Europe. This method was so obviously imperfect mechanically, however, that the growth of the industry was very slow. In 1890, the production of Portland cement in the United States was less than 400,000 barrels, nearly all of the cement consumed in this country, about 2,500,000 barrels, being imported.

Some manufacturers then experimented with and adopted the inclined rotary kiln—a long rotating firebrick lined cylinder set at a slight angle from the horizontal, into the upper end of which was fed the powdered raw material which was gradually worked down to the lower end against a flame of oil which calcined the material into clinker. But the high and fluctuating price of oil rendered this mechanically perfect method of doubtful commercial value.

In 1895 and 1896, however, Hurry and Seaman, engineers of the Atlas Portland Cement Company, devised and put into successful use apparatus for burning pulverized coal in rotary kilns. Coal was cheap and plentiful, and the cement industry was quick to recognize its opportunity. The effect of the Hurry and Seaman invention was revolutionary. During the next few years the growth of the trade was phenomenal. Oil was abandoned as fuel, and coal substituted. The old vertical kilns were dismantled and made over into rotary coal burning kilns. New plants went up like magic all over the country, all using rotary kilns and pulverized coal.

In 1897 the production of Portland cement in the United States amounted to 2,677,000 barrels. Since then the development has been even more rapid, the output in 1900 amounting to more than 8,000,000 barrels, and in 1906 exceeding 46,000,000 barrels. It is doubtful whether any other industry has shown so rapid a growth in this country. The Hurry and Seaman invention was introduced into England and in other countries of Europe with equally remarkable results, vertical kilns being practically abandoned in favor of rotary kilns using coal.

Meanwhile, Hurry and Seaman obtained a patent on their invention and the Atlas company undertook to assert their rights thereunder. For years the industry resisted until finally a test suit was brought to a hearing, before the U. S. Court at Scranton, Pa., in 1906, with the Alpha Portland Cement Company as defendant. Testimony had been taken in all parts of this country and in Europe, the most noted cement experts and manufacturers acting as witnesses. Six years were spent in preparation for the suit. When the case was argued officers and attorneys of the leading cement companies crowded the court room.

The case was not allowed to go to judgment, however, as immediately after the hearing a number of the most important companies of the Lehigh region, including the defendant, came to terms by agreeing to take out licenses recognizing the Hurry and Seaman patent and to pay substantial royalty.

The North American Portland Cement Company was organized in the latter part of 1906, with a capital stock of $10,000,000, having among its purposes the taking over from the Atlas company of the Hurry and Seaman and other patents and the licensing thereunder of Portland cement manufacturers. During the past year the North American Company has been extremely active in prosecuting infringers of its patents and in acquiring other patents for the protection of its licensees.

Another marked advance in the cement industry was due to Thomas E. Edison, who devised new burning kilns, together with several unique methods of fuel consumption. In particular, he designed and had patented a rotary kiln 150 feet long, and 7 to 8 feet in diameter, having a daily capacity of from 700 to 1,000 barrels of cement. Until that time, the largest kilns in use were 60 to 80 feet long, 5 and 6 feet in diameter, with a capacity of but 200 barrels a day.

Once aware of its possibilities, cement manufacturers proceeded to avail themselves of the long kiln—without Mr. Edison's consent. More than one-half of the Portland cement now made in this country is produced in kilns of the Edison type. Old plants are lengthening their kilns wherever practicable and no wideawake manufacturer building a cement plant to-day could afford to install kilns other than one hundred feet in length and upward.

The adoption of the long kiln by the Portland cement industry in general, and the consequent infringement of the exclusive patents held by Edison covering it, proved to be a fertile source of litigation which was only recently terminated by the acquisition by the North American Company of the patents for long kilns, burners and similar apparatus owned by Mr. Edison.

The Association of Licensed Cement Manufacturers, with its facilities for tests and experiments, its investigation of mechanical and chemical problems, its establishment of standards of quality, and its assistance in obtaining proper shipping facilities and rates is expected to be of great benefit to its members.

Points on the Material Market.

Electrolytic copper is up a quarter of a cent a pound, the new price being 14¼, as announced to the trade by the United Metals Selling Co.

The main offices of the Blount Mountain Portland Cement Co., which is building a new plant at Village Springs, Ala., are at Nazareth, Pa. The works will consist of a dozen considerable buildings.

A canvass is being made this week for President Hammond, of the Brick Manufacturers' Association, of the quantities of brick left over at the Hudson River works. Mr. Hammond is under the impression that the total is less than it was last year. The John B. Rose Company is also making a canvass of the district.

The wall paper trade is moved by the influences which are dominant in the building trades. Business was exceedingly good until last Thanksgiving, ever since the collapse of the National Wall Paper Company in the year 1899. Locally during that period an exceptional amount of money was spent for paperhanging, not only in new buildings but also in old ones. A great wave of interior redecoration swept over the country. The prevailing opinion is for a fair business year after spring opens, and improving from month to month.

Secretary W. P. Corbett, of the Alsen-American Portland Cement Works, 45 Broadway, says that the price of standard cement has held firm for some time, and is at this time actually below the cost of manufacture for many cement companies. "There is probably not a company in the country to-day," added Mr. Corbett, "that, considering the tremendous investment involved, the great wear and tear and the enormous expense of continual improvements to keep up with the procession, that can show a fair or reasonable profit for its stockholders on this price basis. The result is that temporarily almost all the standard mills are closed down tight. It is natural that when everything, including gilt-edge securities, is at an abnormally low level to expect an improvement, and while we have always been adverse to trying to do any prophesying in so uncertain a commodity as cement, yet we fully believe that there will be an improvement and no further recession and look for a decided betterment in cement conditions in the near future."

Municipal Art Society Exhibition.

The seventh annual exhibition of the Municipal Art Society of New York will take place in their galleries, 119 East 19th st, from March 4 to March 27, inclusive. The galleries open every morning at 10 o'clock and close at 6 o'clock. The object of this exhibition is to show not only works of art which are applicable to municipal use, but also to indicate the advance in municipal art during the past year as shown in the work which has been executed. Tickets may be had from the secretary, Charles M. Shean, at the office of the society, 119 East 19th st. The annual dinner will be held on the evening of March 3d.

Construction of Tenements.

Carriages and automobiles take their occupants from their houses without the necessity of crossing the sidewalks, the subway takes its occupants from their houses to their offices without as much as seeing the street, the mail is now delivered to the apartments by automatic mail carriers, telephone and telegraph connections are within each apartment, invisible electric effects add to the splendor of the rooms, heating and cooking by electricity in its highest form is now used as a natural course. The decorations inside and outside display the result of careful study, and it also represents taste, refinement, splendor and comfort, and if these houses by law are called tenement houses, then, indeed, could one be proud to be considered a good tenement house architect. There is but one more important improvement that will soon confront the architect, and that is, "the rebuilding of the roofs of buildings to afford the landing and entrance from air-ships." A few words might be added about the "Speculative Builders." The buildings in former times were in the hands of a few owners, contractors, material men and architects. A sudden fever to build having taken the city in its grasp, it has caused a great number of new concerns to spring up—new contractors, new material men and new architects, but far more detrimental than anything else, "the new owners" who were not qualified or justified to handle property. The reaction which is now existing and has existed during the past 12 months, can only be looked upon as a natural result, and can well be compared to an epidemic which has spread over this large city, and without discrimination has left it looking like a battlefield strewn with dead, sick and wounded. The reckless and irresponsible builder is dead, the avaricious and easy money maker sick, and the conservative wounded. When the dead shall have been buried, the sick brought back to life, and the wounded cured, then again will the sun shine brightly, and building operations will be on a firm, solid foundation and in the hands of such people, who by experience, financial ability and knowledge will become the builders of the day. When the value of a building will be bought and sold upon the valuation of labor, materials of value of land and a reasonable real estate profit, not as has been the case by fictitious misrepresented and inflated rents.

I have great hopes for real estate, as an investment. With the growth of the city, which can be figured at about 225,000 people a year, with immigration continually coming to our shores, with the improvements and new terminal stations, bridges and parks, as well as with the accommodation for the continual increase of representatives requiring offices for firms from all over the world in New York; with the gradual growth of business buildings pushing the dwellers further upward and upward, so much so that I feel safe in saying that in less than 25 years there will hardly be a dwelling of any size or consequence below 42d street. It is, therefore, easy to see that the upper sections of the city, such as Washington Heights and the Borough of Bronx, will become the valuable sections for dwelling purposes, and it is the investors of to-day in these sections who will benefit with the growth of the city. The suburbs which are looked upon by one class of real estate operators as detrimental to the value of city property, have to my mind no material effect upon the same. If 25,000 houses were built during one year in all of the suburbs surrounding Manhattan Island, a number which is greatly exaggerated, these houses would accommodate 50,000 families, if all were of the two-family type. The drawing out of 50,000 families a year outside of New York would be easily replaced according to the present condition and statistics in less than half a year; but 25,000 houses will cover more than one year's building operations. I feel, therefore, that this should be no cause for alarm as to the value of real estate in New York.

In speaking of these two-family houses, and the success with which they meet, brings to my mind the co-operative plan of building which is not yet fully appreciated by dwellers in high class apartments, and as it is a large subject in itself, I will not take time and space at the present to discuss it, but will say that it is a subject worth while considering, as there is a great future in front of it.

In conclusion I hope and trust that those who are now convalescing from this real estate epidemic will soon be cured and strengthened to fully carry on the building operations that are slowly and surely accumulating before the demand becomes greater than the supply, which condition to my mind has always been the introduction of a boom, and an excited boom always proves an unhealthy condition.

MAXIMILIAN ZIPKES.

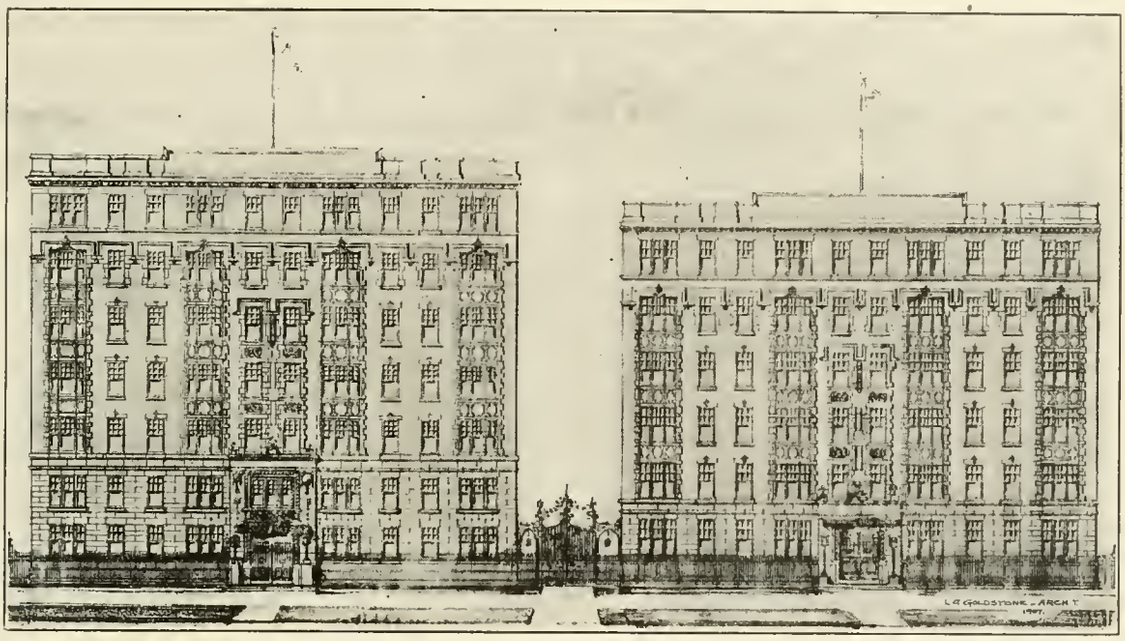
Attacks Present Building System.

"I believe that this system (i. e., competitive bidding), which may have been all right in its day, has worn itself out. I believe that it is a misfit on our present day condition."

Thus a writer in the Architectural Record sums up his arraignment of competitive bidding by contractors. He says that it leads to poor work, by which individuals and the public are often cheated of what they pay for. "Competition in building is sometimes far more hazardous than buying margins on the Board of Trade. It is gambling pure and simple."

Sets a Good Example.

(With Illustration.)



These buildings have recently been erected on the east side of Riverside Drive occupying the block front of 208 ft. from 138th st to 139th st, 157.6 ft. on 139th st and 132.6 ft. on 138th st. In consequence of this large plot, the buildings were designed with exceptionally large rooms, broad halls, numerous closets and with considerably more space devoted to light and ventilation than is required by law. In addition to the above, the stories are 10.5 ft. in the clear, which results in a general air of spaciousness not usually found in apartment houses.

The principal entrances are on Riverside Drive through the lower or cellar story of the 139th st corner and through the first story of the 138th st building, both leading into spacious inner courts.

The quiet, dignified facades are of limestone, terra cotta and light pressed brick, relieved by projecting copper bay windows. The apartments, consisting of four, five, six and seven rooms, are planned so that each faces on the street, Riverside Drive or on a broad open court 26 ft. wide between the two buildings and which will be laid out as a beautiful formal garden.

In the matter of finish, hardwood trim and ⅞-in. parquet flooring will be used throughout, all the plumbing fixtures will be of solid porcelain ware, high oak wainscoting in dining-room, architectural mantels, etc., etc. By far one of the most important features in this layout is that each and every apartment is completely isolated by an unpierced brick wall, thus giving far more security and privacy to each tenant. The cellar story of the northerly building, being located above the Riverside Drive grade, has been laid out as an "old Dutch" grill room and a la carte restaurant.

This operation entails the outlay of about $500,000, and was planned by L. A. Goldstone, architect, who recently completed several buildings similar in design farther down on Riverside Drive, opposite the Claremont. The owners and general contractors are the Hensle Construction Company. The iron work was done by George J. Schnatz, cut stone work by W. McWhirter, terra cotta by the New Jersey Terra Cotta Company, trim by the Jamestown Mantel Company, metal work by the United Cornice and Skylight Works, and elevators by the A. B. See Electric Elevator Company.

Tests of German Alsen Cement.

The inspecting engineer of the Bureau of Sewers in the Bronx recently made tests of German Alsen Portland Cement which gave the following results:

He used ordinary native sand, as he calls it, which we suppose is Cow Bay sand, or the regular sand used on the work. In fact, he stated it was the regular sand the contractors use in the sewerage contract. We presume it is much inferior, therefore, to regular sand, and his test would seem to show that. He shows 7 days, 28 days, 3 months and 6 months as follows, respectively: 164 lbs., 264 lbs., 292 lbs., 319 lbs. Temperature of air, 72 degrees; temperature of water, 68; percentage of water, 12 in the sand test.

The neat tests, of course, would not be of any particular interest, but it was a great coincidence that at 6 months he should get 687 lbs. neat, which was exactly the same as by other parties who made tests from the same bag. If our laboratories would only get as uniform as that, we would all know a whole lot more about cement, but the millennium will certainly come long before that time.

Cement Users' Convention.

The exhibition in connection with the annual convention of Cement Users at the Broadway Armory in Buffalo last week was largely attended.

The interior of the armory was lavishly lighted with electricity. Booths of cement, decorations of cement, statues of concrete, concrete frescoing and hangings were on every side. In its account of the scene the Buffalo Express said:

For a novice in cement manufacture to take a tour of inspection without asking a bundle of questions means a maze of marvels. There is one machine that takes in the raw material and in a few minutes it turns out the finished product, finely molded tiles. Then there are mixers, some as big as threshing machines, that grind up and mix the materials for the making of cement wares. In another quarter of the building half a dozen men are turning out finely designed cement articles. One machine turns out 250 different styles of building blocks.

Great massive walls of cement structure surround some of the exhibits like the walls of a castle. Houses built wholly of cement and concrete act as offices for some of the exhibitors.

One of the exhibitors has a miniature railroad apparatus in which the cars hold the molds in which the cement is placed, and as fast as the cement is pressed into shape beneath the weights the train moves along to give place to another car holding some different mold.

The first sound one bears when he enters the building reminds him of building construction. It is the rattling of machinery, the scrape of shovels and the swish of belting as the wheels are propelled forward.

The convention proper was in session for four days in Concert Hall.

On Wednesday evening the Automobile Club gave a reception for the members of the convention. Thursday was devoted to the reading of papers and discussion of problems relating to the uses of cement in various ways for building. J. W. Pierson, of Orange, N. J., read a paper on The Progress in Manufacture and Use of Cement Building Blocks. Leonard C. Watson, a prominent Boston manufacturer, read a paper on the technicalities of cement mixing. James L. Davis, a New York cement expert, spoke on the subject of waterproofing concrete structures. Robert W. Leslie, of Philadelphia, gave an illustrated address upon the users of concrete as a decorative material. Part of the afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the use of cement in the manufacture of drain and roofing tiles, telegraph poles, piles and posts.

On the closing day the committees on laws and legislation, and fireproofing and insurance made final reports. In the evening the feature was an address by President Humphrey on Progress in the Investigation of Cement Mortars and Concretes in the Structural Materials Testing Laboratory of the United States Geological Survey at St. Louis. The work of the geological survey, according to Mr. Humphrey, is the most important step toward nationalizing and popularizing the use of cement.

The association re-elected Richard L. Humphrey, of Philadelphia, to the presidency. The other officers elected were:

First vice president, Merrill Watson, East Orange, N. J.; second vice president, M. S. Daniels, Suffern, N. Y.; third vice president, S. B. Newbury, Sandusky, O.; fourth vice president, George C. Walters, Atlanta, Ga.; vice presidents in charge of sections: Cement products and machinery, A. Bradley, Rochester; streets, sidewalks and floors, W. S. Schuler, Newark, N. J.; reinforced concrete, Samuel E. Thompson, Newton Highlands, Mass.; art and architecture, Charles D. Watson, Pittsburgh, Pa.; testing cement and cement products, E. S. Larned, Boston, Mass.; laws, ordinances and insurance, W. H. Hamm, Youngstown, O.

Chicago, Louisville and Atlantic City are prominently mentioned for the next convention. The question will be decided by the executive committee.

Building Operations.

St. Thomas's Church Plans.

5TH AV.—While tentative designs were given out on Tuesday last for the new St. Thomas's Church to be erected at 5th av, corner of 53d st, building plans, according to the vestrymen, have not yet been positively adopted. Descriptions, including exterior and interior views of the proposed edifice, have been sent in book form to all subscribers to the building fund, with which the building is to be constructed, and it is considered quite probable that these drawings may yet be changed, as the whole matter of detail is still undetermined in the minds of the committee and the architects. The scheme provides that the church will have a seating capacity of 1,952 persons. It will consist of a great basilica 214 ft. long, 43 ft. wide in the clear, and 95 ft. from the pavement to the crown of the vault. On the north side there will be only a narrow architectural aisle containing no seats. On the south side, however, space has been obtained for a chapel 18 ft. wide and 20 ft. high. Above this will be a long gallery seating 312 persons and an end gallery providing 128 seats. The construction will be of stone, but what color and kind has not been decided. In style it will resemble a combination of architectural features from both French and English cathedrals. It is not likely that building operations will be started before the summer of 1909. As announced in the Record and Guide of April 6, 1907, the sketches drawn by Messrs. Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson, 170 5th av, were chosen in competition. Other architects who submitted designs were R. W. Gibson, Parish & Schroeder, Chas. C. Haight, Geo. B. Post & Sons, all of Manhattan, and Allen & Collins, of Boston, Mass.

No Trade Agreement for Carpenters.

The matter that is or was in dispute between the Master Carpenters under the arbitration plan and the District Council is Section 2, of Article 4, relating to trim, which reads as follows:

"There shall be no restriction to or discrimination against the use of any manufactured material made by woodworkers, except non-union and prison-made. This shall not apply to any flooring or machine-planed timber or lumber, or to any manufactured material made by members of any regularly organized woodworking union in existence at the time of signing this agreement, or signing of prior agreement of April 26, 1905."

The Trade Board has adjourned without coming to an agreement for 1908, as the employers declined to agree to the foregoing section. It is claimed for the arbitration employers that it would be unjust to exact this pledge from them and not from the independent employers. Says the B. T. E. A. Bulletin:

Somewhat over a month ago the unions gave the master carpenters a list containing about 175 unfair shops, requesting them not to buy their material from these firms. Yet they themselves were putting up this work right along, according to the claims of a number of firms, or else 50 per cent. of the carpenters in New York City are non-union.

As a proposition from the employers to submit the case to an umpire was not considered or agreed to by the District Council, it is not believed that the dispute will be carried any farther than the council chamber. The metal workers are also without an agreement this year.

Production of Stone in 1908.

Granite, trap rock, etc., represented 33.60 per cent. of the total output in 1906, and increased in value from $20,637,693 in 1905 to $22,306,276 in 1906, a gain of $1,668,583. Trap rock increased in value from $3,074,554 in 1905 to $3,736,571 in 1906, or $662,017. Granite increased from $17,563,139 in 1905 to $18,569,705 in 1906, a gain of $1,006,566.

Sandstone and bluestone represented 13.80 per cent. of the total stone output in 1906. Their value in 1906 was $9,169,337, which, compared with a value of $10,006,774 in 1905, shows a decrease of $837,437. Bluestone increased in value from $1,931,625 in 1905 to $2,021,898 in 1906, a gain of $90,273. Sandstone decreased in value from $8,075,149 in 1905 to $7,147,439 in 1906, a loss of $927,710.

Marble represented 11.42 per cent. of the total stone output in 1906, the total value being $7,582,938; in 1905 the value was $7,129,071, a gain for 1906 of $453,867.

Limestone represented 41.16 per cent. of the total stone output of the United States in 1906, and was valued at $27,320,243; in 1905 the value was $26,025,210, a gain for 1906 of $1,295,033.

The Week.

That portion of Manhattan north of 59th st came in for the major part of the sales during the week. Conditions generally throughout the city have been gradually improving. Where a month ago business was stagnant, now there is a little flame which it is hoped by brokers will develop into a good sized blaze. It is the opinion of several brokers that the market is "acting just right." Let it improve slowly, steadily and healthfully. That is the way to have it last. Conditions are not right at the present time for any boom. Properties on Manhattan Island and in the Bronx are worth as much to-day as they were three years ago. In the excitement that prevailed at that time some people were injudicious and purchased realty at any price, rather anticipating future developments. The value was and is there. Those who paid more than the worth of the parcel will have to wait until the demand raises the price to their ideas.

Among the important sales that were consummated during the past week was the block front on Riverside Drive, between 112th and 113th sts. This holding was inherited by William Waldorf Astor from his father, John Jacob Astor, who purchased it in 1885 for $175,000. There are about 13 lots in this holding. Bing & Bing, the new purchasers, resold the northwest corner of 112th st, 100x100. It is understood that the balance of this plot will shortly change hands. A trade of considerable importance was put through involving several properties that are fairly well scattered. The Hotel Orleans, northwest corner of Columbus av and 80th st, a 10-sty structure, was given in trade for six houses, namely: Nos. 317 and 319 West 95th st, a 7-sty apartment house; 306 and 308 West 35th st, two 3-sty dwellings; 251 West 16th st, a 3-sty dwelling, and 72 and 74 Clinton pl, Brooklyn, two 3-sty private dwellings. The "Monmouth," a 6-sty apartment house, 2035 7th av, was traded for 316 West 107th st, a 5-sty American basement dwelling. A 6-sty elevator apartment house at 243-5 West 116th st was also disposed of. This latter property rents for $8,220 annually. The West Side Construction Co. sold the entire block front in 175th st, between Audubon and St. Nicholas avs. This property was acquired in a trade early this month. The vacant plot, 100x100, on Cathedral parkway was sold by the Cathedral Realty Co.

From a leasing standpoint the market was uninteresting. There were a few good leases consummated, but the total number was small. Still this is not the renting season. In the course of a couple of months returns from the quarter will be coming in. At present it is a little early to see results.

Several mortgages of good size were recorded: The Title Guarantee and Trust Co. gave to Edward H. Van Ingen a loan of $250,000 on a plot 60x100 on the east side of 5th av, 115 ft.

south of 72d st, with rate and due date as per bond. May C. Dodge gave to Clifford V. Brokaw and ano, executors of Wm. V. Brokaw, on the property 29 West 57th st a mortgage for $100,000, due Feb. 1, 1911, at 4 per cent. This is a purchase money mortgage. The German Savings Bank loaned the American Real Estate Co. $210,000 on ten lots, 40x100 each, on Simpson st, 161 ft. south of Westchester av, for 3 years at 6 per cent. The Title Guarantee and Trust Co. also loaned Wm. Sperb, Jr., on the property 107 West 42d st, running through to 43d st, and known on that street as No. 104 West 43d st, $75,000, due date and rate as per bond.

The total number of mortgages recorded for Manhattan this week was 133, as against 143 last week, and in the Bronx 103, as against 94 last week. The total amount involved is $2,521,622, as against $2,999,264, last week.

The total number of sales reported is 38, of which 8 were below 59th st, 20 above, and 10 in the Bronx. The sales reported for the corresponding week last year were 152, of which 67 were below 59th st, 59 above, and 26 in the Bronx.

THE AUCTION MARKET

A total number of eleven pieces of property were put on the auction block this week. Five of these went to the plaintiffs in the various actions, one to a party in interest and five to outside purchasers. At the stand of Samuel Goldsticker on Tuesday 214 East 72d st was knocked down to Frederick Morich, for $18,595. This house is a 3-sty dwelling, 17.10x102.2. The amount due was $5,659.60, and taxes and other charges amounting to $213.74. There was a prior mortgage of $11,000 on the holding. At the stand of Joseph P. Day, on Wednesday 49 Broome st, southwest corner Lewis st, 25x60, a 3-sty tenement and store, one-half part to Louis Goldstein for $500 over all prior liens. The amount due was $1,259.63, taxes and other charges, $638.50, and subject to two prior mortgages aggregating $16,900. At the stand of James L. Wells on Thursday 166 East 117th st went to Louis Joutel for $8,500. This building is a 2-sty dwelling, 17x100.11, and situated 276 ft. west of 3d av. The amount due was $6,560.82, taxes and other charges, $213.34. At the stand of Joseph P. Day, 252 and 254 East 74th st, two 5-sty tenements and stores, were sold at partion sale. Lowenfeld & Prager purchased 252 for $11,100 and Otto Hirsh got 254 for $12,250. There were two parcels withdrawn.

There were no voluntary sales. Next week, however, a few parcels are going to be put up by Joseph P. Day and Lewis Phillips.

The total amount involved in the auction sales up to Thursday night was $270,360, and since January 1, $4,965,350. Last year the total for the week was $625,002, and from January 1, $2,587,566.

Mortgage Money Situation.

The opinion of the heads of some of the Title Insurance Co.'s as regards the mortgage money situation is, in the main, encouraging. While none of them are optimistic on the immediate future, still they consider that the worst has been past and that a gradual bettering of conditions will ensue. Rates will undoubtedly remain stationary for some months to come. There are many choice loans being picked up by the various companies. Naturally this class of mortgage has the first call. In the course of a short time these companies will certainly have a splendid assortment of guaranteed mortgages for sale.

Before any noticeable improvement can take place, the banking condition must be straightened out. The closing of the doors of two banks during the week showed that the storm has not passed altogether. The life insurance companies must get into the market with their funds. They cannot do this as long as their policyholders require loans on policies.

Louis V. Bright, vice-president of the Lawyers Title Insurance and Trust Co., said: "At present the market is in that condition where business is being done. A few months ago everything was at a standstill. I do not think that money will be easier until the savings banks lend freely. There is no doubt that choice loans can be obtained at the present time. The prevailing rate for good loans is 5½ per cent. Small amounts are greatly in demand just now."

Edgar J. Levey, president of the Title Insurance Co. of New York, said: "There is no question but that the money situation, so far as real estate mortgages are concerned, has improved. Our company is loaning as high as 60 per cent. on gilt-edged property. I don't think that money will be cheap for some time to come. A great many mortgages were placed on property by owners who had outside obligations and needed ready funds."

George J. Gillespie, of the United States Title Co., said: "There is not a great amount of mortgage money available just now. Money will undoubtedly be easier, but whether for mortgage purposes is at the present time problematical. During the next three months changes for the betterment of the mortgage situation should take place. Our company has placed a good many mortgages recently on a basis of from 35 to 50 per cent. of valuation. Most loans are made at 5 per cent., though some are being placed at 5 per cent. interest."

Report of the Torrens Commission.

THE report of the commission appointed by Gov. Hughes to examine the system of registering titles to real property, known as the Torrens System, was completed and adopted yesterday. Messrs. David A. Clarkson, chairman, Ralph Folks, Gustave W. Thompson and Alfred G. Reeves form the majority, while Messrs. Henry Pegram, T. Winthrop Weston and Allan Robinson send to the Governor a minority report. The commission arrived at the following general conclusions:

Of the three historical methods of dealing with transfers of real property: (1) transfer by instrument unrecorded and simply held by the owner; (2) record of instruments of transfer and incumbrance, and the giving of constructive notice by such record; and (3) registration of titles (as distinguished from registration of documents) as a means of assuring them and facilitating their transfer—the second method, which is used in New York and most of the States of this country, grows more cumbersome as it grows older, and, in spite of efforts to make it less burdensome, is tending to break down of its own weight.

The multiplication of records, the complication of titles, and the repeated expense of re-examination and the delays incident thereto should be avoided, if any feasible method of doing so can be devised. We are very clearly of the opinion that a system of registering titles may be put in operation in this State in such a manner as to avoid these and other difficulties incident to the present system and to become of much utility and advantage to conveyancers and owners of real property.

That such a system can be constitutionally made and operated seems to be clear from the authorities and arguments set forth in the brief on that matter which is quoted and made a part of this report.

The feasibility of such a system has been practically shown by its workings in other States, even against strong opposition, and this notably in Massachusetts, where the conditions are very similar to those in New York. The utility of interests in real property originates from and rests upon the State. It is natural and logical that by a fiat of its court the State should increase that utility whenever possible. After a thorough examination and a certification by a competent examiner, and care and deliberation on the part of a Justice of the Supreme Court, any ordinary title in this State may be so determined and assured, by a judgment of that court, as to need practically no subsequent examination; and such a title may be so dealt with thereafter as to obviate the necessity of such investigations as are now made whenever a title is passed.

Therefore, while recognizing the importance and advisability of some other changes in our present real property law, such as are recommended hereafter in this report, we are convinced that the most important matter to be dealt with, and that which should demand the first attention of the legislature, is a plan or method for registering titles to real property. The essential features of such a plan, and those which we have sought to embody in the accompanying proposed bill, are as follows:

1. The primary objects to be accomplished by the system are to give greater security and certainty to titles, and to avoid the necessity of long and repeated examination of titles in the future, and to make real property interests, because of the ease and quickness with which they can be transferred, more readily available as security and assets, and thus cause them to become more useful and valuable.

2. Registration must be in the first instance the outcome of a judicial proceeding which, as far as possible, shall determine and quiet the title and fix and specify the matters, if any, that may still be left undetermined or to be worked out in the future.

3. Because of the age, value and importance of titles in this State, the system should be voluntary, and adopted gradually as its need and importance may appear to the owners of real property. It is hoped and believed that the proposed statute will appeal at once to many owners of land, especially in the larger counties, and that its utility will become more and more apparent with its use.

4. Such a system should be inaugurated with as little innovation as possible, and as far as practicable should leave the existing law unaffected. It has been the earnest effort of the commission, in drafting the proposed statute, to make it harmonize with the historical and settled principles of our system of real property, and not to make any change except where it was necessary in order to introduce the registration system.

5. A new law of this character should also avoid as far as possible the multiplication of public offices and officials, and the use of complicated methods and machinery. It should employ, as far as available, existing agencies and forces. It will be seen that the proposed law aims to do these things, especially by avoiding the necessity of official examiners paid from public funds, by the employing, as far as practicable, the system of indices and methods of examining titles now in use.

6. A system of registering titles, in order to be of real use, must be made as expeditious and inexpensive as is consistent with accuracy and security. For this purpose, the time of serving defendants by publication has been fixed in this statute at four weeks instead of the ordinary six weeks, publication in one paper has been made sufficient. These periods seem to us reasonable and sufficient.

7. The commission have sought to work along the historic lines of New York legislation. With full appreciation of the difficulties, and acknowldegment of the possible defects it may contain the proposed statute is submitted.

Operations in Manhattan Square Section.

Manhattan square is a section of the city but little heard of. In fact many people who are "oldest inhabitants" of this city do not even know its location. When told, they say, "the square on which the Museum of Natural History stands? I never remember hearing its name."

Despite this fact a steady, healthy growth in that part of the city has been in progress for some years past. Not only have realty values been enhanced but also rents have increased in proportion. There has been a considerable amount of building accomplished, in a quiet way; the kind which permanently fixes the character of the neighborhood. No sudden boom, but quiet absorption, by monied interests, of realty placed in brokers hands for disposition.

On the southern side of the square, 77th st, there is, at the present time, only one vacant plot, 77.6x100, opposite the main entrance to the museum. On the northern side, 100 feet east of Columbus av, five lots, 125x100, are still unimproved, and 25 feet further to the east a single lot, 25x100, is without a structure.

Handsome apartment houses, hotels and the homes of various societies face the open square. Of course there are natural advantages. Permanent light and air are assured. In the course of time, should the present plans be carried out, the Museum of Natural History will occupy the whole of that ground now used as a public park. For this reason, among others, the Department of Parks does not feel inclined to expend too much money on this strip of land. Undoubtedly it will be many years before the museum will be completed. There are many improvements of a permanent character that this department is called upon to make. A very small percentage of money is therefore used in the development of Manhattan square.

Some of the principal buildings that overlook this park, on 77th st, include: New York Historical building, southwest corner Central Park West, 204x125; the Studio and Apartment House, 150 feet east of Columbus av, 100x100, and the Manhattan Square Apartment Hotel, 50 feet east of Columbus av, 100x100. On Columbus av the Evelyn Apartment Hotel, northwest corner 78th st, 102.2x100; Lotus Brady building, northwest corner of 79th st, 101.2x117.9; Hotel Orleans, southwest corner 80th st, 100x124.1; Warwick Arms, northwest corner 80th st, 51.2x100; Hotel Endicott, northwest corner 81st st, 204.4x133.11, and Hotel Colonial, northeast corner 81st st, 102.2x100. On 81st st the American Geographical Society, 17 West, 50x100; Beresford Apartment Hotel, northwest corner Central Park West, 204.4x100, and the Hamilton Institute, 45 West, 25x100.

During the past year the following properties changed hands in this zone: On 77th st, No. 20 West, a 4-sty and basement dwelling, 25x102, to Maud Le Grand, wife of Howard P. The 4-sty and basement stone front dwelling, 36 West 77th st, 25x104.4, was transferred to Sophie Sterns on May 15 last, subject to a mortgage of $55,000. A 2-sty extension, 17.2x5.6, and other alterations were made to this house costing about $18,000. The assessed valuation, prior to these improvements, was $62,000. The plot, 100x102, located 150 feet east of Columbus av, vacant, was sold to the Walter Russell Bond and Realty Co. A 14-sty studio and apartment building is under course of construction on this plot, at an estimated cost of $750,000. Wilhelmine Flieschmann received from Louis Flieschmann the deed to the 5-sty stone front dwelling 4 West 77th st, subject to a mortgage of $70,000. This house is assessed at $90,000. West Side Apartment Vacancies.

Opinions in the various brokerage houses along the upper West Side differ as to the renting conditions. They agree on the point, however, that there are but few vacancies. Several claim that this is due to the fact that concessions in price have been made.

Mr. Dolson, of F. R. Wood & Co., Broadway and 80th st, stated that they had no complaint to make. "On Central Park West we have about 125 apartments and not a single vacancy. On Broadway we have about 275 apartments, and about 5 per cent. unoccupied. On the Drive, out of a possible 100 apartments we have between 5 and 10 per cent. without tenants. On the various side streets, which are in the main less expensive apartments, there are not any unoccupied."

Mr. Sheldon, of Sheldon & Becker, real estate brokers, 2231 Broadway, said that renting conditions along Broadway, in the vicinity of his office, was satisfactory. Concessions of considerable size have been made in the high-class apartment houses. Central Park West and Columbus av have not, however, fared so well. Vacancies are difficult to fill.

A representative of the firm of Jesse C. Bennett & Co., Broadway and 81st st, said the trend is away from Columbus av. The present demand is near Broadway and westward toward the river. People are anxious to get near the subway and avoid the noisy elevated road. In fact, the only vacancies in their office are a few along Columbus av.

William Waldorf Astor Sells Block Front.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE.—William Waldorf Astor sold the block front, on Riverside Drive, between 112th and 113th sts, vacant. There are about 13 lots in this parcel. The frontage on the Drive is 208.8 feet, 141.7 feet on 112th st, 194.7 feet on 113th st. The asking price was reported as being $350,000. The purchasers, Bing & Bing, lawyers, 198 Broadway, will probably improve the property with a high-class apartment house, though no definite plans have been decided on as yet. John Jacob Astor, father of the present seller, bought this block front in 1885 for $175,000. At one time it was thought this site would be bought by Charles M. Schwab for his residence. Mr. Schwab, however, decided on the 73d st property, instead. Bing & Bing have been identified with several notable operations in Manhattan realty. The block front on the west side of Broadway, between 127th and Manhattan sts. was purchased by them some time since. On the Manhattan st corner a 2-sty office building has been constructed, and the 127th st plot improved with a 6-sty elevator apartment, 80x100. They built a 6-sty elevator apartment on the southwest corner Broadway and 137th st, and on the north side of 137th st, between Broadway and Riverside Drive five houses, each 6 stories in height. This house is built to a depth of 87 feet, and is located on the east side of the avenue, 25 feet south of 122d st. The "Lexington," a twin house, adjoins on the south. On the southwest corner of 122d st stands the "Washington," an 8-sty apartment, 100.11x100, built 96 feet deep. The "Monmouth" was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Swain on March 6, 1907, from Hannah Hoffman, subject to a mortgage of $68,000. The property is assessed at $60,000. The present sellers were tenants by entirety, which means a joint holding by husband and wife. The distinguishing characteristic of this tenancy is that the interest of neither husband nor wife can be alienated alone. The whole estate must pass together. In that particular it differs from joint tenancy. In part payment, 316 West 107th st was given.

Edward C. H. Vogler, real estate and insurance broker, of Amsterdam av and 81st st, has for the convenience of his Harlem clientage opened a branch office at 2213 7th av, corner of 131st st. Mr. Vogler has several excellent investment properties for sales on his books.

Mr. Frank Bailey, vice-president of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., who has been vice-president of the Realty Associates, has been elected president of the latter corporation, to succeed the late John D. Hicks. Clifford S. Kelsey, hereto second vice-president, has been elected first vice-president.

The City of New York on Thursday closed the purchase of all the water front from 39th st to 61st st, Brooklyn, excepting the Bush Terminal holdings and the two blocks from 57th st to 50th st. A large part of the land is under water for which $1.10 per square foot was paid. The deal involves a sum approaching $6,000,000. The sellers were the Cutting Estate and the Lotus Realty Company.

Statistics of Registrars' Offices.

An interesting tabulation of all deeds and mortgages recorded in the various Registers' offices within the limits of New York City during 1906 and 1907 shows that Richmond is the only one of the five boroughs which showed an increase, all of the other boroughs showing large decreases in both classes of instruments. This statement shows the astonishing shrinkage of 45,716 in the number of such documents recorded for the year, although 1907 has been considered by many the banner real estate year. The detailed figures are as follows:

Fifth Avenue Property in Court.

Title has not been taken to the Lotos Club property 556-558 5th av, though Jan. 15 last was the day set in the contract for closing. This property was sold to Mr. Jacob Neadle, of 59 William st, in October, 1906. The purchase price at that time was reported at $750,000. A long term contract was given Mr. Neadle. The object of this was to allow the club time to secure a new site for their home, meanwhile giving them the right of possession of their old house. One of the terms of the contract was that the building should not encroach more than one inch on the avenue. When the official survey was made it was found that the building was something like seven inches on the city property. This is a matter of some importance, in view of the fact that this avenue is going to be widened. Mr. Neadle purchased this holding purely from a speculative standpoint. He either wanted to sell or rent it on a long term lease. He did not care to expend any considerable sum on the property in alterations until it was definitely determined just what the city was going to do about changing the width of the avenue. The Lotos Club in the meantime has purchased the old Castleton apartment house, 110 to 114 West 57th st. The old building has been demolished and the new structure started. Marc Eidlitz & Son have the contract and Donn Barber is the architect. Mr. Neadle has filed a suit to let the court determine just where he stands. He either wants his deposit back or specific performance of the contract. It is said that the Lotos Club paid $250,000 for their 5th av holding.

LAW DEPARTMENT

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

A dispute arose between two real estate dealers as to the measure of damage recoverable in the following transaction, which question they refer to the Record and Guide for its opinion: A is a builder and has a buyer for the building he is completing. A wishes to make a deal, but the buyer insists upon a certain amount of first mortgage being stipulated in the agreement of sale. The broker in the case, anxious to make his commission, calls on a savings institution (named hereafter B), explains that he has a buyer for this particular property at a certain price and secures for A an acceptance from B, agreeing to loan and accept a mortgage for the required sum. A, upon receiving acceptance from said B, enters into a contract with his buyer for the sale of the property, making the acceptance from B a part of the contract. When the time arrived for closing the transaction, B reported not ready to make the loan and asked that the matter be deferred for several months. The property in question is covered by a mortgage made when the land was originally purchased by the builder, which mortgage became due a fortnight after the date set to close the loan with B, and give title to the buyer. A counted on B's money to pay off the original mortgage and building loan, so that he could give title to his buyer. In the event of foreclosure by the original mortgage what measure of damage will A have against B, who agreed to loan the money and knew that the sale of the property depended upon the placing of the loan?

Answer.—We have never known of a successful action for damages brought against a proposed mortgage lender.—Ed.

Investments on Bond and Mortgage.

Other securities have their attractions, but it is safe to assert that real estate loans form to-day an investment hard to excel in all-round merit. In the making of loans the lender should always insist on ample protection for his principal, as well as a reasonable certainty with respect to the payment of the interest on the bond. He should avoid, if possible, the granting of privileges for the reduction of the principal prior to the maturity of the obligation, and above all things make it a firm rule never to increase a loan, no matter how abundant the margin of security, for the demand in such instances usually indicates that the borrower is falling behind.

Some professional lenders rarely make loans on brick buildings for more than 50 per cent. of the appraised value of the security offered. This is adhered to for the following reasons: In the first instance, the records of fire insurance companies show that brick buildings depreciate about 10 per cent. in five years. Second, the cost of building construction varies from time to time, and considerable reductions are likely to follow. Third, in the event of foreclosure the expenses incurred frequently equal 10 per cent. of the value of the property. Should all of these conditions at one time operate against the transaction it is apparent that the loss to the mortgagee might be large. Good 50 per cent. mortgages are hard to secure and are usually procured by advertising and steady canvassing. Due to this dearth of high-class mortgages many lenders in their anxiety to make mortgage investments have been obliged to accept inferior loans, resulting in a loss of principal and a consequent prejudice against this class of security.

If due regard be observed to the controlling factors of safety in the lending of money on bond and mortgage there should be no cause for hesitancy in loaning up to 60 per cent. of the appraised value of the property. There are circumstances when the prospective investor is justified in exceeding that percentage without in the least jeopardizing his principal.

Pocket Tax Law.

A pamphlet issued by the New York Tax Reform Association is entitled "Pocket Tax Law for Business Men," and aims to present in simple form the law for the assessment and taxation of property of persons and business corporations. It further presents in outline the whole tax system, exclusive of the provision for the correction of assessments by certiorari and for collection. It will serve to make the New York tax law comprehensible as a whole. A supplement contains a synopsis of the laws of 1907, from which we extract the following in regard to mortgages, not only to show the style in which the book is written, but as a reminder to our readers:

Mortgages recorded prior to July 1, 1906, can be exempted from assessment as personal property, by registering them at the recording office and paying a sum equal to the recording tax (Sec. 293a).

Supplemental mortgages which do not increase the indebtedness are not taxable (Sec. 293b). Mortgages for indefinite amounts or for contract obligations are taxable on the value of the security, unless a sworn statement is made as to the maximum amount secured or this is expressed in the mortgage; such amount is then the taxable basis (Sec. 293c).

Corporations making mortgages in trust must file a statement with the recording officer and pay the tax whenever advances are made, and report to the recording officer and state tax commissioners annually until the maximum amount of principal has been advanced (Sec. 296).

Mortgages recorded before July 1, 1906, on which advances are made after that date, are no longer taxable on entire principal, but only on amount of the advance (Sec. 301). Ch. 340.

PROPERTY OWNERS' SECTION.

A Museum for the Bronx.

If the plans of the Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences materialize the old Lorillard mansion in Bronx Park will house one of the most interesting collections of paintings, sculpture, scientific exhibits and historic relics to be found in the City of New York.

The old stone mansion has been placed at the disposal of the society by the city through the efforts of Park Commissioner Joseph I. Berry and the museum committee of which Albert E. Davis, the architect, is chairman, is now planning for the arrangement of cases and collection of exhibits. These will consist of:

1. Collections illustrating the natural history of the Bronx.

2. Collections illustrative of the civil history of the Bronx.—Relics of the civilized occupation of the territory, including documents, utensils, furniture, revolutionary relics and photographs of historic sites and objects.

3. Collections illustrative of the industries of the Bronx.—Samples of products, processes, photographs, prints and drawings.

4. Educational features of the Bronx.—Photographs of buildings and institutions and of educational methods; models and photographs of educational appliances.

5. The park system of the Bronx.—Plans, maps and photographs.

There will also be a library, art gallery, meeting and conference rooms in the building.

The city assumes no financial responsibility, the cost of maintenance being borne by the society, and by what is known as sustaining members. That is, any public spirited citizen of the Bronx desirous of aiding the work of the society can become a sustaining member upon the payment of an annual fee of $25.

The president of the society is Rev. Henry M. MacCracken, chancellor of the New York University, and the chairman of the council is Dr. Nathaniel L. Britton, director-in-chief of the New York Botanical Garden. The museum committee consists of Messrs. Davis, Britton, Stoughton, Schauffler, Denbigh, Brown, Hallett and Stonebridge.

The objects are "to develop and encourage the study of the arts and sciences, and to promote a taste for such study; to collect and diffuse information concerning the arts and sciences; and to accomplish these results by means of meetings, lectures, addresses, exhibitions, classes and otherwise; to form collections of objects found naturally within the Borough of the Bronx, of pictures and other works of art, of articles manufactured within the Borough of the Bronx, and of books relating to the arts and sciences." The annual dues of the society are $3.

Liverpool & London & Globe's American Branches.

The Liverpool & London & Globe Insurance Co. has issued the 60th annual statement of its United States branch for the calendar year 1907. It shows total assets, value as of Dec. 31, 1907, of $12,560,212, which includes real estate amounting to $1,856,337; United States Government 4% bonds, $817,971; State and city bonds and railroad stocks and bonds, $3,683,629; BOND AND MORTGAGE ON NEW YORK CITY REAL ESTATE, $3,381,450; bank balances and all other assets, $2,820,825. The company reports unearned premiums and all other liabilities, $8,138,396, leaving a surplus of $4,421,815. The New York directors are Charles H. Marshall, chairman; John Crosby Brown, Walter C. Hubbard, John A. Stewart, Edmund D. Randolph. Henry W. Eaton is resident manager; George W. Hoyt, deputy manager; J. B. Kremer, Jr., and T. A. Weed, agency superintendents.

Tax Reform Association's Report.

In the New York Tax Reform Association's seventeenth annual report interesting facts are given relating to taxation. It draws attention to the fact that the calling of past-due mortgages was stopped and relief afforded to real estate and borrowers by the amendment allowing the holders of old mortgages to come under the recording tax law. Bills to improve the assessment and collection of special franchise taxes failed. The report goes on to say:

"Unquestionably public opinion in the City of New York favors a substantial modification of the personal tax, if not its entire abolition. The greatest inequalities have arisen from laws designed to tax all the widely differing classes of property in the same way, and such laws have been ineffective in the production of revenue."

"The regular legislative session of 1907 lasted until June 26. There were 3,185 bills introduced, and the 1,610 reprints made a total of 4,795 printed bills to be examined. Nearly 200 of these related directly or indirectly to taxation or assessment. Including the special session in July, 764 laws were enacted."

Eleventh Avenue Track Removal Association.

The Eleventh Avenue Track Removal Association, of which Mr. H. G. Schneider is secretary, asks aid in securing the adoption by the Board of Aldermen of a resolution to carry into effect the action proposed in the following resolutions of this association and of the West Side Taxpayers' Association:

Whereas, The New York Central & Hudson River Railroad has been proved to have illegally occupied over 350 city lots, 60th to 72d sts, 11th and 12th avs, without payment of taxes or the compensation stipulated in an agreement dated June 21, 1887, now in the Lenox Library; and

Whereas, The New York Central & Hudson River Railroad has illegally laid and now maintains four tracks from 72d st to Spuyten Duyvil (its expired charter permitting but two tracks); be it

Resolved, That the Eleventh Avenue Track Removal Association and the West Side Taxpayers' Association respectfully request the Board of Aldermen to appoint a committee to investigate these encroachments of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad and to secure proper compensation or the ejectment of the railroad therefrom, as was done Dec. 28, 1906, in the case of the 12th av encroachment, by Borough President Ahearn.

Alderman Herman W. Beyer has been requested to prepare a resolution to secure appropriate action by the Board of Aldermen, and to present these resolutions of the Eleventh Avenue Track Removal Association and of the West Side Taxpayers' Association.

Another Honor for Mayor McClellan.

Some time ago the American members of the Societe des Architectes par le Gouvernement, which is composed of graduates of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, were informed by the parent society in Paris that they had had struck and would forward to this country a medal to be awarded to a layman who had rendered service in advancing the interests of architecture and civic improvements, and among whose accomplishments might be numbered a sympathetic understanding and appreciation of the fine arts.

At a dinner at the University Club, Jan. 28, given by the American group, and attended by the French Ambassador and Sir Purdon Clarke, the medal was presented to Hon. George B. McClellan, Mayor of New York City, in a suitable address by the president of the American society, Mr. J. H. Freedlander. Other speakers besides the Mayor were the Ambassador, Sir Purdon Clarke, Hon. F. K. Pendleton, chairman of the City Improvement Committee; Frederick Crowinshield, president of the Fine Arts Federation, and Frank D. Millet.

INFLUENCE OF THE BEAUX ARTS.

Mayor McClellan in his remarks said:

When we had reached the nadir of inartistic architectural horror, the period of the Queen Anne cottage, the jerry-built apartment house and the United States Government building, we were suddenly awakened by the influence of the Beaux Arts. Hunt and Richardson, the pioneers; McKim, Mead and White, and all of you pupils of the Beaux Arts who have followed them have brought us to an understanding of our architectural shortcomings. The marvellous adaptability of the American people has answered to the call, so that we have at last begun to regard beauty in art and in nature not as a luxury, but as an absolute condition precedent to happiness.

Mr. Ambassador, we are highly honored that your excellency should be with us to-night. Although you represent our great sister republic, you are one of us, for but few English speaking men have been in such sympathy with our institutions or have so well understood the fundamental genius of our literature. It is fitting that I, as an American, should express to you our gratitude for the two great debts we owe to France—two debts which we can repay only by being worthy of what we have received. The first is the help she gave us, which permitted us to win our liberty. The second is the help her Beaux Arts gave us in our struggle to find the beautiful.

Mr. Freedlander, in introducing the French Ambassador, recalled the old days at the Ecole des Beaux Arts and the efforts of the architects here to keep strong the bonds of "bonne camaraderie."

How to Treat Hose.

When so much is being said about rotten hose, some directions on how to keep it from rotting are pertinent at this time. The Eureka Fire Hose Co. is sending out a card for posting up in fire houses containing the following:

Do not allow hose to remain in wagons, or on reels, if wet or muddy; remove all mud by washing or brushing, and expose hose to air, in towers or on racks, perferably at full length, to dry.

Do not permit hose to remain on apparatus for any great length of time when not used. It should be removed, hung up in towers or on racks, and replaced with a fresh supply. Avoid short bends in hose that is stored away. When necessary to store hose in folds, the folds should be changed occasionally, to overcome permanent set of hose.

Unless hose is likely to encounter a freezing temperature, it is not necessary to perfectly drain the water out, as the rubber lining is not injured by dampness within, but on the contrary is benefited by remaining in a moist condition, and all rubber-lined hose should have water passed through it frequently.

DON'T GUESS

A Real Estate Information Service is as necessary in a Real Estate Broker's office as the ticker in the office of a Stock Broker.

A personally maintained Service is inefficient and inordinately Expensive compared with a Big Central Co-operative Service. The Biggest Service is the best, because the advantages of Co-operation are centered there on the biggest Scale.

The RECORD & GUIDE to-day supplies thousands of Brokers and others with information—has been doing so for a generation. Its own records cover the history of ALL transactions of every kind in New York for forty years, and in addition to these it has a COMPLETE PLANT that includes the previous period.

Obviously, the RECORD & GUIDE possesses FULL information covering ALL particulars concerning real estate. Other systems are necessarily either partial or mere second-hand abstracts of the records which the RECORD & GUIDE has been gathering and publishing in the course of its forty years' history.

If you need Real Estate Information don't guess. Don't use personal Systems. Don't use partial Systems. Don't use temporary Systems that must be fragmentary and Second-hand. Don't use Systems built for the use of a Few, and that offer you scarcely any of the advantages of co-operation.

USE

THE RECORD & GUIDE BUREAU OF REAL ESTATE INFORMATION. The oldest, the largest, the most permanent, the best equipped—a Service that can serve you TO-DAY and TO-MORROW on a progressive plan.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1907.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagees. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Registers office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

January 24, 25, 27, 28, 29 and 30.

New Jersey.

SOUTH ORANGE.—A site for a new public school, said to be badly needed, at South Orange, has not been selected as yet by the site committee appointed by the Board of Education a year ago, and there is little chance of the question of purchasing a site being submitted to the people at the annual school meeting to be held on March 19. The condition of the money market is a cause for delay in appropriating money for a new school, according to a member of the board.

JERSEY CITY.—From plans prepared by H. Ziegler, a 3-sty double and a 3-sty single flat will be erected on Berkeley pl, between Tonnele and Germania avs, for S. Ruskin, of 153 Monticello av. The specifications call for all modern improvements, including open plumbing, cabinet mantels, tiled vestibules, dumb waiters, but no heat. The estimated cost of the buildings is $7,500 for the double flat and $4,500 for the single.

The buildings will be of brk construction, one is to be a 4-sty building measuring 75x85, and the other 2 stories, 18x54. The specifications call for heavy mill construction materials and the estimated cost of buildings is $30,000.

JERSEY CITY.—Eugene Ciccarelli, of the Second National Bank Building, Hoboken, is receiving estimates for the erection of a synagogue on Jersey City Heights for the Mt. Sinai Congregation. The new edifice will be of brk construction, 2 stories in helght, and will measure 37x83. Estimated cost is $33,000.

J., have completed plans and will receive bids about Feb. 15 for a 2-sty and basement school and lyceum building, 60x150 ft., to be erected at Hackensack, N. J., for the Holy Trinity parish, Rev. J. J. Cunneely, pastor. Estimated cost is $50,000.

THE outlook seems to be encouraging for some liberal and liberating rapid transit legislation during the present session of the Legislature. The local authorities are all in favor of such action; and they can depend upon the support of Governor Hughes and a large section of public opinion. Much as one may prefer a rapid transit system constructed with the city's money and leased only for a short term, every candid man must recognize that conditions are utterly unfavorable to such a policy. In any event the city's resources must be carefully husbanded. Even if it obtains the power to issue an indefinite amount of stock for transit purposes, that power should not be used until New York is again in a position to borrow money at 3½ per cent. Under the circumstances the most economical and progressive line of action will be to offer private capital sufficient inducements to build the additional subways, which are at present our crying local need. Just how much the city will have to offer in order to attract private capital is a doubtful question, but there can be no doubt about one aspect of the matter: The Legislature should not tie the hands of the Public Service Commission to leasing subways for any fixed term of years. There would be no objection to establishing a maximum period of 50 years with one renewal of twenty-five years; but within this limitation the Commission should be permitted to secure the best possible terms for the city. It is tolerably certain that a lease of forty years, with one renewal of half that period, would be sufficient to attract the support of private capital; and in case transit corporations were not subject to such drastic supervision, there can be no doubt that such terms would mean a handsome margin of profit for the lessees. The dubious element in the situation is the attitude which financiers will adopt toward the investment of many millions of dollars in railway enterprises over which they do not retain effectual control. In any event, however, the attempt to secure such support must be made, and if the city is obliged to offer private capital larger inducements because of the existence of the Public Service Commission, that condition must be accepted with the others. In any event the subways must be built.

IN case the Legislature does untie the hands of the Public Service Commissioners, it is much to be hoped that they will use their additional power in a liberal and flexible manner. They should announce their willingness to open negotiations with any corporation, new or old, that is prepared to build desirable subways; and they should seek to start the construction as soon as possible of at least two new longitudinal routes. But in opening such negotiations, it should certainly give the first chance to the owners of the existing subway. The Interborough Company should get the first chance, not because the city owes to Mr. Belmont any special consideration, but because the city's own interest demands a policy of this kind. The convenience of its inhabitants and the prosperity of its business will be best served in case any new subways are constructed as extensions of or in connection with the existing subway. This is the only way an organic, well-articulated and thoroughly efficient system of underground transit can be created, and the policy of calling in a competing corporation should be followed only in case fair terms cannot be obtained from the Interborough Company. Other things being equal the Interborough Company should be given the preference, so that the whole subway system can be operated as in Paris with such excellent results, as a unit. Only in case the Interborough Company cannot raise the money for additional subways, or in case better terms can be obtained from some other corporation, should the Commission establish a competitive system. If it is objected that the Commission is not free to negotiate in this manner, the answer is that such negotiations can be conducted without any violation of the law. Once the Public Service Commission is assured that the Interborough Company can raise the money and will offer fair terms it can lay out routes which are substantially extensions of the existing subway, and over which the Interborough Company will have, because of its existing lease, a prior claim. On the other hand, it can, in case negotiations with the Interborough Company fail, lay out an independent system which will be capable of efficient operation. In the end it may be forced, in order to stimulate competition, to follow the example of the old commission and lay out alternate routes, either or both of which can be constructed according to the results of the bidding.

SOMETHING may be expected to follow quickly from the communication which Comptroller Metz has this week addressed to the Governor of the State upon the methods pursued in this city when private property is taken for public uses. For years the general thought has been that the system is too rudimentary, and too dependent upon the old idea of the unselfish devotion of the citizen to the welfare of the state, for meeting the complex conditions that arise in a metropolitan city. The proceedings have most often been spun out to great length, the expenses have been excessive, and owners have been deprived of payments for an unreasonable length of time. On the part of the city authorities it has been observed that the dilated fees of the commissioners were only a small extravagance compared with the interest charges that have resulted when cases involving large awards have been carried along for several years. In one case, where only ten parcels in one plot are under discussion, the condemnation proceedings are now in their fourth year, and the city is paying interest at six per cent. on $820,000. To appraise a school site requires sometimes as many as fifty or sixty sittings of the commissioners, and it is said that they generally determine the award by the simple process of splitting the difference between the extravagant estimates of the claimants and the inadequate valuations of the city's experts, and with little or no regard to the value placed on the property by the Department of Taxes and Assessments, or by the appraisers in the Department of Finance. It must be conceded that the claimants seldom have cause to complain of the amount of the awards, which is some consolation for having to wait a long time for their money. In small towns where condemnation proceedings are of infrequent occurrence, and where the essential facts in any given case are patent to all, the system which is being abused here is possibly reasonably efficacious; and the difficulty is presented of obtaining legislation from the State under such circumstances. The particular request which Mr. Metz makes at this juncture is for the appointment of a special commission to investigate, and to devise a better system; but the Comptroller's own thought seems to be that a permanent court or commission to appraise benefits and damages is the only solution. To achieve this would require a constitutional amendment, but solely in the interests of New York City, and it is a question how the electors in the rest of the State would regard it, and what the attitude of the judges of the Supreme Court would be. As it is the present province of this court to appoint the commissioners in condemnation proceedings and to pass upon their reports, it might be a good policy to secure their cooperation in this movement.

SINCE the Parker fire insurance companies have followed a very conservative policy in accepting new risks in the congested district, and it is noteworthy that they are bringing strong influence to bear in favor of the introduction of automatic sprinklers, and are taking larger lines when these are present. Later opinion in this quarter holds that the loss by the fire would not have been a quarter of the amount if the fire department equipment had been in a passable condition. Mayor McClellan's own investigators find that the lack of sufficient streams was not only due to defective hose but also to an unintelligent distribution of apparatus. The supply of water in the neighborhood of the building is considered to have been ample. Thus the whole blame settles upon the fire department, more particularly upon the shoulders of those charged with the duty of keeping it supplied with good hose, so that the questions connected with the construction of the building have dropped out of the case. Fire may be expected to burn pretty much everything it can reach if left alone. One point is not to leave it alone long, and another is to have fire stops in the right place. This is getting back to elementary principles, but notwithstanding the best protection possible against a small fire speading out into a great conflagration is a solid wall of masonry. One of the most important provisions in the revised building code was for firewalls at specified intervals. Another was the limitation of the height for mercantile and factory buildings, and all such as are intended to contain great quantities of goods, so as to keep them within the reach of the abilities of the fire department. For the protection of the city of the future from a general conflagration, these seem to be first essentials. Measures to confine a fire to the compartment in which it originates constitute a separate and higher problem. But when the city reaches the comparatively unburnable stage will insurance rates really cost any less?

The Lien Law; A Necessity to the Building Interests.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

In your issue of January 25, under the heading "Objections to Mechanics Lien Law," you state that there is a great deal of dissatisfaction among builders and material dealers with the present lien law, and I would say in answer to this that to some people there have been objections right along since the present lien law was enacted.

I had the honor of being the chairman of the committee which had the present lien law passed and seven lien laws wiped out at that time, and I have been busy ever since preventing amendments to it which would have made it absurd and of no value.

The great trouble with some people is that instead of using ordinary business prudence, they depend on the lien law to secure their money for them, instead of encouraging the honest, responsible contractors by refusing to take contracts from irresponsible parties. Often they will, for the sake of getting an extra price for their labor or materials, contract with people of no responsibility and then find fault with the lien law because they cannot have their liens take precedence of mortgages already filed.

No lien law can be drawn that will be good for anything which will try to get in ahead of a mortgage already filed, whether first, second, third or fifth.

The builder or the people who furnish materials or labor on a building to-day have thirty days to file a lien and secure their equity in the buildings after a general assignment has been made, which is a very important thing in these times.

The lien law in principle is a very old law. It has been handed down to us from the Phoenicians under the title of "Libel Laws." People engaged in shipbuilding or in the making of repairs to ships would not think of doing away with that law.

I think it would be a very good thing for the building interests if the Record and Guide would establish a bureau for the collection of information in relation to the responsibility of parties who are engaged in the building business, or as nominal owners of a piece of property, and charging a moderate fee for such information. The contractors or material dealers can, before they invest their money or make a contract with irresponsible people, find out from the Record and Guide whether the risk to be taken is a prudent one or not.

I would repeat from my experience of almost forty years as a builder and contractor that a lien law is a necessity to the building interests, as the owner of a piece of property, no matter if he only has $100 invested in the land, can prevent the contractor, sub-contractors or material dealers from removing their materials or the product of their labor from off the lot while the merchant can replevin his goods.

Yours very truly,

RICHARD DEEVES.

New Bronx Stations for New Haven Railroad.

Coincident with the six-tracking of the Harlem River and Portchester branch of the New Haven Railroad four new stations will be located in the Bronx at the following points: Pauldings st, Westchester av, 120 feet east of Whitlock av; Hunt's Point road, north side, 40 feet west of Garrison av, and one fronting on the road's right-of-way between 135th and 136th sts. The cost of the stations was originally estimated at $50,000 each, but the contracts for their construction, all of which have been closed, call for additional expenditures.

Rafael Guastavino, Architect.

AN APPRECIATION.

(Mr. Guastavino died Feb. 2, 1908, at his summer home, on Black Mountain, twenty-two miles from Asheville, N. C. He was president of the firm of R. Guastavino Company, of New York and Boston. His death resulted from a cold contracted while on a visit to Boston some weeks previously.)

IT is not an easy task to prepare a just estimate of the life and work of a man whose memory is yet fresh in the mind, particularly when he not only held the relation for twenty years of that of a business associate, but the closer tie of personal friend. The passing of time is necessary in order to acquire a proper perspective of life's work, but I am very glad to prepare this hurried sketch of the man Rafael Guastavino and his labors as they appeal to me.

I distinctly remember my first meeting him some twenty years since, at the time he was starting on his first really large and interesting task in the line of construction which he originated and developed, the Boston Public Library. This building is still in some ways the best illustration of the possibilities of the timbrel vault construction, because of the diversity of its problems, the barrel arches, groined arches, and domes, all of them structural in their character, carrying the floor load, and also because of the fact that it was the first instance, in this country at least, of the use of that finished repressed and glazed tile development which latterly has become so largely a component part of the development of the system.

Contrary to the general impression as to the Spanish character, I found him an extraordinarily alert and active man, both physically and mentally; in fact, I never met a quicker man in all my experience; a very hard worker day and night himself, he demanded the same kind of service from those associated with him—always industrious and never idling. While these characteristics softened very slightly with the passing of the years, they obtained up to the time of his decease, and though recently he did not devote himself so exclusively to the business of the company with which his name is identified, he always maintained a supervisory oversight, and spent the remainder of his time, not in ease, but in other forms of activity, to which his very versatile mind easily lent itself.

Mr. Guastavino was an ardent lover of the truthful and the beautiful in the arts, and felt that his chosen profession of architecture was one of the noblest callings of man, and to it gave all the wealth and energy of his resourceful nature. My own training is such that I cannot intelligently pass on his work of this character, save to say that those who are competent to speak commend it as an ornament to the profession.

Concerning the development of the timbrel vault construction, he has well outlined his incentives and ambition in the lecture which he originally gave before the Society of Arts at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1892, which has been published in book form, and succeeded by several other publications devoted to the history, theory and practice of good building in masonry; and good building, I believe, was the secret of his success as a designer and contractor; the first and essential qualification with him was honesty and thoroughness in construction, that the work should really be as it appeared to be, with its decorative features or beautiful lines only as an incident to the honesty of the construction itself, and this accounts for the fact that although engaged for the best part of a lifetime in the designing and constructing of problems in masonry, problems often esteemed by engineers as mathematically impossible, he never produced a failure, carrying through to complete fruition every difficult structural task undertaken.

A brief mention of some of the more interesting of the constructional problems, showing the continued advance and devel-

THE REALM OF BUILDING.

Particulars of Kent Hall.

AMSTERDAM AV.—Messrs. McKim, Mead & White, 160 5th av, architects for Kent Hall, to be erected for the School of Law and Political Science, by the trustees of Columbia University at Amsterdam av and 116th st, state that no contracts have yet been awarded, although all bids were submitted and opened last September for the general contract. It was first decided to begin its construction at once, that it might be ready for use by September, 1908. At that time the trustees announced that the sum of $450,000 had been contributed or pledged toward the $550,000, the estimated cost of the building. The foundations, however, have been put in by a hired force separate from the general contract. It is now thought probable that new figures will be asked for by the trustees, and the final completion of the project carried out at an early date. (See also issue Jan. 8, 1907.)

Chas. A. Cowen & Co. Get Twenty-first St. Contract.

21ST ST.—Chas. A. Cowen & Co., No. 1123 Broadway, have obtained the general contract, which includes masonry, carpentry, ornamental iron and sundry other work, for the new 12-sty loft building, 98x105 ft., which David Spero, of 656 Broadway, will erect at Nos. 19-21-23 West 21st st, to cost in the neighborhood of $750,000. The following contracts have not been signed as yet: Heating, elevators, electric work, plumbing, sprinklers, mail chutes. The furnishing and erection of the steelwork has been awarded to the Hay Foundry & Iron Works, 114 East 28th st. The plans and specifications for the latter were prepared by Messrs. Weiskopf & Stern, of 68 William st. Robert D. Kohn, 170 5th av, is the architect.

Reisenweber's Hotel Not to Be Improved.

8TH AV.—The Record and Guide was informed on Wednesday, at Reisenweber's Hotel, 987 8th av, that the report, in other newspapers, that a large annex would be erected to the hotel and restaurant at the southwest corner of 8th av and 58th st, on the site of the old 2-sty brick structure, adjoining the corner, Nos. 981 to 985 8th av, is positively incorrect. It was announced that a 12-sty addition would be constructed in the near future covering a plot 75x100 ft., and have an "L" 20x100 ft. running through to 58th st, there adjoining the rear of the corner property. It was also learned that no plans for the proposed improvement have been drawn.

Plans for New State Prison.

Architectural designs, plans, specifications and estimates for the construction of the buildings for a new prison plant to take the place of Sing Sing Prison is now open to public competition. The new buildings are to be erected upon a site on the west bank of the Hudson River, near Ft. Montgomery. Architects desiring to enter this competition should address the secretary of the commission, George McLaughlin, State Capitol, Albany. A copy of rules and regulations may be had upon application. The commission is composed of Chas. F. Howard, M. D.; Cornelius V. Collins, Samuel J. Barrows, Elisha M. Johnson and Thomas W. Hynes, of Albany.

HUGHES AV.—Arthur Boehmer, 177th st and 3d av, has plans for a 4-sty tenement, 38x78 ft., to be erected on Hughes av, near 183d st, to cost $30,000.

CRESTON AV.—Paul J. Exner, 149 East 15th st, has completed plans for three 3-sty brick flats to be erected on the west side of Creston av, near 198th st, for the Paul J. Exner General Building & Construction Co., 149 East 15th st, to cost about $36,000.

156TH ST.—Berlinger & Greenberg, 147 East 125th st, will erect on 156th st, south side, 150 feet west of Amsterdam av, three 5-sty flat buildings, 50x87.11 feet, to cost a total of $150,000. Messrs. Bernstein & Bernstein, 24 East 23d st, are now preparing plans.

Churches.

Plans have been completed by Edward Pearce Casey, No. 1 Nassau st, Manhattan, for a church and school building for the Reformed Church at Hackensack, N. J., to cost about $50,000.

Church, 357 West 121st st, is soon to erect on the north side of Lawrence st, 181.7 ft. west of Amsterdam av, at the intersection of Lawrence st and Amsterdam av, at a cost of about $35,000. The facades will be of light brick, with trimmings of limestone, of Gothic design, with a large decorative tracery window and a peaked roof, limestone coping, stone and copper cornices, direct steam heating. The present school and rectory on the site will be demolished. Holton D. Robinson is chairman of the building committee, and Messrs. Carrere & Hastings and T. E. Blake, 225 5th av, are the architects.

Alterations.

MOTT ST.—Rebecca Ficken, 167 East 80th st, will improve the 5-sty tenement, No. 67 Mott st, from plans by Chas. M. Straub, 122 Bowery.

BUILDING NOTES

On Feb. 18 the New York Hardware Association will be in annual session at Buffalo.

The new coal-handling plant for the Astoria Gaslight and Power Co. will be furnished and installed by the Brown Hoisting Machinery Co.

Complaints are coming in about cold radiators in "steam-heated" flats. A correspondent of the Times suggests that the Board of Health should have jurisdiction.

A public hearing will be held by the committees on concrete and fireproofing and steel and iron construction in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, Friday, Feb. 14, at 2 P. M.

The ninety-fourth meeting of the American Institute of Mining Engineers will be held in New York City, beginning Thursday evening, Feb. 18. The Institute headquarters will be in the foyer of the United Engineering Society Building.

Mr. J. Schlesinger, formerly senior member of the firm of Schlesinger & Schlesinger, has retired from that concern and has opened offices in the Monolith Building at 43 and 45 West 34th st, where he will conduct a general contracting and building business.

The G. Drouve Company, of Bridgeport, Conn., at the annual meeting of the directors, held Feb. 3, 1908, elected Mr. G. Drouve as president and treasurer and Mr. William V. Dee as secretary of the company. Mr. Dee, who recently resigned from the Railway Age to take an interest in the company, has been appointed general sales manager. The company manufactures the "Anti-Pluvius" skylight, of which 125,000 square feet has been installed on the Hoboken terminal of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western R. R., and the Lovell window operating device and the Drouve ventilator, drying stove, etc.

H. W. Nutt, who for the past year has represented Buell & Mitchell, of New York, in Boston, has been appointed district manager for the New England States by the General Fireproofing Company, and will have headquarters at 161 Devonshire st, Boston. Mr. Nutt has been assistant general sales agent for the American Steel Hoop Company, secretary of the American Tube & Stamping Company, of Bridgeport, Conn., and vice-president of the Superior Steel Company, of Pittsburgh. As district manager for the General Fireproofing Company his attention will be devoted largely to exploiting the materials for reinforcing concrete which are manufactured by this company, and particularly pin-connected girder frames and cold twisted lug bars.

An experiment with cold-water paint was recently made by the Roebling Construction Co. on some of their work in a building in East 49th st. It had always been found troublesome to use such paint over iron work left exposed by this system of construction, because the iron would rust through the paint and stain it badly. The difficulty was taken up with a number of water-paint manufacturers, and samples of their products were tested. One proved entirely satisfactory. This is made by M. Ewing Fox & Co., and called "Permanite." "Permanite" covered splendidly, dried out a pure, brilliant white, completely killed the rust stains and proved so firm that it could not be removed with a sponge and water. "Permanite" also proved to be inexpensive, one pound covering about 25 square feet of terra cotta block and iron, one coat, and costing about five cents.

Insurance Difficulties.

Insurance brokers are saying that it is hard to place clients' lines in the congested business district since the Parker Building fire. One is quoted by the Insurance Press to this effect:

"I have been turned down so often recently on risks above the sixth floor that I am offering any amount of preferred business to go with it as a bribe. The countermen are getting very careful in their selections. When there have been no big fires happening, he will accept a risk as a flyer, but he is not flying nowadays. He is getting very conservative. Perhaps when the new hose has been obtained, for which $50,000 has been appropriated, the existing state of affairs may change. I earnestly hope so."

Yet New York is a fairly well-built city, though just now the fire department finds it has about reached its limitations under present facilities. The public is inclined to complain greatly over the profits in fire insurance, but we find that the dividends on capital, after all, for the past sixteen years, and long before, have been much less than the amounts received for interest earnings, leaving premiums entirely out of account. That is to say, had it not been for the investment feature in fire insurance, and the masterful manner in which finances have been handled, there not only would have been no dividends, but the companies would have been short some millions of dollars which they have taken either to help pay losses or to strengthen their surpluses. The rate of profit on underwriting up to the beginning of 1906 for a term of years had been very small indeed, and of course the San Francisco disaster wiped out all profit not only for 1907 but for several years to come.

Rafael Guastavino, Architect.

ment of his methods, is enlightening. In the earlier years a forty-foot roof dome in New York City and a floor span dome of the same dimensions in the Boston Public Library were the largest individual problems. Later came the Central Congregational Church in Providence, a dome of fifty feet span, and following that a dome for a church in Lowell of seventy feet span, followed by several others of about the same dimensions in the University of New York and at Charlottesville, Va., until finally reaching to domes of one hundred feet span, as in the Girard Trust Building in Philadelphia, and the roof dome of the Temple Rodef Sholem in Pittsburgh, springing from a rectangular base; probably the most difficult of all, unless a floor dome of upwards of eighty feet span in the National Museum at Washington be so esteemed.

Starting originally with a rough tile as the basis of construction, his vision of the beautiful soon discarded that wherever possible as the exposed material, and gradually there came a process of development in materials which now requires the services of a factory devoted exclusively to this line of work, preparing all shapes and designs and colors, for use as soffit course materials, possibly reaching their perfection in application in such buildings as the Suffolk Savings Bank in Boston and the National Museum in Washington.

Mr. Guastavino's artistic temperament and absolute determination to succeed against adversities which in his early career in this country would have crushed most men, won him the personal and professional regard and esteem of the leading architects, and gave him an entre into the offices of the profession which no merely mercantile or contracting spirit could ever hope to acquire.

While particularly devoted to his profession of architecture, he was a man of much culture and learning, a student of history and a great lover of music, being himself an accomplished pianist and violinist, and in the solace of these instruments found relief from the cares of business. He leaves a widow and three sons, two engaged in business in South America, and the youngest, bearing the same name, all his life associated with him in business. WILLIAM E. BLODGETT.

O. F. Nichols, C. E.

Every reader of the City Record is familiar with the name of Chief Engineer O. F. Nichols, of the Bureau of Franchises in the Finance Department of the city, whose duty it was to make numerous reports on public matters, which were printed in the proceedings of the Board of Estimate. Mr. Nichols died Feb. 4 at his residence, 42 Gates av, Brooklyn, aged 63. How many able men die when they reach that age! There seems to be something peculiarly trying for active men at that period of life. Mr. Nichols was long identified with the city's public works. He was born in Newport, L. I., and was graduated from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1868. In 1870 he became assistant engineer in the office of Cooper & Hewitt. In 1888 he was made chief engineer of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad Company, and in 1892 was general manager as well. From 1895 to 1902 he was assistant engineer in charge of the Williamsburgh Bridge over the East River. In 1902-03 he was principal assistant engineer of the Department of Bridges.

Notes on Material Market.

A decided increase in orders for plain wire is noted.

The average price of crossties to railroads is about 48 cents, so estimated by the Forest Service at Washington.

The average increase in the price of lumber since 1899 has been 49 per cent. Call it 50 for easy reckoning.

Jerome Walsh bought the Fitzgerald brick yard property at Coxsackie when it was sold at foreclosure, paying $5,000.

Prices on wrought butts, strap and F-hinges are not expected to change during the first half of the year, having recently been reaffirmed.

National Rope Company, 106 Wall st, quotes 3 to 6-ply stainless twine at 6½ cts. a pound; ton lots, 6¼ cts., delivered New York City.

J. F. Blanchard & Co., manufacturers of metal-covered interior trim, are making up a list of machinery requirements for their new plant in Long Island City, which covers half an acre.

Local trade in builders' hardware is as light as usual at this season. The recent formal cut of ten per cent. in prices by the leading manufacturers came as a surprise to the trade. Dealers are confident of a fairly good year.

The stockholders of the Ulster Brick Co., with works at Ulster Landing, nine miles north of Kingston, have elected Hiram Merritt, president; Geo. H. Merritt, vice-president; B. J. Macdonald, secretary and treasurer; F. C. Balfe, director; all of Newburgh.

Storage batteries are in increasing demand. The Electrical World says many engineers believe that the steam turbine marks only a transition period in prime movers, which must give way to the internal combustion engine because of its superior economy.—As one writer puts it, "the storage battery is the natural consort of the gas engine."

Mr. J. J. Jusserand, French ambassador at Washington, forwards through the Department of State copies of the programme, plans and application forms for exhibit in connection with the International Exposition of Electrical Appliances to be held at Marseille (France) from April 19 to October 31, 1908. These may be obtained from the U. S. Bureau of Manufactures (Washington) by intending exhibitors.

Mexican timber resources offer a good opening for American investors seeking a field in that country. As regards the rating of Mexican woods in foreign as well as in home markets, the following are substantially the prices in American money, being per thousand feet: Mahogany and cedar logs, shipped from Gulf of Mexico points f. o. b., New York: laguna cedar, $45 to $60; laguna mahogany, $40 to $55; cedar from other points, $32.50 to $57.50; mahogany, from other points, $30 to $50. The varieites of precious woods not known to the lumber markets of the world are even more plentiful in sections of Mexico than mahogany, and such to local cabinet workmen range in price from $100 to $125. There is no export duty on logs. As regards the domestic product as sold in the markets throughout Mexico, recognizing no association grades, log or mill-run pine lumber receiving no attention as regards kiln drying or practical stacking, much of which is sold green from the saw, ranges from $17.50 to $32.50.

Criticisms of the Fire Department.

Mayor McClellan has received from the Commissioners of Accounts their report of an investigation into the Parker Building fire, and more particularly the conduct of the fire department in that crisis. The conclusions arrived at are these:

1. The supply of water in the neighborhood of the Parker Building on the night of Jan. 10 was ample for the purposes of the Fire Department.
2. The lack of efficient streams of water was due to an unintelligent distribution of apparatus and to defective hose.
3. The loss of life was due to lack of foresight and proper precautionary measures, and to poor management on the part of the officer in charge.
4. The Fire Department lacks to-day a sufficient supply of hose, and of that which it has a dangerously large proportion is unreliable and unsafe. This presents a condition of danger to the entire city.
5. The responsibility for the present shortage and condition of hose rests in part upon all recent administrations of the Fire Department, but also upon the Board of Aldermen and the Board of Estimate, in what respective proportions our examination has not gone far enough as yet to enable us to determine.
6. The Fire Department has not received adequate appropriations for apparatus and supplies in its annual budgets of 1906, 1907 and 1908.

The recommendations are ten in number, most of which refer to the purchase and care of hose. They also recommend that hydrants be marked in some manner to indicate the size of main to which they are attached.

Preparing for a Rush of Homeseekers.

The rapid multiplication of modern schools, fire halls and other public buildings in the nearby towns of New Jersey is a potent reminder that residents of these fast-growing communities are not oblivious to the requirements of an increasing population. Many new operations are under way, and it seems reasonable to attribute much of the quickening in that direction to the stimulus afforded by the prospect of the early opening of the Hudson River tunnels. At Belleville, a schoolhouse, the full cost of which will approach $46,000, is to be erected at Hornblower av and Rutgers st. In Palisades Park a similar structure is about to be built from plans drawn by Ernest Sibley, of Grantwood. The cost in this instance is estimated at $40,000. Many buildings of a like character are contemplated in such places as Elizabeth and Passaic. At Bayonne plans are being prepared for a building for the Young Men's Christian Association to cost about $50,000, and there is hardly a village or town within reasonable commuting distance of Manhattan that is not being forced to increase its improvements in anticipation of the expected rush of the homeseeker.

Notice to Architects.

In order to obtain the best results, the North Hudson Hospital Association has resolved to secure by competition between architects plans and specifications for the erection of a modern fireproof hospital building in the township of Weehawken, N. J. The building to be erected under the supervision of and according to the plans and specifications of the successful architect whose plans are chosen.

To the architect whose plans shall be considered next in order of merit, shall be paid the sum of $150, and to the architect whose plans shall be considered third in order shall be paid the sum of $100. For further particulars address Building Committee, North Hudson Hospital Association, Town of Union, Weehawken Post Office, N. J. Herman Walker, chairman; J. M. Rector, M. D., secretary.

A Simple Process to Age Cement.

An authority on concrete asserts that the ageing of that material may be considerably hastened by treating it with baths of water for periods exceeding twenty-four hours. It is affirmed that this process produces in the treated concrete a compressive strength equal to that of the naturally aged material.

The Week.

The general market showed considerable improvement over last week. Not only were there more private sales reported, but they were more widely scattered. The market was broader. It is yet in the spasmodic stage. One day a considerable number of contracts closed, and the next day only three or four. Brokers as a whole are more cheerful. They report more inquiry from prospective purchasers. It has been remarked frequently that prices have been maintained during this period of inactivity.

Real estate seems up to the present time to be the only form of investment that has not really suffered depreciation. There has not been any rush of frightened holders of Manhattan property to dispose of their holdings. They have been content to await developments, rather than sell to the highest bidder at forced sale. Probably there never has been a period in the history of real estate in New York that prices have held as firmly under such trying circumstances as was manifested during the last six months. The owner of a house is standing for his price. He will not make concessions. Practically the only exceptions to this statement are for those who had mortgages come due during the bank scare. At that time money was difficult to obtain, even on realty. There are several reasons for the firmness of the price of marketable property. In the first place, it is in better condition than ever before. Improvements have been made and are being made; costly structures have been placed on many holdings; new streets opened and completed.

In the second place, clouds from thousands of holdings have either been removed or guaranteed. It is only reasonable to suppose that lenders of money will favor a parcel where they are guaranteed as to owner and title. There was a time when many of the large estates were hopelessly tied up. To-day a large percentage have been cleared, with the result that money is more freely obtainable and consequently improvements made possible.

In the third place the building of tunnels, bridges and the improving of surface car lines has also greatly enhanced the value of Manhattan realty. The full benefit of these improvements has not been felt as yet. Two or three years will, in a great measure, tell the story.

Among the sales of the week that attracted particular notice was that of 1182-4 Broadway. This property is situated just south of the Hotel Breslin, and occupies a lot 53x114. The purchasers contemplate improving the plot with a 16-sty office structure. The dwelling 29 Park av, 24.8x105, was sold to an investor, who is going to convert it into a modern American basement dwelling. This property is in one of the finest residential sections of the city. That section above 85th st, on the west side, came in for the major portion of sales, but the Heights, and the Bronx also, for a share of the week's business.

The mortgage market showed some improvement over last week. It is to be expected that more mortgages will be recorded around the first of the month. Many mortgage renewals were recorded on last Monday, which swells somewhat the total number for the week. Besides this fact, however, there were more loans of considerable amounts placed than for some time past. The Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. loaned Samuel V. Hoffman on the property 118-20 5th av $350,000 for 3 years. The properties 6 and 8 East 37th st have been mortgaged by George C. Boldt to Charles J. Fay for $100,000. This latter loan runs for 2 years and bears interest at 5 per cent. The West Side Construction Co., Jacob Axelrod, president, borrowed from the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. $300,000 on the property at the northeast corner of Park av and 83d st. This is in the form of a building loan. This same company gave a purchase money mortgage to William T. Evans, of Montclair, N. J., on the property on Riverside Drive, southeast corner of 93d st, of $110,000 for 3 years at 6 per cent from Jan. 31. There is a prior mortgage on this property of $390,000. Mr. Evans gave in part payment the block front in 175th st, between St. Nicholas and Audubon avs. This vacant land has since been sold by the West Side Construction Co. to the City Real Estate Co., who are holding it in trust for the purchaser.

The total number of mortgages recorded for Manhattan this week was 185, as against 133 last week, and in the Bronx 120, as against 103 last week. The total amount involved is $3,775,649, as against $2,521,622 last week.

The total number of sales reported is 54, of which 11 were below 59th st, 26 above and 17 in the Bronx. The sales reported for the corresponding week last year were 123, of which 52 were below 59th st, 51 above and 20 in the Bronx.

THE AUCTION MARKET

There was quite a number of offerings in the auction mart during the week just past. Not only were they court but also voluntary sales. The latter were offered at the stand of Joseph P. Day on Thursday. The 4-sty building 882 6th av, 23.9x66.5, was bid in at $47,300. Robert P. Zobel bought 238 West 26th st, a 3-sty building, 21.3x98.9, for $19,500, and also 234 West 48th st, a 3-sty dwelling, 17x100.5, for $23,400. The 4-sty tenement 420 West 46th st was knocked down to W. A. Archibald for $16,700. The two remaining properties, 2669 Bainbridge av and 425 West 147th st, were both bid in. The block front on Edgecomb av, between 166th and 167th sts, went to the Trial Realty Co. for $109,206. This property is 40x195x166x231 and the amount due was $56,830.41. The taxes and other charges amounted to about $3,257.80. It is subject to two prior mortgages aggregating $48,000. The block front on Maclay av, between Montgomery pl and Overing av, 148x125x irreg; the block front on Maclay av, between St. Peter's av and Montgomery pl, 200x125; the northeast corner of Maclay and St. Peter's avs, 300x125x irreg., were knocked down to Frederick K. Morris for $150,125. This property was subject to a mortgage for $135,000; the amount due was $15,321.92 and the taxes and other charges were $1,018.69.

There was one parcel on Southern boulevard, 100 ft. south of Av St. John, advertised to be sold on Monday, but was adjourned to Feb. 10. On Tuesday six parcels were to be sold. One was withdrawn, one adjourned, one went to the plaintiff and three sold to various buyers. Among those disposed of was 44 Allen st, a 5-sty tenement, 25x65.7. Louis Hein was the purchaser and he paid $34,055 for it. On Wednesday there were nine properties offered. Eight of these went to the plaintiff and one was adjourned. The 3-sty brick stable 208 West 77th st, 25x102.2, was withdrawn and sold at private sale, as reported in another column.

The amount involved in the auction sales up to Thursday night was $1,859,018, and since January 1, $6,824,368. Last year the total for the week was $492,222, and from Jan. 1, $3,079,788.

For Reform in Condemnation Proceedings.

COMPTROLLER METZ, in a communication, requests Governor Hughes to appoint a commission to go deeply into the subject of condemnation proceedings in New York City, and make a report to the Legislature with recommendations. The Comptroller does not look with favor upon the present system of awarding damages and is of the opinion that the condemnation of property by special commissions is a pernicious practice leading to opportunities for injustice.

Mr. Metz says in his letter to the Governor that with the constant growth of the City of New York the municipality's exercise of the right of eminent domain under the provisions of the State Constitution and the City Charter, has become attended with so many abuses and is attended with the unjustifiable squandering of such large amounts of money that he deems it his duty to appeal to the Governor of the State, to take action that will bring about reform in the method of acquiring land by condemnation proceedings. Mr. Metz adds:

"In 1907 commissioners made awards for $6,598,672.80 worth of property for public uses other than for street openings. For street openings in the same year commissioners made awards of $6,934,063.34. The total is $13,532,736.14. The taxed costs for proceedings other than street openings were $133,639.15, or .0203 per cent. of the awards. The taxed costs for street opening proceedings were $384,137.11, or .0554 per cent. of the awards."

Other extracts from this paper follow:

"It is no unjust reflection upon these commissioners to say that in cases that involve shrewd legal ability or a wide, practical knowledge of real estate, most of them are poorly qualified to act. Their remuneration—ten dollars for each session—excludes men whose specialized ability and expert knowledge would entitle them to higher remuneration. And the extent to which commissioners in condemnation proceedings have extended their sittings, beyond all reason, in order to increase their fees, is clearly shown in the comparison of the extent of the property involved or its value with the number of sittings it has taken to bring the condemnation proceedings to a close. Ten dollars is charged for 'viewing property,' and the number of times that some pieces of property have been 'viewed' is beyond all reason. Ten dollars is also charged by each commissioner for 'executive sessions.' These executive sessions in some proceedings are absurdly numerous, as is proved by their minutes later, which indicate no matter discussed or no conclusion reached by means of them.

"Several reforms have been suggested, but these reforms can only be brought about either by legislative enactment or by an amendment to the State Constitution. The Charter Revision Commission, appointed by yourself, said on this subject:

'If a remedy which is to strike at the roots of this evil is to be adopted the commission inclines to the belief that the Constitution must be amended so as to provide for a properly constituted Court of Condemnation, in which all proceedings of every nature for the acquisition of property rights for municipal purposes shall be conducted and regulated by a general act applicable to the whole State and to all its subdivisions and municipalities. It may be that the jurisdiction of such a court should be limited to cities of the first class. At present the Legislature is powerless to cure the fundamental evils of the situation, but the defects of the city's Charter might be remedied to some extent if all provisions relating to such proceedings were to be systematized and included in one chapter.

"The Constitution provides already that a court and jury may try these cases, but the difficulty of a jury trial is, I think, manifest, when the purely technical character of the testimony is taken into consideration. A jury would be open to most of the objections, particularly as to qualification, as are now the three commissioners.

"It has also been suggested to me that the qualifications of commissioners might be further defined by statute; that the commissioners be paid a larger fee and be required to sit daily, during office hours, until the case is concluded.

"It has been suggested also that a permanent board of especially qualified referees or commissioners be constituted to try land cases.

"Having set out the practices followed in the matter and brought to your attention the suggested remedies, I wish to urge that a special commission be appointed at once by yourself to go deeply into the subject and make a report amply covering it to the Legislature, with recommendations."

Land Values in American Cities.

An interesting and instructive book has been compiled by the Seattle Real Estate Association. It gives a table of comparative land values in the principal cities of the United States.

Letters were sent to real estate brokers in the various cities asking among other questions the following: What net interest does fully improved business property pay on the selling value? Highest price ever paid for property after deducting value of improvements? Where located? When sold? Over what area of the city is property worth within 25 per cent. of the price quoted? Market value of the best apartment house?

About fifty cities in the United States are represented in the table, a part of which is reprinted here. Prominent real estate men in about thirty foreign cities furnished data as to the relative relative values.

Outline of Work Done by Torrens Commission.

The members of the Torrens Commission held their first meeting Sept. 18, 1907, at which David A. Clarkson was elected chairman and T. Winthrop Weston, secretary. A committee was appointed to report how information and literature relative to the Torrens and other systems could be obtained. Also a committee to report as to the means of investigating the present method of recording and transferring land titles in the State of New York.

The Commission met Tuesday, Oct. 1. Letters were sent to the secretaries of all the States of the Union, the corresponding officials of all the territories, the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico asking for information relating to systems of registering title in the United States and its territories.

Letters were also sent to all the United States Consuls General and to all United States Consuls at the capitals and to certain consular agents in all important cities of every foreign government; also to registers of each county in the States of the United States where the Torrens system has been adopted; also to all registers and county clerks of each county of the State of New York. It was also decided to hold executive sessions every Saturday, and other meetings as often as necessary.

Prof. Reeves was appointed, as a committee of one, to make an examination of the constitutional features and questions involved in the Torrens system, as shown by decisions of the courts.

First public hearing, for and against, was held Oct. 11, 1907. Second public hearing, arguments against, was held Oct. 25, 1907. Public hearing in Albany Nov. 29, for and against.

Mr. Pegram prepared an historical review of the Torrens system; also digest of letters and reports received from foreign countries and States of the United States.

Mr. Thompson prepared digests of letters and reports received from county treasurers and registry officials of this State; also a statement of the special laws affecting registry officials in the various counties.

Prof. Reeves reported that a bill which would be constitutional and feasible could be drawn. This report was adopted by the Commission.

Mr. Folks went to Boston, Mass., and examined the workings of the Land Registry Act of that State, and the report thereupon was adopted.

A committee to frame a bill for the registration of titles was appointed and a committee to draft a bill or bills for the general improvement in dealings with real estate titles were appointed. A bill for the registration of title to real property was reported by the committee first named, which report and bill was adopted by the Commission. The report of the second committee was made and laid on the table.

The Commission met Jan. 30, 1908, and adopted the report sent to the Governor.

LAW DEPARTMENT

Too Complicated.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

A party comes to B, a real estate agent, to rent a flat. B shows him his own flat, which is exactly like the one for rent, but the party does not want to pay the rent asked by the Owner C, so B gives him his card to go and see the Owner C, if C wants to give him the flat at the reduced rent. A few weeks later the party A moves in, but the Owner C refuses to pay B the commission, claiming that he knew A, because A had asked him a few months before to rent A the flat, but C refused at the time on account of A's children. Now B claims he is entitled to his commission, as C did not consummate the deal the first time, but rented A the flat when B had sent A with his card to him (C).

Answer.—The above is too complicated a state of facts, and dependent on too many omitted other facts, to admit of an offhand decision. The principle guiding a decision would be that if the broker had been employed or authorized by the owner to rent the flat, and was actually the effective cause of its being rented to the tenant, he (the broker) is entitled to a commission.

Valid and Binding.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

J has a piece of property that she wishes to convey to her daughter, and has a deed properly prepared, signed and executed before a notary. She delivers the said deed to her daughter, who receives it and lays it away carefully until some time after the death of her mother, when she records the same. Does her failure to record the deed have any effect on the transfer, or is it a perfect and legal binding transfer?

Answer.—It is valid and binding except as to anyone who may in the meantime have paid a valuable consideration to the mother for a deed of the same property without notice of the unrecorded deed, and have first recorded his own deed.—Ed.

Waiver of Interest.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

M holds a mortgage against property of D, due Feb. 15, 1908. He notifies D by mail that he wants the money on the date due. D telephones M the next day that he has the money and will M accepts it on the 3d inst.? M answers that he will. Is M right in demanding interest for the full time, to Feb. 15, or not?

M.

Answer.—M has a perfect right to demand interest on his obligation to maturity, unless he agrees to waive it. The implication is that D meant by an offer of payment on an earlier date to save interest, and M's answer, though technically not a waiver, is still subject to that implication.

Banking Practice.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

A made a note payable to B for $900. B makes it payable to C, and C has it discounted in one of the defunct banks. C has a balance of $1,100 in bank. Will the note be deducted from C's account when it comes due?

Answer.—The usual practice is, we believe, for a bank to charge back against its customer's account a note discounted for him which returns unpaid and protested.

Projected Improvements on Washington Heights.

The recent movement in Washington Heights realty following the long period of inactivity in that quarter, is indicative of an early return of confidence in property values thereabouts, and justifies the commencement of many pending operations of considerable importance. Among the projected undertakings deserving of mention is a row of three 6-sty high-class apartment buildings, 70.10x86 feet each, to be erected on the northerly side of West 143d st, about 450 feet east of Broadway. They are to be built by the West Side Construction Company from plans drawn by George E. Pelham. The cost will approach the sum of $250,000.

A little further toward the west another operation of similar character will soon be begun by Joseph H. Davis, and although no definite information is at hand it is understood that the whole undertaking will foot up close to $500,000. Further northward, at the southeast corner of West 180th st and St. Nicholas av, Stephen J. Egan is soon to erect three 5-sty buildings planned to accommodate two families on a floor, with stores on the street floor. In this instance the corner structure will be 25x90, and the adjoining buildings 37.6x88 feet. The cost is estimated at $75,000. Mr. Egan is also about to improve the southwest corner of St. Nicholas av and 180th st with a 5-sty apartment at an expense of about $25,000.

These are but a few of a rapidly growing list of new undertakings which will do much toward encouraging a more general resumption of high-class building in one of the most healthy, but long neglected sections of Manhattan Island.

PROPERTY OWNERS' SECTION.

Widening of Fifth Avenue.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

The Corporation Counsel's office has served the following notice upon a number of property owners on 5th av, from Madison sq north:

Sir: In order to permit of the widening of the roadway of 5th av, it has become necessary to remove all projections extending beyond the building line that interfere with the use of the sidewalks and to restrict all vaults under the sidewalks to the space inside the new proposed curb line. I beg therefore to hereby give you formal notice to forthwith remove all such projections and vaults on or connected with the premises on 5th av owned by you known as No. —.

In case you notify me in writing within ten days from the date hereof that you will, on ten days' notice from this office, remove or cause to be removed such projections and vaults as may be necessary to allow of the widening of such avenue, and will execute proper formal papers to be prepared by this office, embodying such agreement, I will stipulate on behalf of the city that you be not required to make such removal prior to the first day of January, 1909.

In case of your failure to remove the said encumbrances, or to comply within the time above prescribed with the foregoing provisions, proceedings will be at once commenced to compel an immediate removal of the projections and encumbrances referred to.

Yours truly, FRANCIS K. PENDLETON, Corporation Counsel.

DIAGRAM SHOWING PROPOSED WIDENING OF FIFTH AVENUE ROADWAY.

In the year 1844 the proprietors of lots between 23d and 42d sts received permission to enclose a court, 15 feet wide, with an open iron railing in front of their lots, on each side of the avenue, and to place the curbstone 30 feet from the line of the avenue on each side, and so leave a carriageway 40 feet wide, with 15 feet for sidewalk and 15 more for court space on each side. But this permission was granted upon the condition that "if, in the opinion of the Common Council, the said courts shall hereafter be required for streets, the same shall be thrown open."

A year ago the Corporation Counsel issued what was taken as "a warning" that the dooryard spaces would presently be required for street purposes. The exact measurement to which the carriageway will be widened has not yet been determined.

Several firms on Fifth avenue to whom notices of contemplated widening have been sent expressed themselves on Friday as being willing to comply with the order to remove the encroachments, but deplored the necessity for so doing. One prominent property owner said that while the loss in alterations would cost him many thousands dollars, still he believed that the expense would more than be made up in increased valuations and by improved business.

Mr. H. M. Wilcox, assistant treasurer of the Aeolian Company of 362 Fifth avenue, said that his company had just received the notice and that they would probably be put to considerable expense in making the necessary changes, among them being the shortening of their vaults under the sidewalk and the setting back of the front elevator in that building.

"It is too bad," said Mr. Wilcox, "that the decision to widen the avenue didn't occur before so many costly improvements were undertaken. Permission should never have been given to the original owners to encroach upon property which they did not own."

A New Wrinkle.

Another new system has been thought of which may possibly minimize the inconvenience frequently complained of in the delivery of apartment house mail. In the method to be followed the manager of an apartment building must secure the written consent of tenants desirous of having their mail turned over to himself or his representative. A proper pouch is thereupon furnished him, as well as two keys, one of which is held by the manager and the other is turned over to the postoffice. In this manner the janitor turns over all mail to the apartment manager in a securely locked receptacle.

Woodlawn Taxpayers' Association.

ONE of the most progressive local organizations in the upper middle section of the Bronx is the Woodlawn Taxpayers' Association, which through the energy and activity of its officers and committees has succeeded in making the neighborhood east of Van Cortlandt Park a leading section three years in advance of its surrounding communities. It takes in that part of the Bronx Borough north of 233d st, 242d st and McLean av and west of Webster av to Mt. Vernon av, which is the eastern boundary of Van Cortlandt Park. Here all the streets are well graded and laid out with sidewalks and curbs, and all water facilities, sewers and city lights are in place. There are street signs on every corner.

Arrangements are now being made for electric lights for streets and residents which will be the last up-to-date improvement that may be had anywhere. Building in this section is having a boom, and in some places whole blocks of houses are in course of erection, 3 and 4-sty family apartment houses being the last addition.

Early in June Park Commissioner Joseph I. Berry met with a delegation of residents of this section to talk over the question of making improvements in the northeastern section of Van Cortlandt Park, and as a result cinder paths and roadways have been built in the locality, one extending from 233d st to 237th st to and along Jerome av, and another from 240th st to 242d st and the main park roadway and a path from 237th st to Jerome av. There was also a 50-foot flagpole erected in Indian Field at the East 238th st entrance to Van Cortlandt Park and the ground leveled and park benches placed freely about the hisforic Indian monument which was erected to Chief Ninham and thirteen Stockbridge Indians who gave their lives in defending Washington's outposts in the Revolutionary days of 1776. On Fourth of July morning a fitting celebration was held for the presentation of a large flag when the Second Battery gave a National salute and school children sang National airs.

This Taxpayers' Association is now working for the erection of a bridge across the Bronx River valley at the foot of East 240th st and the changing of the name of Webster av, above Bronx Park to the city line, to that of 3d av.

The social side of the Association is cultivated by outings in the summer time and entertainments in winter, all of which are always well attended. The next entertainment will be held on Feb. 11. The present membership is seventy-five, with new applications pending. The organization is on a sound financial basis and looks forward to having its own building before very long.

The officers of the Association are: C. W. Schmidtke, president; J. B. Powers, vice-president; L. M. Peecock, secretary.

Renting Conditions on West Side.

Mr. Jesse C. Bennett, president of Jesse C. Bennett & Co., in speaking of the renting conditions on the West Side said: "Out of six separate buildings, and mostly corners on Columbus av, between 75th and 85th sts, containing about 80 tenants, we have only four vacancies, and without any reductions, but owing to the rents not having been increased, our buildings for the past three years have averaged 98 per cent. rented. We figure by the year.

"Out of about 130 tenants between Broadway and Riverside Drive, 80th and 86th sts, rents ranging from $4,500 per year down, we have only one vacancy. This does not include stores. We have 22 stores between 80th and 84th sts in Broadway buildings all fully rented. One of about 35 stores on Columbus av, between 75th and 85th sts we have but one store to rent. It is our opinion that rents generally will hold firm on the West Side between Central Park and the river for the present, and later on they will be increased."

Proposed Subway Route Changed.

The Public Service Commission on February 4 decided the route of the proposed Broadway-Lexington av and Canal st subways. The only change made in the route of the first mentioned road is that the bore will be diverted from Broadway at East 9th st, instead of at East 10th st, as originally planned. This is due to the objections made by Dr. W. R. Huntington, who is fearful that Grace Church would suffer serious damage should the subway be built under the building. The Record and Guide several weeks ago drew attention to this fact. The proposed track level was only a little less than 30 feet below the street grade. The weight of the steeple had to be taken into consideration. It will be remembered the steeple was built at a later date than the church proper. It was questionable in the minds of those who know the construction of this building whether it would not be damaged by the vibrations caused both by the blasting and by the motion of trains after the road was in operation. The ceiling of the church is made of a composition representing stone. Those competent of judging stated, in their opinion, it would in all probability be ruined.

The resolutions adopted by the Public Service Commission were transmitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on Friday, February 7, for adoption. The Board appointed Friday, February 14, at 10.30, for its consideration. The chief engineer of the Finance Department and the chief engineer of sewers were instructed to confer with the Public Service Commission on the question of sewers affected by the proposed route.

The Canal st subway is to run from river to river, connecting with all elevated railroad and subway stations in that street.

Jersey City Board of Brokers.

The fourth annual banquet of the Board of Real Estate Brokers of Jersey City and vicinity will be held at the Jersey City Club at half-past six o'clock on the evening of Feb. 18. next.

Among those gentlemen who have been invited to speak are Messrs, Joseph P. Day, Otto Kempner, president of the New Jersey and New York Real Estate Exchange; Robert Carey, member New Jersey State Tax Board; Hon. H. Otto Wittpen, Mayor of Jersey City; William Jeffery, of Berkeley Heights; Rev. Walter V. Greenway, Hon. James F. Fielder, Senator from Hudson County, and the Hon. Charles C. Black, late member of the State Tax Board.

The date was originally set for Feb. 25, but as the McAdoo tunnel opens on that day it was deemed best to avoid any conflict in dates.

One of the features of the opening of the first section of the $60,000,000 tunnel will be President Roosevelt's participation in the ceremonies. He will press an electric button in Washington which will start the first train in motion. If the present programme is followed out, Governor Hughes will start from the New York side and Governor Fort from the Jersey terminal. They will meet, have luncheon and speechmaking in the middle of the tube. There will be a banquet at Sherry's later in the day.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1907.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of thie list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagees. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Registers office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

January 31, February 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

WHEN THE SPRING shall turn men's thoughts again to building, the dwelling-house rather than the tenement will probably under the reasons that will then prevail receive the first attention, and for a period be the subject of the most business activity. This will be naturally in those parts of the Bronx and Brooklyn where frame construction is lawfully and financially possible, and in Queens, Richmond, Westchester and the Jerseys. As a general prophecy this is accepted as probably true among architects and builders, but the determination of the precise localities to be most favored for operations awaits a better understanding of the subway situation, and especially the directions which the next extensions will take. Very important to the building trades and all depending on them is an early and favorable decision by the Public Service Commissioners and the Board of Estimate of the great transit question now before them. One hundred and eighty-four thousand men are now idle in this city; not all structural mechanics, but all affected by the suspension of building operations. No one thing which the administration could do for the sake of the general good at this crisis would be more effective than to begin the construction immediately, or cause to be started by others, of a tri-borough subway. The financiering details apart, it is the signal for which the local business interests are waiting, to give direction to their powers and inspiration for their planning. It ought to be sufficiently plain that business interests at large will not submit to seeing all their hopes for transit relief buried in a remote suburb of Brooklyn when ordinary business sagacity unites with civic equity in advising the apportioning of the available fund between Manhattan and the Bronx as well. Under existing circumstances the time for a general revival of building for multi-family houses here in Manhattan cannot be set, but with the opening of new routes to the towns in Queens and Kings, there is every probability of a great number of dwellings being erected in those directions, and for other reasons in the northern suburbs and on the Jersey shore also.

ARCHITECTS see evidence that there will be more individual building this year than has been customary of late. Master mechanics looking for contracts rather than for building loans, and laymen inquiring in regard to plans and probable costs, are cases in point. Moreover, these private builders will have ways of financing their undertakings independently of local lending institutions. Notwithstanding the stringency in the worn channels of finance a large aggregate of means is available for home-building in private accounts, accumulated for no other purpose than home-building, and waiting only for a favorable opportunity. A visiting builder from another city, who was here this week looking for a field of operations, decided to return later when transit circumstances are more certain. He will arrange for finances elsewhere. An architect who has designed a number of our finest city buildings expects to give his principal attention this year to suburban work. The present dullness in many lines is a reason why other doors of opportunity should open; and while so many mechanics are idle this winter, it must not be inferred that they are impoverished. The self-sustaining power of the average family in America is very great. The real estate market is steadily regaining buoyancy, with money becoming more plentiful and cheaper. A significant feature of general business is the presence in the city of an unprecedented number of buyers. They want to buy cheaply, it is true, but it is none the less a sign of a restoration of public confidence and the imminence of normal conditions. In metropolitan building works a considerable period of time is required for gathering full headway. The height of activity is approached by successive stages, usually beginning with small work on the edges of the city, which now ordinarily amounts to a large aggregate, and keeps occupied large forces of men until better engagements offer in more central sections. Of the larger and longer contracts a good number have been scheduled, and in general dealers in building materials predict that conservative hopes will not be disappointed in the amount of business that will be offered during the current year.

A BILL intended to meet a very real difficulty in the administration of the tax department provides for disclosing the actual consideration whenever a transfer of real estate is made. The bill is also intended to meet a difficulty which confronts the city government when obliged to acquire private property for public purposes by purchase or condemnation. Whether or not the measure furnishes a satisfactory solution, it will be considered seriously by all those interested in real estate transactions and in the welfare of the city. It is contended by some that ignorance of the true consideration, and the consequent difference of opinion on the part of expert appraisers as to values, deter many from investing in real estate, and on the opposite side there may be a fear that the knowledge of the consideration for actual transfers would reduce the opportunity for speculative profits. There are those who object to the requirement that the price of real estate shall be disclosed, but it is undoubtedly the fact that the daily quotation of staple products helps to make an active market. It helps the market because a prospective buyer knows that he is not paying more than others under similar circumstances, and anyone may buy at the market price when he thinks prices are likely to rise. Even retail prices can be ascertained readily by anyone who cares to ask, and it is practically impossible for any dealer in commodities to conceal his prices, even if he so desires. Real estate is almost the sole subject of purchase and sale the prices for which are extensively concealed. It is possible that the fashion of inserting a nominal consideration in deeds grew up in this city because real estate was assessed at only a small fraction of its value, and the law gave no relief to those who were overassessed, unless the assessment exceeded the market value; and it may be that the custom also arose in part through the desire of operators to resell at a higher price. The usage is by no means universal, even where an active real estate market obtains, and in some places it never seems to occur to anybody to either omit the consideration or to have it falsely stated. Under such circumstances experience teaches that a larger profit can be obtained by first hands than by any subsequent purchaser, and one effect of this bill would be to encourage building operations. The present bill does not absolutely require the selling price to be put into the deed, for, from our reading, anyone by paying two hundred dollars as a penalty may evade the requirement. In a small transaction it might be worth that much to some not to have the price disclosed even to the tax commissioners, but in the case of a large one the expressed penalty would be no object. Analyzed, what the bill seems to require is only a private statement to the tax commissioners, the effect of the compliance with which would, of course, practically indicate in due time on the tax rolls, if not what was paid, then the sum which the department thought ought to have been.

THE PURPOSE of the Senate bill introduced by Mr. Travis is not, as is explained by Comptroller Metz, to enlarge the power of the City of New York to incur actual indebtedness represented by obligation which must be met by taxation, but rather to enable it to invest its credit in the purchase of valuable assets and self-sustaining properties absolutely necessary to the public welfare. Exemption is asked for the debts hitherto and to be incurred for dock and railroad properties that earn interest and sinking fund charges, the determination of fact to be made by the Supreme Court, Appellate Division, on application. The proposed constitutional amendment will have to be approved by the present and the next succeeding Legislature, and thereafter by the vote of the electors of the State, in the usual way, so that two years must pass before the relief can possibly come. Since the income produced by the Manhattan-Bronx subway and the City's docks is sufficient to pay the interest and provide for cancellation at maturity of bonds amounting approximately to one hundred and twenty million dollars, the city would be empowered to borrow that amount in addition for dock and railroad purposes only. When properties so acquired become in turn self-sustaining, the indebtedness contracted on their account would no longer be calculated within the debt limit. Self-sustaining properties add no burden to the taxpayer. On the contrary, it can be said for subways that they increase the amount of taxable property by encouraging growth and improvements and adding to values. Comptroller Metz, at whose instance the bill has been introduced, is endeavoring to enlist the support of Manhattan real estate men of influence in its behalf. Their assent to the general proposition is no doubt obtainable, but is any assurance desirable from him, as the representative of the administration, in return? If there is, now is the opportune time to propose it. During the interim of several years before the new millions can be borrowed, what disposition of the fund already available for subway construction is to be made, and cannot a part be appropriated for at least beginning, under some arrangement, a new subway for Manhattan-Bronx? A great deal of harm could be done to property interests here through adverse subway undertakings while we are waiting upon the chance of the proposed amendment being ratified at the polls.

Objections to the Lien Law.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I read with great interest the letter in your issue of Feb. 8, 1908, from Mr. Richard Deeves, and am greatly pleased to learn that he was the chairman of the committee which had the present lien law passed and that he has been busy ever since preventing amendments that in his mind would have made it absurd and of no value.

Mr. Deeves' reputation and experience are well recognized throughout the trade, and his standing and remarks deserve the highest regard and attention; but I fear he has only replied to one side of the question, namely, the reliable builder, who takes very large contracts with very reliable people, and who consequently does not need the lien law—revised or unrevised.

I do not think there is any business man or mechanic, dealing with the building interests, who does not use the best business prudence he is capable of before going into any contract or operation, mainly because he knows he has only the unequal chance of protection by the lien law, instead of an equal chance with his fellow contractors and mortgagees; and when a man knows that his money is not given an equal chance with another's, he does use the best ordinary business prudence that he can command, and at the same time try to carry on his business with the law 25 per cent. in his favor and 75 per cent. in the preferred man's favor, and does not depend on the present lien law to secure his money for him, as I think the following figures will tend to prove.

I herewith submit a list of liens and satisfied liens, as taken from your paper, for the Borough of Brooklyn alone, for the last six months of 1907:

LIENS FILED—AMOUNT.		SATISFIED LIENS FILED—AMOUNT.
July	$138,312.69	July	$56,663.03
August	195,575.64	August	83,541.04
September	203,094.86	September	68,142.12
October	186,624.89	October	71,074.17
November	274,790.91	November	134,839.52
December	286,053.42	December	79,152.14
Total	$1,284,452.41	Total	$493,412.02

Total liens filed	$1,284,452.41
Total satisfied liens filed	493,412.02
Balance	$791,040.39

This balance of $791,040.39 is money lost, or capital tied up, for a period of six months, for the Borough of Brooklyn alone. It hardly looks as if some people depended on the present lien law to get their money for them; and when I get the figures for the years 1906 and 1907 for the Borough of Manhattan and Brooklyn ready, upon which I am now working, I do not think they will look so either; nor will they show lack of business prudence, but will show "lack of equality in the law."

No lien law or any law need or should be drawn that will GET IN AHEAD of a mortgage already filed, whether first, second or third; but some law should be drawn that will give this lien an equal chance with that mortgage or mortgages which the article or material it represents helps to make said mortgages of value.

I would like to ask Mr. Deeves if he would define more clearly what he means in his statement in which he says: "The builder or the people who furnish materials or labor on a building today have thirty days to file a lien and secure their equity in the buildings after a general assignment has been made."

Relative to his remarks on the principle of the lien law being an old law handed down from the Phoenicians under the title of "Libel Laws," and that people engaged in ship-building or in the making of repairs to ships would not think of doing away with that law, I beg to say that I don't blame them, and with the meager knowledge I have of that law I think the people in our line—by that I mean the building interests—would come pretty near being satisfied if they had the same protection as ship-builders have.

There are any number of concerns in our city who make a business of furnishing information in relation to responsible parties engaged in the building business, and I hardly think there is a business man of any branch who does not make use of them, and who also gets very valuable information from your paper. But with all this, circumstances arise which compel him to grasp at the last straw, "the unequal lien law," as a last resort.

The secret of the trouble to a great extent lies in Mr. Deeves' last sentence, wherein he says:

"As the owner of a piece of property, no matter if he only has $100 invested in the land, can prevent the contractor, subcontractors or material dealers from removing their materials or the product of their labor from off the lot, while the merchant can replevin his goods."

I would like to know how or why the law compels us to consider this man or person, "who may only have $100 invested in the land," which (as the case very often is, may be sold to him at $5,000), the owner, and not the mortgagee, who sold him the land and by this simple transaction changes his proper name and is amply and preferably protected by the law, and his wealth increased by our material?

Why cannot the mortgagee be compelled to come in under his true name and title and come in with us on an equal basis, but not on an unequal basis?

Revision of Shipping Rates for Brick.

Mr. F. W. Donahoe, N. Y. State manager for Fiske & Company, has just returned from a trip embracing the face-brick manufacturing district of central and western Pennsylvania, and he finds the local opinion relative to the proposed advance in freight rates inclined to vary with the locality in which it is given. One manufacturer in Vanport states that it will be "equalized" only, and that the new rates on face brick from that section will be about the same to New York as they have been for several years, while some rates will be raised and others lowered to points which are intermediate. On the contrary, a list of freight rates issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from their Philadelphia office, from Ridgway, Pa., and Bigler, Pa., to various points in New York State, under date of Feb. 5, 1908, stated "these rates will be advanced on or about March 15," so the chances are in favor of a general advance on the date named. The convention of the National Brick Manufacturers' Association, held in Columbus, Ohio, last week, adopted strong resolutions in connection with this matter to be presented to the several division freight agents controlling traffic from Pennsylvania and Ohio to Eastern points, including New York City.

It would appear that nothing can be done at present with the famous "a brick is a brick" decision of that body, which compels the railroads to give a uniform freight rate on "Group A"—fire brick, fire clay, fire tile, etc.; "Group B"—building brick, chimney brick, common brick, salt glazed brick and fireproofing; and on "Group C"—paving brick.

Under the old tariff, "Group A" had to pay from 40 cents to 50 cents more a ton than the "Group B" commodities, while "Group C" ran about 10 cents a ton less. It may be that the railroads will lower the rate on "Group A" commodities somewhat and advance "Group B" and "Group C" material only slightly, to equalize. It is, however, unsafe to figure large contracts for face bricks to be delivered after March 15, 1908, until the new rates are effective.

Under the heading of brick rates many were led to believe that this increase would only pertain to the different kinds of brick, but the true meaning of this heading includes the following products: Asphalt, bituminous blocks and paving blocks, brick conduits, building brick, clay, cattle guards, common brick, common or crude clay or shale (shipped in bulk, not ground or prepared), common mud brick clay sleeves, clay stopper heads, clay tuyeres, face building block, face building brick, fire brick or fire blocks, fire clay, fireproofing, flue lining, furnace or tank blocks or brick, ground fire clay, hollow brick, salt glazed brick when shipped the same as pressed brick and brick not being packed, sand-lime brick, stone conduits, tile slabs, vitrified curbing.

THE REALM OF BUILDING.

An Important Change in the Building Trade.

An important change in the building trade has been announced this week. Mr. Theodore Starrett, the head of the Thompson-Starrett Co., has severed his connection with that corporation and has opened an office in the United States Express Building, No. 2 Rector st, where he will hereafter operate as adviser and consulting engineer in building construction and the management of construction operations.

This step may very well become epoch making, because the day has already arrived when a further evolution of the professional services connected with building construction is demanded by the facts of the case. Modern building has, in a sense, grown beyond the reach of both the architect and the builder. Indeed, we already see that our busier (if not our most successful) architects are to-day more than architects; and our most successful building concerns have gotten out of all relationship with the old type of builder. These facts are indicative of something. New necessities are at work. A further evolution of the building trade is demanded. Whether Mr. Starrett's move will really develop and crystallize these new requirements remains to be seen. He is certainly the man for the occasion, one who is splendidly equipped technically and by experience. He knows the game as probably few men in New York know it. His modest announcement hides, we are sure, bigger things. In the past, Mr. Starrett has had the trick of joining arms with Destiny at the right moment. The probabilities are (and his friends certainly wish) that his good luck will stick to him at this moment as steadfastly as ever.

The Fifth Avenue Hotel Site Project.

5TH AV.—A $6,500,000 loan was negotiated with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company this week for H. C. & H. L. Eno, the present owners of the "Fifth Avenue," who will soon erect a 16-sty office and store building fronting on the west side of Broadway and extending from 23d to 24th st. The size of the plot which the new building is to cover measures 197.6x260 ft., taking in the entire ground area of the present building and adjoining property on 24th st. The exterior will be of granite, light brick and limestone, with a slag roof and five buildings will be torn down. As announced in the Record and Guide issue Oct. 19, 1907, the building will cost approximately $2,000,000, according to the plans prepared and filed by the architects, Messrs. Maynicke & Franke, 298 5th av. Papers of incorporation were filed this week with the Secretary of State at Albany by a company known as "The Fifth Avenue Building Company," capitalized at $4,000,000. The directors and stockholders being Charles D. Miller, Walter E. Maynard and William Wadsworth. It is thought probable that the new company is identified with the Enos. Further details were previously announced in these columns. No building contracts have yet been placed.

Points on the Material Market.

Turpentine remains unchanged at 54½ cts. to dealers, who report a quiet market.

A conference of the Eastern manufacturers and shippers of lime will be held at the Hotel Astor next Wednesday.

A remarkable improvement in local mercantile lines has set in. New York is full of buyers for Western houses, but it must be said that they are looking for bargains.

Over three and a half million poles over twenty feet in length are used in the United States every year for carrying wires for telephone, telegraph, electric light and power systems, and for trolley and street railway lines. Cedar and chestnut furnish nine-tenths of the poles used. The average value per pole at the point of purchase was for cedar, $2.57, and for chestnut, $2.65.

Fiske & Co., Inc., have opened branch offices in Rochester and Schenectady, where they will enter into active competition for the face brick business of central New York. DeGraff, who is well known locally. In addition to the comprehensive line of face brick handled by the New York and Boston offices, the two New York State offices will carry the full line manufactured by the Kittanning Clay Products Co. and by the Tuna Valley Pressed Brick Co., of Bradford, Pa.

Trussed Roofs.

Bulletin No. 16 of the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois has just appeared. It briefly presents the results of several years' study of trussed roofs by N. Clifford Ricker, professor of architecture.

About fifty trusses of a selected type and of different proportions and arrangement were designed in long leaf pine and steel and changed until the assumed and actual weights of the trusses agreed. Other trusses were likewise designed in white pine and steel and a few entirely constructed of steel. To perform this work as conveniently and as rapidly and accurately as possible, it became necessary to devise simplified formulas and tables, with a systematic method of treatment, all of which are fully explained in the pamphlet.

The results illustrated are mostly shown in graphic tables for ready appreciation. The most important features are a new formula for the weights of trusses; per cent. of weight to be added for connections; most economical ratio of depth to span of truss; distance between trusses; number of purlins per panel; and dimensions of panels.

It was found that white pine and steel trusses are about 10 per cent. lighter than those of long leaf pine and steel; also, that if carefully designed, steel trusses from 100 to 200 ft. span have about the same weight as those of white pine and steel.

It is believed that this bulletin will be valuable and suggestive to all persons interested in the design and construction of trussed roofs. Copies may be obtained gratis upon application to the Director, Engineering Experiment Station, Urbana, Ill., Mr. L. P. Breckenridge.

Hydraulic White Cement.

Knickerbocker Imported White Portland Cement is a standard white cement of superior quality and possesses great strength, durability and uniformity. Its large sand-carrying capacity makes it very economical and it will withstand all atmospheric conditions. It is absolutely pure white, and stays white, but will blend easily with all colors, and the most delicates shades can be produced. It is an ideal cement for the imitation of white and colored marble, white or colored sandstone and limestone, for facing concrete construction, interior and exterior ornamental decoration, floors, mosaic work and architectural stonework. It is absolutely waterproof and its quick-setting quality enables it to be cast in gelatin moulds. The sole agent for this cement is C. Volney King, 517 West st, New York City.

New Catalogues.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY WINDOW.—This catalogue describes a window that is raised and lowered like an ordinary window and is the same in appearance. For washing, both sashes are swung inside without the removal of any part of the frame, hence nothing to adjust or get out of order. Swinging the window open does not interfere with curtains, screens, blinds or storm sash. They are manufactured of either wood or metal, their simple construction reduces friction, making them much easier to operate than ordinary windows. Moreover, they are dustproof, also proof against a hard driving rain or sifting snow storm. Window washing vexation and loss of life are entirely eliminated. The New York offices of the 20th Century Company are at 225 5th av.

DIRECT CURRENT MOTOR STARTING DEVICES.—Reliable and efficient starting devices are necessary for the satisfactory operation of all motor installations. In Bulletin No. 4559 the General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y., describes lines of motor starting rheostats and panels for direct current.

The rheostats contain an improved enclosed type resistance unit consisting of a low temperature coefficient resistance wire wound on a strong tube that is not brittle. The unit is treated with a special compound which forms a coating both inside and out, making a strong and solid construction and is thoroughly baked before being placed in the rheostat. Rheostats with no-voltage release and those with both no-voltage and overload release are illustrated and described, as well as rheostats for starting reversible shunt or compound wound constant speed motors. In order to facilitate the installation of motor starting devices the General Electric Co. has perfected a line of motor starting panels in which there is no multiplicity of the terminals to give trouble from bad or incorrect connections; space, labor and time are saved; maintenance is reduced and satisfactory operation, immediate and permanent, is obtained. The Bulletin shows a variety of these panels in which different types of starting rheostats are used, the rheostat being combined with a line switch and fuses, or with a double-pole circuit breaker. Dimension diagrams for the different capacities of rheostats and panels are included.

The Week.

The week just past from a private sales standpoint was most inactive. While at best there were only few sales completed, the holiday seemed to have taken the heart out of the trading. To be sure, there was one business day less during the week, and, all told, an important day. Naturally there are more sales reported toward the latter part of the week. When anything however slight interferes with the natural order of the market in unsettled times, the usual result is a setback.

The sales put through were ordinary. There were no deals of great importance. The customary run of tenements and dwellings was reported, only not in the usual numbers. The section north of 59th st has figured in several large deals during the past few weeks, as has Washington Heights. This week the trading was in the cheaper parcels.

The southeast corner of Houston and Columbia sts, which was to have been put up at auction, was withdrawn and sold at private sale. The city purchased 129 and 131 Madison st for the bridge approach. These houses occupy a plot 50x100. A 3-sty dwelling 142 West 11th st, 22.6x108.9, changed hands. The southeast corner of Bond and Elm sts was purchased by the Industrial Christian Alliance. It is going to be improved with a workhouse and home for the society, and will be used for the unemployed, who are willing to work rather than accept charity. Dr. Harvey Furboy, who is connected with the society, said: "It will not be a mere lodging-house, but a workshop as well, and he who does not work shall not eat. The home will therefore not appeal to the professional vagrant. This should be a self-sustaining charity through the profits accruing from furniture repairing. No man who enters his name need feel any humiliation, as he may be sure he will be earning his food and lodging."

The number of mortgages recorded were not so many as last week. This is almost universally the rule for the second week of any month. The Improved Property Holding Co., however, gave a mortgage to Eliza L. Parsons et al as trustees for William B. Parsons of $250,000 at 5 per cent., due Jan. 1, 1929. This mortgage is in the form of a building loan and is on the property 505 5th av, 37x108. This building is the old Parsons residence. The Germania Life Insurance Co. loaned the New York Cab Co. $150,000, due date and rate as per bond, on the property 252 to 262 West 40th st, 122.6x98.6. Harris Friedman secured a loan of $84,000 from Jennie W. Schiffer et al, executors of Walter A. Schiffer, on two lots on the south side of 122d st, 241.8 ft. east of Broadway, 41.8x90.11 each. This mortgage runs for five years and is at the rate of 5½ per cent.

An important lease was consummated in the hardware district. Patterson, Gottfried & Hunter, Limited, wholesale hardware dealers, rented 211 to 215 Centre st, extending through the block to 147 to 151 Lafayette st. The lease is for more than thirty years.

The total number of mortgages recorded for Manhattan this week was 118, as against 185 last week, and in the Bronx 88, as against 120 last week. The total amount involved is $2,398,154, as against $3,775,649 last week.

The total number of sales reported is 39, of which 8 were below 59th st, 10 above, and 21 in the Bronx. The sales reported for the corresponding week last year were 120, of which 49 were below 59th st, 44 above, and 27 in the Bronx.

THE AUCTION MARKET

The auction market of the week just past was a sorry spectacle. The only house that went to an outsider was withdrawn and sold at private sale. This property was to have been put up by Joseph P. Day on Monday last. It is a 6-sty tenement, with store, 144 to 150 Columbia st, 75x50. It is situated on the southeast corner of Houston st. The results of the other offerings read "To the Plaintiff," "Defendant," "Adjourned," "Withdrawn" or "No bid."

At the stand of Joseph P. Day on Monday 262 West 99th st, located 80 ft. west of West End av, a 3-sty clubhouse, 20x100.11, was knocked down to the plaintiff for $21,400. The amount due was $3,265.47; taxes and other charges, $394.59. The principal offering of the week was the four 6-sty tenements 506 to 512 East 70th st. These houses are 175 ft. east of Av A, and occupy a plot 148x100.4. The amount due was $26,704.18; taxes and other charges, $1,800. The plaintiff is the present owner and $184,314 was the price paid. The 6-sty tenement 331 East 105th st, 30x100.11, went to the plaintiff for $34,000. The amount due on this house was $5,766.51; taxes and other charges, $666.15.

At the stand of Joseph P. Day on Tuesday 316 East 72d st, a 3-sty dwelling, 16.8x102.2, went also to the plaintiff. The amount due was $3,314.82; taxes and other charges, $157.49, subject to a prior mortgage of $8,000. The amount paid for this dwelling was $10,000.

The two 5-sty tenements 550 and 552 West 146th st, 75x99.11, which were to have been sold at sheriff's sale, were withdrawn.

The leasehold property 144 West 79th st, 100 ft. west of Columbus av, a 4-sty dwelling, did not receive a bid. The amount due was $1,829.12. The only sale on Thursday was a vacant plot on Tinton av, 75x94.2x irreg., which went to the defendants for $6,000.

The fact has been amply demonstrated that the present time is not propitious for sales of realty at auction. The main trouble, of course, is in the placing of loans. Values are still there. Unless a good-sized mortgage is allowed to remain on bond and mortgage the buying public is not eager to purchase. In cases where a generous mortgage is allowed to remain, at a fair rate of interest, good prices have been the rule.

The amount involved in the auction sales up to Thursday night was $293,873, and since January 1, $7,118,241. Last year the total for the week was $952,391, and from January 1, $4,032,179.

Board of Brokers Annual Dinner.

N the evening of the twenty-seventh of February, in the grand ballroom in the Waldorf-Astoria, the Real Estate Board of Brokers will give their twelfth annual dinner. Many features of importance have been planned and there is no doubt but that this dinner will surpass in every respect any previous one that the board has given. This will be an occasion of general celebration, but special stress is laid on the majority report of the Torrens Commission sent to Albany. To show their approval, the dinner committee issued the following invitation:

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

To You and Your Guests:

Greeting—We command you, that all business and excuses being laid aside, you and each of you appear and attend before a commission of diners on the 27th day of February, 1908, at 7.00 o'clock, in the afternoon, to testify and give evidence in certain matters then pending in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria, situated at 5th avenue and 34th street, New York City, between the Dinner Committee of the Real Estate Board of Brokers, plaintiffs, and yourself and guests, defendants.

For a failure to attend you will be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and liable to pay all damages sustained thereby by the party aggrieved, and forfeit one good time in addition thereto.

(Signed) JOSEPH P. DAY,
Attorney for Dinner Committee.

After the acceptance of the invitation has been received a card is mailed, appointing the guest a member of the commission.

An elaborate menu has been prepared, which is in book form. There are many surprises inside its covers. It would not be fair to divulge them at this time. A number of souvenirs have been prepared. For instance, to commemorate the largest realty undertaking of the year the Ice cream will be served in a miniature form of the Singer Building. The room is to be laid out representing the Senate Chamber. Every seat faces the rostrum, from which the speakers will address the diners. Among those who have promised to speak are Senator Alfred R. Page, who will represent the State; President McGowan, who will represent the city; Senator J. P. Cohalan, who will represent the Bronx; Mr. Gage E. Tarbell, who will represent Long Island; Mr. Guy Dempsey, who will represent Staten Island; and William G. McAdoo, who will represent New Jersey. It is expected that at least three hundred and fifty people will attend.

Obituary.

ALLEN L. MORDECAI.

The Record and Guide must record with sincere regret the death of Allen L. Mordecai, senior member of the firm of A. L. Mordecai & Son, real estate, No. 135 Broadway, who died at his residence, No 1 West 92d st, on the 8th inst., after a prolonged illness. Mr. Mordecai had been actively engaged in the real estate business in this city since 1868, and the real estate community feels that in him it has lost one of the most honorable and representative men engaged in the business.

Born in the city of Columbia, S. C., in 1841, Mr. Mordecai came of a family prominent in the ante-bellum history of his state, and particularly active in the part taken by South Carolina in the Civil War. His father, the late Benjamin Mordecai, headed the petition asking South Carolina to secede from the Union, and contributed largely to the Confederacy. During the war Mr. A. L. Mordecai served in the Washington Artillery of Charleston, and at its close, in 1865, came to New York to become interested in the manufacture of soaps and perfumes.

In 1868 he established a real estate business, associated with V. K. Stevenson, the elder, and after a few years formed the co-partnership of Mordecai & Bellamy. In 1886 this firm dissolved and the firm of A. L. Mordecai & Son was established. In 1905 the firm incorporated under the same name, Mr. Mordecai being its president until his death. He was for years identified with the old Real Estate Exchange, at No. 59 Liberty st, and later through his son, Benjamin Mordecai, the firm became members of the Real Estate Board of Brokers. When the Allied Real Estate Interests in the State of New York was formed, Mr. Mordecai was made a director, resigning shortly before his death, as he also did the directorship in the Commonwealth Insurance Company.

He was interested in a number of real estate corporations: The Kips Bay Realty Co., of which he was president; the Realty Mortgage Co., of which he was also president; the Longacre Realty Co., and the Allenel Construction Co., in both of which he was an officer and director. Mr. Mordecai had been for years identified with the building loan and mortgage loan business; in fact he was one of the first to evolve the system of making building loans, now in general use. The builders of the Osborn, 57th st and 7th av, and the Rutland, almost opposite, both 12-sty apartment houses and almost the first of their kind in this city, were enabled with his assistance to finance their undertakings which for those days were ones of great magnitude. From that time Mr. Mordecal, through many of the large lending institutions and through his own companies, financed some of the most prominent buildings—dwellings, business, apartment houses and hotels in this city. Mr. Mordecai was a great believer in the future of the West Side, and his ability to enthuse others was the means of the building of block after block of the fine private residences in the West 70's, 80's and 90's, which characterized the building movement on the West Side fifteen years ago. Such men as Francis Crawford, John Casey & Son, Charles J. MacDonald, William Picken & Sons, Dore Lyon and George W. Hamilton, were all his customers, guided by his advice in the selection of their sites for improvement and depending on him to finance the hundreds of fine dwellings which they erected. When apartment houses became popular, Mr. Mordecai transferred his efforts to the lower sections of Harlem, where to-day the beautiful driveways in Morningside, 7th and Lenox avs, bear testimony to the enterprise of the builders, and the large operations which block after block may be traced back as having been financed through his efforts. When the apartment hotels became the vogue, A. L. Mordecai & Son again became leaders in this form of speculative enterprise, and through the Longacre Realty Co. and the many institutions and money lenders who had confidence in their judgment, some of the largest apartment hotels in this section were erected; notable among these may be mentioned the Webster, the Iroquois, the St. James, the Hotel Lexington, the Longacre Hotel, the Somerset and the Manhattan Square Hotel in 77th st, and many smaller ones in this and other localities; and within the last few years the block front 12-stys high, on Central Park West, 85th-86th sts, and a large number of the finest apartment houses on Riverside Drive—all constructed by men and companies who obtained the necessary financial assistance through Mr. Mordecai's office.

To his exceptional ability a large measure of his success was due; but his unusual character and strong personality explains even more eloquently why his influence among men was so marked. His optimism was so strongly tempered by his extreme conservatism, and his desire to earn commissions and tempt others to make investments was so controlled by his exactness of statement, candor and intelligent comment, that his clients rarely or never had reason to regret following his advice. But above all, with him integrity and fair dealing were the watchwords that guided him for the entire forty years of his career, and this in a business profession the members of which have been so often criticised, stamps his record as one which the entire real estate community may point to with pride.

At his funeral were many men prominent not only in his profession, but in all walks of life, and their presence bore testimony to the respect, affection and esteem in which he was held by all who knew him.

In 1865 Mr. Mordecai married Kate Marks, of New Orleans, La., who survives him, together with their three children, Benjamin Mordecai, Robert E. Lee Mordecai and Mrs. S. Harby Plough.

New York, Feb. 13, 1908.

RESOLUTIONS BY THE BOARD OF BROKERS.

Extracts from minutes of meeting of the Board of Governors of the New York Real Estate Board of Brokers, held Tuesday, Feb. 11, 1908:

On motion the following preamble and resolutions were passed:

"Whereas, It is our sad duty to record the death of Allen L. Mordecai; be it

Resolved, That the Real Estate Board of Brokers recognize in the business life of Allen L. Mordecai a leader in thought and action, a man of principle and integrity, justly esteemed for his high character and devotion to duty; and be it further

Resolved, That we tender to Benjamin Mordecai, the present board member of the firm of A. L. Mordecai & Son, our acknowledgment that in the death of his father the fraternity of Real Estate Brokers have suffered a loss that cannot be replaced, and that we grieve with him over a lifelong separation from one with whom it was an honor to have been associated; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mr. Benjamin Mordecai, and a copy to the Record and Guide.

DAVID A. CLARKSON, President.

EDWARD L. KING, Secretary.

FRANCIS W. SEAGRIST, JR.

One of the men longest in the business of house wrecking and dealing in second-hand building material, Mr. Francis W. Seagrist, Jr., died in his residence, 17 Livingston pl, on Feb. 12, after a brief illness. He was a veteran of the Seventh Regiment and also belonged to the Building Trades Club and the Mechanics' and Traders' Institute. His widow and three sons survive. The firm of F. W. Seagrist, Jr., Co. is one of the largest in the trade, and the late Mr. Seagrist was widely known and esteemed. The business will be continued as before Mr. Seagrist's demise, at 18th st and Av B.

HENRY G. VAN NORDEN.

News of the death of Henry G. Van Norden, which occurred suddenly on Wednesday evening, Feb. 12, at the family residence of the deceased in Manhattan, was heard with great regret among real estate circles, in which Mr. Van Norden was well known and had many friends. For two years prior to his death, Mr. Van Norden was head of the sales agency force at the central offices of the McCormack Real Estate Company, and to his energy and ability the officers of the McCormack Company feel they owe in no small measure the great success of their enterprises in the field of Long Island suburban development. Mr. Van Norden had been actively engaged in the real estate business for twenty-five years, the latter half of which time he devoted entirely to the Long Island market, in all the details of which he was an acknowledged expert. His great and peculiar abilities as a real estate salesman, and his unusually wide acquaintance, are demonstrated by the fact that of the transactions of the McCormack Company during the year just passed sales to the extent of $1,250,000 were due directly to the efforts of Mr. Van Norden and his personally directed agency force. Among his business associates Mr. Van Norden was known as a man of integrity and unswerving loyalty.

Amendment for the Real Property Law.

MEASURE INTRODUCED BY SENATOR SAXE WOULD MAKE A GREAT CHANGE IN REAL ESTATE AFFAIRS.

There seems to be considerable diversity of opinion among the leading real estate men of the city as to what would be the ultimate result of the bill introduced by Senator Saxe, adding a section to the Real Property Law to be numbered 241-a. This section is designed to secure a statement of the true consideration for transfers of real estate.

President Lawson Purdy, of the Department of Taxes and Assessments, at whose request the bill was introduced, said:

"During the last twenty-five years the practice of inserting a nominal consideration in deeds has become so universal that only about one deed in twenty contains the actual consideration for transfer. This custom conceals 95 per cent. of the best evidence of the value of real property; it operates to the detriment of the business of real estate brokerage, by causing a well grounded fear on the part of investors that they will be deceived as to the value of real estate. Any practice which checks the diffusion of real estate ownership is a detriment to the community.

"The proposed bill," continued Mr. Purdy, "has been carefully prepared to secure the largest results with the least inconvenience and without danger to the interests of buyers and sellers of real property. The bill provides three alternatives:

"First—The grantor may make an affidavit in the deed, after the acknowledgment, setting forth the true consideration for the transfer.

"Second—In lieu of the affidavit in the deed, either the grantor or the grantee may make an affidavit and file it with the Tax Department for the exclusive use of the Tax Department.

"Third—If neither of the affidavits is made, the Tax Department may require the attendance of either the grantor or the grantee to submit to an examination under oath as to the consideration; penalty for non-attendance or refusal to testify is $25 a day, but not exceeding in the aggregate $200 to any one person.

"The concealment of the actual prices paid for real estate deprives the Tax Department of the best evidence of value, and it is impossible to assess property with the fairness and accuracy which would be comparatively easy if all the considerations for transfers were known. Ignorance of true considerations among the most expert real estate appraisers leads to such a variance in their testimony in both certiorari and condemnation proceedings that assessments for taxation are often unduly reduced, and the city is forced to pay more than its value for property acquired by purchase or condemnation."

MR. DOWLING IN FAVOR.

Mr. Robert E. Dowling, president of the City Investing Co., said: "As I have already told Mr. Lawson Purdy, president of the Board of Tax Commissioners, I am heartily in favor of the proposed legislation compelling the furnishing to the Tax Department of the true consideration in conveyances. I believe that the adoption of such a measure would insure more intelligent work on the part of the assessors and bring about a fairer distribution of the burden of taxation. It has always been my theory that there is no reason why the selling price of real estate should be kept any more secret than the selling price of personal property, such as stocks or bonds."

C. S. BROWN SAYS IT WOULD BE HELPFUL.

Charles S. Brown, of Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown & Co., said: "It will be helpful to the city at large, and consequently to all hands. The assessors are unable at present to get much information regarding sales, however diligently they may try to do so. For that reason it seems to be the opinion of most people that there is an inconsistency in assessments. If the city authorities are able to know real prices which property brings they will be able to assess property in a much more scientific manner. That will be a benefit to the mass of the people."

NO INJUSTICE.

Mr. John L. Parish, of Parish, Fisher & Co., said: "My opinion of Commissioner Purdy's bill is entirely favorable. It will work injustice to none, and it will secure to thousands what they never have had, viz., equality of taxation. Instead of operating injuriously to real estate trading it will, in my opinion, encourage investments all along the line."

OPPOSITE VIEWS.

Mr. Edward L. King, of Edward L. King & Co., when asked his opinion said: "In reference to this bill of Mr. Purdy's, Mr. Purdy is empowered to employ competent men and has men in his office who are competent to appraise real estate. Real estate to-day carries the main burden of taxation and is the only tangible thing that can be found on which to pin taxes. If this bill becomes a law there would be many subterfuges used by owners to put fictitious values either above or below actual values of property in order to evade it. It is asking a man in business to open his books and to tell his personal and private affairs to the public at large. If the men in the Tax Office feel that they are not qualified to make the proper assessments of property, the Real Estate Board of Brokers have an appraisal committee composed of the most prominent and experienced brokers in this city and the services of this committee are always at the disposal of the city officials."

Mr. D. J. Phillips, of L. J. Phillips & Co., is of the opinion that the law is very unjust: "A man owning realty should be in the same position as one owning personal property. He should have the right to dispose of it for whatever consideration he chooses. There is no reason that anybody but himself and the purchaser should be apprised of the price paid. If the Tax Department employs competent assessors there is no reason that they should not be able to get at true values. This, as far as I can see, would be the only reason for the passage of the law under consideration."

A prominent member of the Board of Real Estate Brokers, who, when asked by a representative of the Record and Guide for his views on this question, said:

"The object which is achieved could be reached with less expense by a careful record being kept of all mortgages filed. In that way the amount the loaning institution believe a fair price that the property is worth may be obtained. The fine of $200 is too small an item, compared with real estate values. This would not hinder a man from giving the real consideration, should he desire to withhold it."

Byron L. Kennelly's opinion of the measure is that while the true consideration might be of great assistance to appraisers and to the Tax Department, still it has its drawbacks. "I do not see how it is going to affect trades wherein values are very often inflated on both sides," said Mr. Kennelly.

Mr. Irving Ruland, of Ruland & Whiting, thought that broadly speaking it would be a good thing. "Of course," said Mr. Ruland, "brokers may occasionally be injured by the measure, but on the whole it is an admirable idea. It will mean a fair tax valuation. At times property is unevenly assessed. Sometimes less than its value, sometimes for a greater amount. This bill ought, in a great measure, to obviate this inequality."

BROOKLYN OPINIONS.

"From a broker's standpoint I am unutterably opposed to any bill which is likely to hinder the business of the real estate brokerage fraternity," said Mr. Wm. P. Rae, president of the Wm. P. Rae Company, of 180 Montague st. "I believe that if such a measure were to become a law the services of the real estate broker would gradually grow less valuable to the buyer, and his field of usefulness as an appraiser would likewise be injured.

"There is little to be gained in attempting to compel the grantor or grantee to make known the true consideration in the sale of real property, and I'll venture the prediction that if the proposed provision becomes operative there will be no end of false affidavits. What a person pays or receives for a parcel of realty should remain private at his or her option, and no legislative act should deprive one of a recognized right in this respect. Such a law as suggested would no doubt be a convenience to the Tax Department but of no real benefit to the broker, investor or operator."

Frank H. Tyler, of 1183 Fulton st, voices the sentiment of the brokers in the Bedford and Stuyvesant sections when he says: "Personally, I am very much opposed to the bill now before the Legislature in regard to compelling owners of property to specify in their deeds by affidavit the actual consideration received for their property. I am equally opposed to any owner being compelled to go before the Tax Commissioners and file an affidavit along the same lines. From a layman's standpoint I would consider such a matter unconstitutional and opposing the rights of a citizen and property owner to the privacy which he should be entitled to in his business relations. If the public at large and Tax Commissioner desire any information as to the actual value of real estate, it can be readily procured from any of the numerous competent real estate experts who make such a business their means of livelihood. I have often wondered how the city could ever expect to procure high grade, qualified real estate experts to value properties for the purposes of taxation at any such paltry salary as $3,500 a year. I trust every real estate broker and every property owner will oppose such legislation and that the bill may be killed and buried when it comes to a vote."

THE ACT.

The text of the Saxe bill follows:

Section 1. Chapter five hundred and forty-seven of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-six, entitled "An act relating to real property, constituting chapter forty-six of the general laws" is hereby amended by adding to article eight, after section two hundred and forty-one, a new section to be known as section two hundred and forty-one-a.

Sec. 241-a. Torrens System Versus Mortgages.

VIEWS OF ONE OF THE MINORITY MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE THE TORRENS SYSTEM OF LAND REGISTRATION.

Mr. Allan Robinson, who was one of the commission appointed by Governor Hughes to investigate the Torrens system of land registration, has sent a special minority report to the Governor. Mr. Robinson also joined the other gentlemen of the minority in the report that was sent in by them.

An idea of what Mr. Robinson's opinion is, based on the information obtained from these and other sources, may be had by reading the following excerpts from the report sent by him to Governor Hughes.

The legal and technical objections to the adoption in New York of a system of land registration are fully discussed in the report submitted by the the minority members of this commission. There is a phase of the matter, however, which has received little attention, and, as in my opinion, it is the key to the situation, I believe it should be made the subject of a separate report. I refer to the attitude of practical business men toward land registration. With a view to ascertaining what business men in Chicago thought of land registration in that city, the undersigned communicated with all the members of the Chicago Real Estate Board, asking each to state his attitude toward that system. Of the 145 active members of the board, 123 replied, 69 of whom favored the system, 35 opposed it, and 19 were doubtful. Of the 131 associate members, 81 replied, of whom 34 opposed the system, 25 favored it, and 22 were doubtful. Of the five members of the Board of Directors of the organization, three were opposed to the system and two favored it.

It is also plain that it has not commended itself to conservative dealers in real estate or to lenders of money. As a matter of fact, the value of the real estate registered in Chicago amounts to less than ten million dollars altogether.

One of the reasons which to my mind accounts for the failure of land registration in Chicago would apply with even greater force in New York. This is the attitude of lenders of money toward registered titles. In the first place, mortgagees, even though they might be willing to loan upon such titles, would do so only after examination of the prior title. Where the range of possible investments is limited, investors are not over-cautious as to their security. Thus, frequently in rural communities mortgages are negotiated with little or no formality and a mere perfunctory examination of title is made. On the other hand, where investors have a wide market and may pick and choose their investments, as in larger centres of population, greater care is exercised in closing transactions and the security is more carefully scrutinized. In the two largest cities of the United States—New York and Chicago—many lenders are not satisfied with the security of the land alone,

Do You Understand The Checking Index ?

EXPLANATION

Your list of owners of Manhattan Realty requires constant posting to be kept up to date. The Checking Index is cumulative and does away with this entirely. If you want to know who owns a piece of property, go to your LAST Index. If transferred, you will find the reference to the Transfer Sheet and Record and Guide in which the transaction is reported. Also the street number and lot and block number. If not given in the LAST Index, your owners' list is correct. Thus your records are automatically kept up to date, and the danger of an office boy's mistakes is eliminated.

SIMPLE—ISN'T IT ?

And works equally well with all forms of service, street number or block and lot number.

but demand the additional security of a policy of title insurance.

Under our constitutional requirements indefeasibility cannot be given to a registered title. Such a title is good only as against those persons who have been brought into the proceeding by proper service of notice. This means that the question of proper service is one that is likely to be raised in any case of registration. The majority members of this commission have drawn a proposed legislative bill embodying a land registration system. The conscientiousness with which they have endeavored to meet every objection and provide a method of service to cover every possible case likely to arise indicates the real task which confronts the advocates of land registration. There are so many loopholes and so many opportunities for mistake, that it is impossible to conceive of a cautious money lender who would be willing to assume that all of the provisions of such a statute had been complied with so as to render unnecessary a further examination to ascertain if such were the fact. Mortgagees are educated here to the exercise of the greatest caution, and so long as they have abundant opportunities for investment they will not risk their money on registered titles without taking every percaution within their power.

If re-examination of title is necessary, the system falls to the ground. Its merit lies in its simplicity and in its inexpensiveness, and in countries governed without written constitutions it affords real relief to owners of real estate. Registration here gives only presumptive title and owners will still be subject to the expenses and delays of re-examination.

If lenders of money refuse to loan on registered property, owners will not register. One of the most intelligent presentations made to the commission of the merits of land registration was from a Brooklyn lawyer, who stated at one of the public hearings that such a system could be made successful in the United States only by making it mandatory. It is conceivable that the Legislature might enact a law compelling real estate owners to register their property, but it is difficult to see how any law could be enacted which would compel investors to loan money on such property if they did not desire to do so.

Schmeidler & Bachrach, real estate operators of 203 Broadway, are in the market for improved and unimproved properties in Manhattan and Bronx boroughs and request brokers to send offerings to them. They will also mail on application their list of holdings, which is a large and varied one, to those in the market.

Frederick Winant sold his interest in the real estate corporation of Douglas Robinson to Charles S. Brown & Co. He has resigned as second vice-president of that company. He is, however, going to remain in the real estate business and will open shortly an office in the Plaza Bank Building, 5th av and 58th st.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Morris & Essex Realty Company, just held, the report of the treasurer showed resources of $66,152.16, with liabilities, other than stock, of $47,015.14. This company has just completed ten 2-family houses at East Orange, N. J., designed and financed along original lines.

As the time is drawing near for the fourth annual dinner of the Board of Brokers of Jersey City and Vicinity much interest is being manifested in it. The speakers are carefully preparing their impromptu speeches, and several novelties are promised. It certainly will be a memorable occasion, and promises to surpass any previous banquet held by this association.

The alumni of six New England colleges, Williams, Amherst, Brown, Dartmouth, Wesleyan and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, have secured an option on the property 48 and 50 West 54th st. A building loan for $250,000 was recorded by William Barclay Parsons and others to the Improved Property Holding Co. on the plot on the east side of 5th av, 27.5 ft. north of 42d st. This plot was the site of the former Parsons mansion. It is 37x108. On the north is the Columbia Bank Building and the new public library is almost diagonally opposite. The Improved Property Holding Co. pay an annual rental of $40,000.

Square Block Sold by Estate.

The block square bounded by Amsterdam av, Broadway, 86th and 87th sts, was transferred by Rosina E. Hoyt et al to Peter J. Shields for a nominal consideration, subject to a mortgage for $140,000. This property was immediately re-transferred by Mr. Shields to the Broadway and 86th St. Co. The dimensions of this plot are 201.5 on Amsterdam av, 328.10 on 87th st x 218.3 on Broadway x 343 on 86th st. There are no improvements on this plot. The officers of the purchasing company are Willard H. Barse, president; John R. Todd, secretary; Henry C. Irons, treasurer.

Active Demand for Small Mortgages.

Regarding the present mortgage situation, the Title Guarantee & Trust Company statement is as follows: "The number of mortgages recorded in the New York Register's office this week is 305, as compared to 236 last week. The amount is about $3,800,000, as compared with $2,500,000 last week. The amount of business on Long Island is substantially the same as last week, although there is a slight increase. Our sales of Brooklyn mortgages have shown up much better this week than last, but our New York City sales have not been quite so good. There continues to be an active demand for small mortgages but the larger amounts do not seem to be obtainable."

PROPERTY OWNERS' SECTION.

Bronx Interests Urge Subway Start.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE.

The real estate interests of the Bronx urgently petition for fair treatment in dealing out subway facilities. They want the millions of city money now lying on deposit used to start work with in three boroughs this spring. They assert that the cry that the city has no money to build subways is raised in the interest of private capitalists. The views and opinions of the Association of Bronx Real Estate Brokers are expressed through a committee, of which Mr. Edward Polak is chairman, in an open letter to the Board of Estimate, as follows:

Gentlemen:

The so-called tri-borough subway route laid out by the old Rapid Transit Board for which the City of New York spent over a million dollars for engineering, surveys, etc., and which the commissioners who were appointed by the Supreme Court approved and for which bids were advertised by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment December 7, 1906, has been approved with some slight modifications by the Public Service Commission of the First District, New York. It now remains for your honorable body to approve this route and appropriate the money for its construction, and to let out the contracts. The work can be started in the three boroughs early this spring if you act promptly.

The city has sold thirty million dollars' worth of bonds. The money is now lying on deposit in the First National Bank and in the National City Bank. The report of the president of the Tax Board shows that the increased assessed valuation of real estate in Greater New York is $472,000,000 for the year 1908, ten per cent. of this is $47,000,000, which will be available in a few months. There is now a margin of $36,000,000 over and above the debt limit, making a grand total of $113,000,000 of a borrowing capacity.

There will be a bond sale Friday, Feb. 14, 1908. The newspapers report that the bonds are practically all subscribed for.

As the subways will cost but $67,000,000, it is evident that the city's finances are ample to construct subways without amending laws, waiting for a constitutional amendment, or entreating capitalists to take the valuable franchises at their own terms. The city's borrowing capacity will be increased next year by reason of the increased valuation of its real estate, estimated at $50,000,000, and perhaps the city will collect soon some of the many millions of dollars for franchise taxes which the traction companies now owe the city and which the city has not yet collected.

It has been pointed out before that the entire cost of subway construction need not be charged up against the city's resources for any one year. The amount should only be charged each year against the city's borrowing capacity as the money is used.

If money matters are as bad as is declared, then let the Board of Estimate and Apportionment appropriate money in advance of its being required, as they have done before for other improvements. But this is not necessary, as the city has ample means at its disposal.

The cry of the debt limit was not raised on Dec. 6, 1906, when the Board of Estimate passed resolutions to construct the great subway routes. Why raise the cry now? The city is as well off now as it was then.

The cry that the city has no money to build subways is made solely in the interest of private capitalists who want to drive the city into parting with its valuable franchises at a ridiculously low price. The cry of amending the Elsberg law is in harmony with the debt-limit cry. The plan is to give a long lease and to permit the contractors to bid for construction and operation at one and the same time. This will narrow the bidding down to the present traction interests, as only those having a very large amount of capital and experience in subway building can afford to bid. If bids for construction alone were accepted, and the route broken up in small sections, many small contractors would bid and competition would fix the lowest price, the city would award the contracts to the lowest bidder and the subway would be built much quicker.

After the subway is constructed any number of experienced railroad men would bid for operation, as it would not need as much capital to operate the road as it would to construct it. The city could then select the most profitable bids from responsible parties to operate the subway.

Under the Elsberg law, the city can operate the subways itself if necessary. With this alternative staring them in the face, the bidders for operation would give their highest bid and the city would receive the full value of its franchise.

Mr. Metz does not approve of building subways in Manhattan and in the Bronx, but he purposes to spend $15,000,000 for docks in Brooklyn. He also purposes to spend $23,000,000 in Brooklyn for what must eventually be nothing more than a branch to the existing subway routes. There seems to be a studied effort on his part to compel the city to accept private capital to build subways. He is doing all he can to exhaust the city's resources, advocating the spending of money on things which are unimportant compared with subways. He tells us boldly, "I am opposed to the city building subways. Those routes ought to be built by private capital." This shows very plainly why Mr. Metz cannot see money in the city's treasury for subways. Does Mr. Metz remember that the citizens by a referendum vote of over 70,000 in 1904 voted for municipal construction of subways? Is Mr. Metz going to fly in the face of the expressed will of the people?

Mr. Metz says if docks are not built, Brooklyn will lose business. He even cites his own case where he had to remove two factories on account of lack of dockage. Does Mr. Metz realize the fearful loss each day to business men and workingmen on account of the poor transit facilities in Manhattan and in the Bronx? Who can compute what the loss entails? Who can figure the amount of human suffering and misery, the disease and death caused by overcrowding and lack of proper transit facilities? Does Mr. Metz realize that our population is increasing at a terrific rate and that our transit facilities are not increasing at all? And yet Mr. Metz says we need docks more than we need subways. Why, any child who has ridden only once in a subway train knows better than that, and Mr. Metz knows better, too. It may be good politics for Mr. Metz to cater to Brooklyn at the expense of Manhattan and the Bronx, but Mr. Metz violates his oath of office when he discriminates in favor of any section of the city.

The people not only need the proposed subways, but could use many more subways in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Ex-Mayor Thomas A. Osborne, of Auburn, N. Y., now a member of the Public Service Commission of the Second Department, New York, in an address before the City Club Jan. 31, 1908, among other things said:

A Common Council or a Legislature may barter away any present rights, yours or mine, for to-day. But the future is not theirs to give. They may not dispose of rights which belong to our children as much as to us, and to the children and their children's children after them. They may allow private development and management for the sake of immediate public advantage, but the franchise itself is something which may not be given away because it is not within the province of the Legislature to give away that which does not belong to the existing community.

A franchise granted by the Legislature of fifty years ago belongs to us to-day quite as much, if not more than to our grandfathers, who handed it over to some railroad in perpetuity. It belongs to us now, as it will belong to our grandchildren in their turn. The action of the Legislature of two generations ago in giving away our birthright is not morally a binding contract upon us to-day when it comes in conflict with present or future public interest and the vested rights of the private inheritors of that franchise will not stand when they come in conflict with the vested rights of the whole people of the State of New York.

This may not be good law now, but it will be in a very short time, for the public perception has grown swiftly. And the courts of law are never behind public opinion. Some legal way will always be found sooner or later to do what is morally right.

The people are becoming more and more determined to preserve as much as they can of the public property for public use. They watch with an eye of suspicion any public official who is willing to sacrifice the public's property to private interests. They want their officials to be solicitous as to what return the people will get for their property. Monopoly can take care of itself, it needs no public official to take care of it. They have their paid attorneys who see that they get all that is coming to them. If your honorable body does not appropriate money for subways now an indignant public will hold you responsible and will want to know the reason why.

It now remains to be seen whether the Board of Estimate and Apportionment will block the mandate of the people as expressed in their referendum vote of 1904 by refusing to appropriate enough money to at least begin the subways, in the three boroughs, or whether it will do its duty as the representative of the people and acquiesce to the people's proper and just demands.

Yours truly,

EDWARD POLAK.
(Chairman, Rapid Transit Committee.)

Improve Your Vacant Holdings Now.

Conditions were perhaps never before more favorable to the economical construction of buildings than at the present time. Immediately preceding the money panic in 1907 not only were materials costly but wages were at the highest point ever reached, and it may be said with no uncertain degree of assurance that the amount of work executed in a day was the lowest in many years. Moreover, labor was exasperatingly independent with the result that the cost of building was increased anywhere from twenty per cent. to sixty per cent. But the money stringency has wrought a great change in the situation; manufacturers and material men are no longer stiff in their prices, and are known to be granting attractive concessions in order to move their stock, and although wages have suffered but slight reduction, if any, those who are anxious to retain their positions are rendering infinitely better service. Therefore, to take advantage of the opportunity and build now would be good judgment, for it is only a question of a few months, perhaps weeks, when the price of labor and material will reach the standard which prevailed before the panic. To delay the commencement of a contemplated operation means the payment of enforced costs later on.

Better Car Service for Woodlawn Heights.

ON February 7, 1908, the Public Service Commission, upon the complaint of George W. M. Clark, a lawyer residing at Woodlawn Heights, made a final order directing the Union Railway Company to increase its service upon its Jerome av line so that the company shall operate through cars between 155th st and the city line at Jerome av as follows:

(1) With a headway of not more than four minutes between cars leaving the city line, southbound, between 6.30 and 9 A. M.

(2) With a headway of not more than four minutes between cars leaving 155th st, northbound, between 4.30 and 7 P. M.

(3) With a headway of not more than twenty minutes between cars leaving the city line southbound, on Jerome av, between 1:00 and 5:00 A. M.

(4) At all other times with a headway of not more than eight minutes between leaving the city line, southbound.

This order took effect on February 10th, 1908, and otherwise the previous order of the Commission regarding the Jerome av service made November 22d, 1907, is to remain unaltered.

This order is the result of complaints made as far back as last November and upon which a hearing was granted to representatives of the Woodlawn Heights Taxpayers' Association, of which Mr. Clark is a member, on January 7, 1908. With adequate trolley service and the prospects of a subway extension on the west, and with the electric express service on the Harlem Division and improved trolley service on the east, there is every reason to believe that Woodlawn Heights will grow rapidly and that the recent erection of many new private houses will be fully justified. No section of the city is more completely improved and has less chance of future assessments, and consequently it has become and is becoming a very popular locality for first-class residential purposes.

Start the New Subways.

AN ELEVATED STRUCTURE FOR JEROME AVENUE PROBABLE.

At a citizens' outpouring before the Board of Estimate on Friday immediate subway construction for Manhattan was demanded, with extensions into the Bronx.

The Central Federated Union asked that 180,000 idle men be considered. Starting new subways in Manhattan and the Bronx would revive business.

Edward Polak, of the Association of Real Estate Brokers, presented a petition asking for the Lexington av line.

James L. Wells, for the North Side Board of Trade, said the Bronx wanted the Lexington av line, and wanted it quickly. "Don't quibble, but build," he said. "You can't give relief to the central portion of Manhattan and the Bronx with a line up 2d or 3d av."

Borough President Haffen advocated a change in the plan so that an elevated extension will be built on Jerome av, because it would cost only $3,500,000, while a subway would cost $15,000,000. The elevated line could also be built in less than half the time.

The whole subject was referred to a select committee which will hold public hearings and report recommendations.

Trying to Introduce a New Fire Escape.

The old-style external fire-escape may be relegated out of existence if the International Society of Building Inspectors are successful in their efforts to have cities incorporate in their building requirements a rule that will give every structure a safe and positive fire-escape. It is generally conceded that to climb down the rungs of the average iron fire-escape ladder is no ordinary feat, and one that requires steady nerves and strong muscles. The main stairs, it is contended, is the most natural means of egress to which people will turn in a moment of need. In this connection a leading journal says:

"The main stairs of every building should be made absolutely incombustible, should be enclosed in fireproof enclosures, either walls of brick or tile or screens of steel or wire glass, and have self-closing doors at every landing. They should abut either upon the street or into a fireproof corridor leading to the street, and from such a corridor there should be none but absolutely fireproof communications, doors, etc., to any other portion of the building. It may be a slight inconvenience to open and close a door every time one goes up or down a stairway, but this is counterbalanced by the absolute security and safety afforded by such a stairway. It is the sanest and safest fire exit that could be devised, and there should be no time lost in making this suggested change in our ordinances operative, compelling new buildings to be so built and the old ones, wherever possible, changed as speedily as possible."

It may be added that certain modern hotels already possess this excellent variety of fire-escape.

Modern Methods of Recording.

There is an interesting device in use at the office of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company to show at a glance the distribution, amount and character of the mortgage loans, the payment of which is guaranteed by its associate company, the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company. A sectional map of the city has been mounted on large screens which revolve on a central standard such as may be seen in the botanical collections in the American Museum of Natural History. Whenever the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company guarantees the payment of a loan, a small tag with the amount of the loan is attached to the map in its proper location by a pin which has a head of a different color to represent each class of investment, apartment houses being represented by one color, private dwellings by another, etc. If there is any indication of a slump in values affecting any particular part of the city, the company at once has before it all the risks it is carrying and steps can be taken not to renew these risks, as they expire. The company is also enabled to prevent the placing of too many risks in a single district.

City Bond Sale Oversubscribed.

When the large tin boxes which contained the bids for the new city bond issue were opened, it was immediately apparent that the issue was oversubscribed many times. All told 1,103 offers were received. The Morgan syndicate bidding 103.377. This was a higher price than Wall street had anticipated.

The success of this issue clearly shows that the investment public have confidence in Manhattan. This really means Manhattan realty—for it is from real estate that this money will in a large measure be repaid.

The building of additional subways will be undoubtedly now commenced. The sum of $2,500,000 from the $50,000,000 bonds sold will be applied to this work. All told, $37,500,000 will be expended for various municipal purposes.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no officia ldesignation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assesment roll of 1907.

ATLAS PORTLAND CEMENT

30 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgages, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

February 7, 8, 10, 11 and 13.

THIS current year was long ago set down in the register of rapid transit developments as a year for the realization of great hopes. The dates for completing (1) the Brooklyn subway, connected by subaqueous tubes to the Battery; (2) the upper McAdoo tunnel to Jersey City, and (3) the Belmont tunnel to Long Island City, all fell within the bounds of the year 1908—and it has arrived. The Pennsylvania Railroad's new terminal and the Blackwell's Island Bridge were also once on this year's list of great works to be completed. The tunnel to Brooklyn is already in service, the one to the Jersey shore will be opened next week, and the Belmont undertaking has what President Patton of Princeton calls the faculty of ultimate arrival. Popular anticipation connected these events with a great exodus, divided into three streams, one to New Jersey, one to Brooklyn and the third to Queens, and with appalling vacancies in the apartment houses of the old city. Attending upon the migration were to be wonderful building movements in the favored suburbs. Objects which at a distance seem close together spread out as one draws nearer to them; the circumstances attending the opening of new exits from Manhattan are doing the same. Some have run on before, and others will lag far behind; so gradual are the changes certain to be, the equilibrium of property interests can scarcely be disturbed. It is only a supposition that a million New Yorkers are anxious to live either in northern New Jersey or on Long Island, and are waiting only for quick transit to remove the last obstacle to their going. But it affords a good working basis for large real estate and building operations in those sections, and these the natural annual overflow from Manhattan, which leaves no voids, will reward and justify. Providing for this overflow will keep their dwelling-house builders busy, and leave plenty for the apartment and tenement house builders of the city. At present there is no unusual movement of population in any direction. In fine, circumstances are the reverse of the anticipations for the year which should see such works of magnitude completed. There is less activity than at any time since their construction was commenced. While this can be accounted for by reasons having no connection with the several tunnels, it is yet a circumstance so peculiar as to cause remark and to suggest the idea that it is only the lull before the boom.

NOW that the upper McAdoo tunnel is about to be opened to travel, appreciation for its singularly advantageous position is penetrating the public mind. Wonder is expressed that capital was at first so slow in coming to its aid, and remarks are heard that the city was more generous than it realized when granting the right of way for the eastern approaches. No better lines are conceivable for the "draining" of the middle West Side, and travel will flow into it as naturally as streams from a watershed. Some critics consider the position inimical to residential property on the upper West Side, but this does not follow, since it implies stronger attractions than New Jersey possesses, no matter how easily accessible it may be made. There are two ways of regarding the Hudson and New Jersey railroad: in one aspect it appears merely as a convenient outlet for the population of Manhattan Island, serving a purpose similar to the East River tunnels and bridges; and in the other aspect as an inlet for passenger traffic from a number of trunk-line railroads terminating on the Jersey shore. What the city may lose in one way will be made up in another, it is thought. On both sides of the river the tunnel has long approaches. On the Jersey side they extend between the Lackawanna depot on the north and the Pennsylvania depot on the south; and on the New York side, with one arm reaching to Greeley Square and the other to Astor place, the subway approaches half encircle the principal shopping district. No other railroad terminating here has a strategical position comparable with this. But while the tunnel line will be a fine adjunct to certain trunk roads, it is not apparent that the vexations of street-car travel in Jersey City and vicinity will be lessened. For rapid-transit after leaving the tunnel, commuters will still have to depend on the steam lines, and these will continue to distribute their passengers over a wide territory, so that whatever gain in population follows in the course of time will be divided among many localities. At the annual banquet of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of Jersey City and Vicinity on last Tuesday evening it was said that vacancies in dwellings and apartments throughout the section were almost nil, and that the opportunity presented to builders who could command capital was very exceptional.

NOTICE has been taken by the Public Service Commission of the long desire for a station on the Elevated road on Columbus avenue at Ninety-ninth street, and a hearing has been set for next Tuesday. As the nearest stations to this locality are at Ninety-third street on one hand, and One Hundred and Fourth street on the other, the interval amounts to eleven blocks, when ordinarily stations are not farther apart than half that number of city blocks. A period of nearly twenty-five years has passed since the Elevated was opened to travel, but not until the Subway through Broadway was operated did this particular quarter obtain any better transit than the surface cars afforded. While the sections north and south participated in the general improvements of the times, this quarter was passed over until very recent years, when the Subway brought some relief. The inequality in the surface, with the consequent unusual height of the structure above the ground, has been the reason for not building stations at Ninety-ninth street; but this defect of itself does not account for the backwardness of the neighborhood, as would become apparent after the erection of suitable stations. At this time the proposal is to have escalators to convey passengers to and from the platforms. Though coming late, it is believed such an improvement would ultimately have the effect of relieving the blight that has been almost the only drawback to the upper West Side.

A COMMITTEE of the Board of Estimate is charged with the serious duty of inquiring into the whole subject of subway construction arising out of the communication from the Public Service Board asking approval of the plans for the construction of rapid-transit railways on the modified Lexington avenue, Girard avenue and Canal street routes, and consent to the building of the roads. The Estimate Board is the authority having control of the streets through which the subway lines are to be built, and it is also the power which must provide the financial means. At the outset the Comptroller assures the committee that the City has no money for subway construction—in Manhattan and the Bronx—and if the property owners of these boroughs insist on further extensions, they must amend the Elsberg law. A legislative bill to accomplish this has very properly been prepared by the Allied Real Estate Interests and has been introduced at Albany. Its purpose is to conserve the real interests of the city at large in a crisis when the greatest need is for an equitable distribution of transit facilities. An important recommendation to the committee by President Haffen of the Bronx is that, with the desire to save both time and expense, the Jerome avenue extension of the proposed new East Side subway be made an elevated structure instead of, as now officially planned, an underground road. It is extremely important that the West Bronx should be well served at this time. Thousands of home-seekers have within recent years invested their savings in building sites there with the hope and expectation of a rapid-transit road being built along Jerome avenue to Woodlawn cemetery, and no new section of the great city would be more quickly and handsomely developed under rapid-transit conditions, or more richly reward the builders.

How to Get at Just Values.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

In regard to the proposed bill that all transactions in real estate express the true consideration, I consider that a bill of this character would be a detriment to real estate. The bill is of no benefit that I can see except to enable incompetent assessors to determine the value of property. The consideration mentioned in deeds will in many instances not be the true consideration, to wit: A tenant occupying a house in which he conducts his business desiring to remain in his present location buys the house and pays a price for it that is above the true value of the property.

The adjoining property, if it be similar in character, will naturally be taxed by the assessors at the same price as this property sold for, which is unjust, as the property is not worth the money.

Another instance is that about one-third of all real estate transactions are in the form of trades. The considerations expressed are in many cases above the true value of the property. If the parties to a trade wish to promote values, they place inflated prices on both pieces. On the other hand, if they wish to retain the properties and desire that the taxes be kept down the properties are both placed in the trade at low valuations. In each case the true value is not expressed.

A purchaser of real estate would be misled in most cases if he relied upon the assessed values. If he is not personally posted the only safe course is to get the best expert opinion obtainable. The only true way for the city to get at just values is to have assessors who are recognized as experts in the districts they assess. Taxpayers are finding their burden greater from year to year. If the assessing is not done in a spirit of fairness, the day is not far distant when New York City real estate will cease to be a desirable form of investment.

Mr. Deeves Defends the Lien Law.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

In the second paragraph of the very interesting letter of Mr. E. J. McLaughlin in reference to Mechanics Lien Laws, he states: "But I fear he has only replied to one side of the question, namely, the reliable builder, who takes very large contracts with very reliable people, and who consequently does not need the lien law—revised or unrevised." In answer to the same I have in my forty years' experience as builder been very careful with whom I made contracts, but I have not always been successful in avoiding mistakes in making contracts, and have had to depend on liens on various occasions; and, fortunately for me, the liens saved the day. On several occasions it took me over two years to collect my money, but I finally won.

It is not necessary for business men who furnish labor and materials in the building line to depend on the lien laws. He can go into court under the common law and commence his suit, but while that suit is pending, which may take three years to reach, the piece of property whereon the plaintiff has invested his money may have changed title a dozen times, WITH NO CLOUD ON THE TITLE OR PROTECTION FOR HIS CLAIM BEYOND THAT OF AN ORDINARY CREDITOR. To me, the man who would furnish materials or labor on a building in this city and favor the abrogation of all lien laws, would be like the man who falls overboard from a vessel at sea and refuses a life-preserver when thrown to him. My advice to men who have materials or labor to furnish in the improvement of real estate in New York is to avoid the mushroom speculator or builder. As a friend has advised me on various schemes, "The best way to get out and save your money is not to go in."

In paragraph 4 of Mr. McLaughlin's letter he tabulates the amount of liens filed and the amount of liens satisfied. Those figures do not tell the whole story. They only show THAT THERE WERE CLOUDS PLACED ON THE TITLES AMOUNTING TO $1,284,452.41, and satisfied liens WHICH WERE PAID TO REMOVE THE SAID CLOUDS from the title to the property of $493,412.02, making a difference of $791,040.39 to be used for and finally collected and reported under the head of "satisfied judgments."

I am pleased that Mr. McLaughlin agrees with me that a lien law would not be good for anything that would try to get in ahead of a mortgage already filed.

In answer to paragraph 7 of his letter, in relation to validity of a lien filed within 30 days after an assignment has been made, I simply reiterate what I have said heretofore that under the present lien law, pages 43 and 93 of annotated Mechanics Lien Law, or sections 1 and 5 of the original law of 1885, Mr. McLaughlin will find that any person furnishing labor and materials to a building in the City of New York, can within 30 days from the date of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, have a valid lien for said materials and labor—TAKING PRECEDENCE OF SAID ASSIGNMENT. This clause in the Lien Law came through my insistence on the lawyer who drew up the lien law for our committee. This was after the Fish failure on the Booth Theater, 23d st and 6th av, wherein the builders were caught in said failure and I think lost considerable money. The lawyer told me then that the Legislature would never pass a bill with that clause in it, but I insisted on its going in, and if they refused to pass the bill with that clause why we would try and get along without it. The clause was inserted and is in the law to-day, and it has worked splendidly for the builders of this city.

I would suggest to Mr. McLaughlin and others who are dissatisfied with the present lien law to read it over very carefully, and I think they will be better satisfied with it than they are to-day. Since the law was originally passed, in 1885, there have been a great many amendments to it, but the original principles are still there.

The tendency of the times, in the building business, is for the owner and architect to favor dealing with one contractor for the whole job, instead of dealing piece-meal with many contractors; and I consider it better for the material dealer and the sub-contractors for the owner or architect to deal with one RESPONSIBLE contractor, than to be one of a dozen or more sub-contractors taking a contract from the owner direct, as then they have the contractor in the first place to hold, and he is supposed to be responsible, and they have the owner of the property beyond the contractor for any unpaid balances on said contract. In my time I have known of more people to have lost their money through dealing directly with nominal owners than dealing with responsible contractors.

RICHARD DEEVES.

New York, February 20, 1908.

Injustice Under the Lien Law.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

In discussing the letters lately published regarding the lien law, the impression obtained from some members of the steamfitting trade is that the present lien law is a humbug, being of no good even to the builder, who is often subjected to expense, and whose credit is often impaired by an indiscriminating lienor.

Material men have seen time and time again where a builder has put up a few dollars, obtained a piece of property and got a loan by paying a good bonus to the loan man, who well knows that the loan is to be upon somebody's material and labor, which the builder (and often the loan man) knows can never be paid for. The building is completed, the loan not paid, and the loan man steps in and takes away by legalized robbery the material man's money.

Suppose in the jewelry trade a man hires a store, then goes to a loan man and makes arrangements to get a $3,000 loan on goods he expects to buy. Then, as he is able to buy some watches, he gets a $1,000 payment. Then he buys some rings and gets another $1,000 payment. Then he buys some diamonds and gets the balance. Then, when the loan becomes due, if the loan man should take the watches and rings, etc., a criminal action would be started at once. Yet it would be about the same transaction that happens every day in the building trade, and mainly because of a fancied security of the lien law.

There is no reason why the material men should not get together and insist that a law be passed which will make the money that they put in the building equal to that put in by the loan man. Then if a building is sold under foreclosure, each party could prove his amount, and the expense and money realized should be divided pro rata.

Amendments to Rapid Transit Law.

President Allan Robinson, of the Allied Real Estate Interests, has organized his committee to push forward to a successful conclusion his fight for new subways. William Williams was elected chairman of the Committee on Transit. His associates include Clarence H. Kelsey, Alfred E. Marling, B. Aymar Sands, William H. Chesebrough, Robert E. Dowling, J. Frederick Kernochan, Walter E. Frew, Samuel Sloan, W. J. Schieffelin, Louis Stern, Matthew C. Fleming and Allan Robinson.

The proposed amendments to the Elsberg act were made public at a meeting in the Board of Trade and Transportation rooms, 203 Broadway. The city would not be deprived of the right to build its own subways, claim the committee, but they also have the power to allow private capital to do the construction. The Rapid Transit Committee in its statement said:

"The Public Service Commission is allowed by these amendments to ask for bids in the alternative (1) for the operation of a subway built by the city, the term of such lease to be limited to thirty-five years, with twenty years renewal, and (2) for the construction and operation of a subway with a twenty-five year franchise, the city to have the right to revoke the same at any time thereafter on payment of cost of construction."

THE REALM OF BUILDING.

Portland Cement Production in 1907.

The Portland cement producers of the United States have replied so promptly to the statistical inquiries addressed to them by the United States Geological Survey that it is now possible to make a very close estimate of the Portland cement production for the calendar year 1907. Mr. Edwin C. Eckel, who is in charge of the statistical work on cement for the Survey, has accordingly prepared the following statement:

Returns have been received from 87 plants, representing over 95 per cent. of the Portland cement production of the United States. As the ten plants which have not yet replied include only two large producers, it is possible to make a fairly accurate estimate of the total cement production of 1907. The returns so far received indicate that the total output of Portland cement in the United States during the calendar year 1907 was approximately 48,000,000 barrels. This should be compared with an output of 46,463,424 barrels in 1906, and of 33,246,812 barrels in 1905.

Though the production of 1907 shows an increase over that of 1906, it is slight as compared with past annual gains in the cement industry, indicating that the Portland cement production of the United States has now reached a stage in its development where it is directly and promptly affected by general business depression. This fact was predicted in the Survey's cement report for 1906.

The year 1908 commences with a condition in general trade so unsatisfactory that its cement output will probably fall below that of 1907. Existing American plants have now a total capacity of about 60,000,000 barrels a year, and it seems unlikely that much more than two-thirds of this total capacity can be operated profitably in 1908. The only advantage of this condition is that it will act as a check upon fraudulent and foolish promotion of cement projects. There is still room for well-equipped and honestly managed plants, but the safety of the legitimate industry demands that promotion schemes be scrutinized carefully. During the last year the post office officials, the New Jersey Geological Survey and the United States Geological Survey have co-operated in an attempt to safeguard investors in this industry. The same line of action will be continued in the future.

Standard Book for Elevators.

A BOOK on the subject of elevators is one which would naturally be welcomed by architects and owners of real estate, as it is a subject on which practically no such material is available, and it would be of particular interest if it should contain information by which some system of relation between the elevator and the building could be ascertained.

The publication of such a work is announced by Mr. Reginald Pelham Bolton, M. E., the consulting engineer of 527 5th av, New York City, a well-known expert in the installation and operation of elevators.

This volume, the title of which is "Elevator Service," contains a number of diagrams illustrating the limitations of passenger traffic, a point which is very clearly brought out, and by which a rated capacity is assigned to an elevator in proportion to its speed, and to the number of floors to which it affords access.

The establishment of such a basis is a most important step towards the settlement of the difficult problem with which architects and builders are constantly confronted in deciding upon the number and proportions of elevators in their building designs, and Mr. Bolton presents in addition methods and formulas whereby the relation between the building and the elevators may be decided, and the relation of existing buildings to others of similar character, but of different proportions, may be determined. The best division of high buildings for express service is also given, and the architect will find practical suggestions as to the size, relative loads and speeds of cars, with standard proportions, which will go far towards clearing away the annoyances and disappointments in performance which have often resulted from past haphazard methods of proportion.

Schedule and operating conditions are explained, and the best computations are tabulated, with formulas for ascertaining traffic and time of round trips.

Altogether, the work is one of extraordinary interest and value to those concerned in the design and operation of modern buildings, and may be expected to bring the question of access to and from the increasing heights to which they are built into a clearly defined condition, and to enable the subject to be dealt with free from the doubt and uncertainty which has surrounded it hitherto.

A very useful and necessary table of definitions of terms used and often misused in connection with elevators, is appended to the book, and will prove of value by preventing misconceptions, and by aiding correct descriptions in and understanding of specifications.

The Otis Elevator Co. has formed so high an opinion of the practical value of the book that they have ordered two hundred copies for the use of their staff and agencies.

Building In January.

Building operations in January were decidedly slower in many cities compared with the first month of last year, but there are a number of exceptions. Good work is expected to offer when spring opens if financial affairs are permitted to take their natural course. A spirit of optimism prevails. Mills that were closed are being opened. Mercantile business in retail lines compares very favorably to last year's business at this time, though in the wholesale lines stocks have been permitted to run low. A good season of building is generally expected after spring opens. Reports to the American Contractor show the following statistics for the month of January:

City.	Jan., 1908, cost.	Jan., 1907. cost.	Per cent, gain,	loss.
Baltimore	$213,344	$332,060	..	38
Birmingham	63,178	87,370	..	27
Bridgeport	85,520	69,965	22	..

Illuminating Engineers and Department Stores.

The co-operation of the illuminating engineer and the architect is very desirable in the interest of all. A long stride has been taken in recent years toward an efficient and economical illumination, as not only the lamps have been perfected and their efficiency increased threefold, but also the laws of light distribution have been investigated, and it can be safely stated that the illumination which may be obtained at the present time is ten times better than ever before.

Mr. Alfred A. Wohlauer, consulting electrical engineer of 500 5th av, said this week that this fact has been recognized already in the West, and big department stores, like the Marshall Field at Chicago, go so far as to permanently engage an illuminating engineer, and they derived, as stated, great benefit therefrom.

—The New York State Civil Service Commission will hold examinations March 7, and candidates for positions as architectural designer in the office of the State architect and as engineering inspector in the same office. Additional information may be had by addressing the chief examiner, Albany.

Things More Wonderful in Building.

Robert E. Dowling in his address before the real estate class of the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night prophesied that the wonderful things that had been done in real estate here in the last twenty-five years would look small when compared twenty or twenty-five years later to the realty achievements which would be made in that time. He said he remembered the days in the early 80's, when a stage coach line was in operation from 104th st to 32d st and 6th av, which charged each passenger ten cents a ride, and which ran coaches on a half-hour headway. The southern end of that stage route was exactly in front of the site on which is now being built the 6th av terminal station of the Hudson and Manhattan tunnel system between New York and Hoboken. It was an interesting coincidence of the changes which time had wrought that the block to which the stage ran and the tunnel route will run is the same.

Mr. Dowling's set topic was "Realty Corporations." He said he was in favor of the State having some sort of supervision over their operations. The public has not much confidence in realty corporations, and probably will not until the State controls these corporations in some way similar to the supervision it exercises over the life insurance companies and many other corporations.

"I wish I was starting in the real estate business, because I firmly believe that after confidence has been restored in the soundness and stability of the corporate and business life of this country realty progress will be made here that will truly astonish the public. Ever since the attack on the life insurance companies in 1905 realty interests here have suffered severely, because the great money channels of the life insurance companies have been practically closed to them. Now the life insurance companies are lending money back to the people who ought to be paying money to them. The sum of such loans in about four months has reached $170,000,000. That sum, or at least the greater part of it, would unquestionably have been turned into real estate projects if such loans had not been made. The strength of every real estate corporation is measured principally by the efficiency of the individuals who manage it."

Points on the Material Market.

Stocks at slate quarries are reported as low. Most of the quarries have been running on full time, which is unusual at this season.

On Feb. 25 the quartermaster at Fort Hancock, N. J., will open bids for delivering at Highland Beach, N. J., 600 cubic yards macadam stone and 300 cubic yards crushed stone.

Proposals for 10,000 bbls. of Portland cement for the U. S. penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., will be received up to Feb. 28 by the Supt. of Prisons, Dept. of Justice, Washington, D. C.

Mr. John Furlong, Jr., son of the John Furlong who was connected with G. P. Sherwood & Co. for forty-six years, has been admitted to the firm of Michael Cohen & Co., dealers in stone.

A committee of slate manufacturers is preparing a form of constitution for a national association. There are several weak spots in the slate business that could be reached through an association.

Shipments of yellow pine lumber from eight Southern and Southwestern States for the year just past, 3,691,084 M ft., compare favorably with the corresponding 1906 total of 3,354,681 M ft., though the November and December shipments were considerably lower than the end-year shipments in 1906.

The development of the North American Portland Cement Company as the patent-holding company for the Hurry & Seaman coal-burning patents, the Edison long-kiln patents and the Carpenter impinging flame patents must necessarily exercise an important influence on the future of the American cement industry.

An official statement that the cement required for the Panama Canal would be only 4,500,000 barrels has served to put at rest exaggerated ideas concerning the importance of this work to the cement trade. The further statements that bids would be asked for delivery of clinker on the isthmus, and that the Government might possibly erect its own cement plant there, are also of interest to existing American plants.

Bids are wanted until Feb. 27 by the post quartermaster at Fort Totten, N. Y., for furnishing the following AA, double strength glass: Three boxes 18x34 inches, 3 boxes 18x36 inches, 3 boxes 18x38 inches, 1 box 30x38 inches, 2 boxes 16x26 inches, 2 boxes 18x32 inches, 2 boxes 18x30 inches, 2 boxes 18x26 inches, 2 boxes 18x22 inches, 2 boxes 18x18 inches, 2 boxes 16x36 inches, 1 box 16x34 inches, 1 box 16x32 inches, and 1 box 16x30 inches.

Mr. John J. Bell, of the John Bell Company, dealers in masons' building materials at 137th st and Gerard av (Harlem River), regarding the proposition to amend the Mechanics Lien Law, says he has always considered it a good law, except that he believed no lien should have preference over another. "That is," explained Mr. Bell, "that no matter what time the lien is filed it should have no priority to a subsequent lien. This would prevent the filing of a number of liens just because one man was hasty."

Of cement plants whose construction has been undertaken or completed within a year, a number have located in districts already important as cement producers. Several plants along the Pacific coast and in other Western States have settled in fields not yet subject to overproduction. In the South only one important new producer is to be noted—the plant of the Dixie Portland Cement Company, at Copenhagen, Tenn. The district in which most new plants are now under construction or in contemplation is the area reaching from Iowa through Kansas and Oklahoma to northern Texas.

Mr. Oscar R. Maicas, of the Kreischer Brick Mfg. Company, 119 East 23d st, says the local situation has not as yet presented aspects that would facilitate an augury regarding the future probabilities, other than those already in evidence at the commencement of the year. "In other words," added Mr. Maicas, "barring a few minor developments which exerted no special influence over the general situation, the condition and future outlook in the building trades remain practically unaltered. Nevertheless, we believe the existing quiescent state of the material market is merely transitory and that when the apathy prevalent among builders against starting new operations, and among financial institutions against the extension of the necessary accommodations for building purposes has been dissipated, a resumption of the interrupted activity will be again legitimately manifest, although to some extent curtailed as compared with the unprecedented years of 1905 and 1906."

Fredk. Hollender & Co.'s New Stable and Loft Building.

One of the best equipped fireproof stables of the city has just been completed for Fredk. Hollender & Co. at 245 Canal st as an addition to their plant. The accompanying photograph of the complete building, of which Messrs. Kafka & Lindenmeyer are the architects, shows an unusually interesting facade for this type of structure. The building is constructed entirely of reinforced concrete, including the stairs, runways and even the stall partitions, and the mouldings of the facade were cast in the wooden forms simultaneously with the structural work.

There are no interior columns, as reinforced concrete girders span the full width of the building. Pin-connected girder frames and cold twisted lug bars manufactured by the General Fireproofing Co., of Youngstown, Ohio, were the reinforcement used. A great deal of care had to be exercised by the contractors, the Amsterdam Building Co., in the entire work owing to the very treacherous conditions of the soil existing in the locality and the extra heavy loads that were to be imposed on the various floors. The Amsterdam Building Co. has also recently completed several other difficult pieces of work, including the extensive alterations for the Flower Bank, 49 Broadway, and for the Childs Co., at 47 Broadway; 218 West 18th st for E. D. & J. D. Stein, and have under contract the reinforced concrete work for the new factory at Buchanan, N. Y., for the Standard Oil Cloth Co.; the new City Hall, Yonkers, N. Y., and several other general contracts in this city.

The Strength of Savings Banks.

"The Great Strength of Savings Banks in Financial Crises" is the title of a "Finance Primer" published by the Siegfried Advertising Agency. This is only a pocket edition of 10 pages, but has a lot of valuable information gathered from one source or another. It draws attention to the fact that there are in New York fifty-seven savings banks, with an aggregate grand total of 1,825,495 accounts, and, while many people have more than one account, yet it is safe to say that nearly 1,000,000 persons in this city have entrusted their money to these fifty-seven "people's banks." In the largest institution in New York City, with its deposits aggregating about $100,000,000, the total cost of managing its immense volume of business is only $150,000 a year, or considerably less than 1-5 of 1 per cent on its total deposits. There is on deposit in the savings banks of New York City about $977,000,000, and in New York State the grand total of $1,394,000,000.

The Week.

BUSINESS from a broker's standpoint was quiet during this past week. Sales were not numerous. The number of leases consummated were few. The amount of money loaned on mortgage was not large. The consensus of opinion is that the sales market will be more active when the spring season sets in. Brokers are using this opportunity to get their lists in order, so when the market becomes brisk again they will be in position to handle it properly.

The sale of the northeast corner of Broadway and 12th st is of special interest, as outside capital purchased it. In round numbers one million dollars is involved in this deal. Some Pittsburgh properties were given in exchange, but it is understood that considerable cash changed hands. It is gratifying to note that people who do not live in Manhattan think well enough of realty in this city to invest their funds here in preference to their home city. This building just disposed of was built in 1902 by John H. Parker, who built the "Parker building" that was recently destroyed by fire.

West 125th st came in for a sale. The 5-sty triple flat, 512 West, was disposed of. This property rents for $2,700. Rafford Hall, a 6-sty elevator structure, on the northwest corner of Broadway and 144th st, 100x100, changed hands. This property is mortgaged to the Republic of Panama for $170,000. It is built to a depth of 80 ft. There is a beautiful outlook over the Hudson River. One of the features of the west side of Broadway is that the rear apartments can be easily rented, because they have a river view and the afternoon sun, while the front apartments can be rented because they face the street and have the morning sun. This Broadway sale is said to have cost the new owner $325,000. Two 6-sty apartment houses, 447 and 449 West 163d st, were sold. They occupy a plottage of 75x112.6, and are located 175 ft. west of Edgecombe av. The northeast corner of Grand and Attorney sts changed hands. This plot, 40x100, is built with a 6-sty tenement, and subject to a mortgage of $104,300. It is assessed at $95,000.

Among the mortgages recorded during the week just past was one for $225,000, by the Garfield Building Co., to Richard I. Brewster, on the property, 28 East 10th st, 46x92.3. This mortgage was dated February 14, 1908. The due date and rate appear only in the bond. Mrs. Russell Sage again appeared as a loaner of money on realty. She made a loan to James M. Lowe of $100,000 on the property, 67 and 69 West 125th st, for 3 years, at 5½ per cent. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. loaned $100,000 at 6 per cent, on the parcel at the northwest corner of 109th st and Amsterdam av, to Irving Judis, due May 1, 1911. On February 1, 1907, Mr. Judis purchased, 100x100, on the northwest corner of 109th st and Amsterdam av from Messrs Mandelbaum & Lewine, subject to a mortgage of $104,000. At the present time there is a 6-sty apartment house, built to a depth of 90 feet, on the corner plot, on which the company has just placed the loan, and the rest of the plot has been improved with another 6-sty house, with a frontage of 40 feet.

A lease for life was given on the property 101 Cherry st and 86 Oliver st, which adjoins. The consideration was purely nominal, one dollar being the amount stipulated. The former property is located on the southeast corner of Cherry and Oliver sts, and is 16.8x42, with a 4-sty brick building with store. There is a liquor license on this property. The other house, 86 Oliver st, is a 5-sty tenement with two stores, 29x50.2. Annunciata Ganzza gave the lease to Bartolomeo Ganzza. The leasing by the Safe Deposit Co. of 10,000 square feet in the new Singer Building has special significance, as it means in all probability that the old home of the company, 146 Broadway, will be demolished and a modern office building built on its site. A lease, to the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Co., of the northwest corner of Broadway and Duane st, for 40 years, at an amount aggregating $1,600,000, is also worthy of notice. This means an annual rental of $40,000.

The total number of mortgages recorded for Manhattan this week was 146, as against 118 last week, and in the Bronx 118, as against 88 last week. The total amount involved is $3,154,479, as against $2,398,154 last week.

The total number of sales reported is 56, of which 9 were below 59th st, 29 above, and 18 in the Bronx. The sales reported for the corresponding week last year were 128, of which 44 were below 59th st, 44 above, and 40 in the Bronx.

THE AUCTION MARKET

There are several offerings at voluntary sale on Wednesday, February 26. Joseph P. Day will place on sale, 29 East 63d st, a 4-sty brownstone dwelling, 20x55x100; 223 West 78th st, a 3-sty brownstone dwelling with 2-sty extension, 20x55x100; 76 St. Mark's pl, a 5-sty and basement brick and stone tenement, 25x79x97; 36 Grove st, a 3-sty brick dwelling, 21x60x100; 4218 3d av, a 5-sty apartment with store, 20x90.6, and a vacant lot on the east side of White Plains road, 55 feet north of Barnett pl, 25x100.

This sale will have a tendency to test the pulse of the market. It will show in a great measure just how eager buyers are to acquire realty at auction at this time. It will also indicate probable prices that will be obtained by the Wright estate at their sale on the week following. This latter sale, as well as the sale of the holdings of the Meek estate in March, are important.

At the stand of Joseph P. Day on Monday, 1036 Beck st, on the south corner of Prospect av, 96x irregular, together with a plot 78x125x irregular, abutting on Fox st, with a 5-sty tenement, went to the plaintiff for $38,000. The amount due was $39,299.66 plus taxes and other charges amounting to $2,760.16. At the same stand on Tuesday the 2½-sty building was put up at voluntary sale and was bid in at $15,000. The size of the plot is 19x56.7x19x55.4. The 2-sty dwelling, 2439 Walton av, 181.2 feet south of Fordham road, 16.6x82, was knocked down to Thomas J. Goodwin for $4,150. The amount due was $2,798.27 and the taxes and other charges were $140.87. The rest of the offerings on this day at this stand were either adjourned or were bid in by the plaintiffs in the several actions.

At the stand of Bryan L. Kennelly on Tuesday the 6-sty flat, 503 West 143d st, 525 feet east of Broadway, 75x99.11, went to the Realty Transfer Co., the plaintiff. The amount due in this action was $16,899.56, with taxes and other charges an additional $1,439.33. This property was subject to a prior mortgage of $100,000. The price paid was $116,067. Only a few weeks ago the block front on Hamilton pl, between 143d and 144th sts was sold at auction and brought $821,510. The northwest corner of Hamilton pl and 143d st was subsequently sold through H. D. Baker & Brother for the Realty Transfer Co., who as plaintiffs were the purchasers.

At the stand of Peter F. Meyer, on Wednesday, the southwest corner of Eastern Boulevard and Country Club av, vacant, was knocked down to Morris Franklin for $1,500. The amount due was $1,241.02. The taxes and other charges aggregated $6,720. Vivian Green was the plaintiff in this action, and G. F. Gminder et al, the defendants.

At the stand of Joseph P. Day on Thursday, 4 Doyer st, 20x62.5, a 4 and 5-sty tenement and store was knocked down to M. A. Rauch and Charlotte Wise, parties in interest for $18,600. This was a partition sale. The southwest corner of Lafontaine av and 178th st, 25x100, a 5-sty flat, was sold to David Miller for $27,500. The amount due was $20,929.30; taxes and other charges amounting to $160.18. All told the week from an auction standpoint was not propitious.

The amount involved in the auction sales up to Thursday night was $868,008, and since January 1, $7,986,249. Last year the total for the week was $259,995, and from January 1, $4,292,174.

—An interesting lease was recorded affecting the properties, 101 Cherry and 86 Oliver st. Annunciata Ganzza recorded the lease, for life, to Bartolomeo Ganzza, of the two houses which adjoin. The former is located on the southeast corner of Oliver st., and is 16.8x42. On the plot is a 4-sty brick building, which is built to the full depth of the lot. There is a liquor license on the premises. The latter house is 29x50.2, a 5-sty brick tenement with two stores. The structure is 40 feet deep. It is located 90 feet from the corner of Water st. The rental consideration is $1 per year.

Can't Be Adjudicated a Bankrupt.

REAL ESTATE CORPORATIONS ARE NOT MANUFACTURERS OR ENGAGED IN MERCANTILE PURSUITS.

An appeal from a decision of the U. S. District Court adjudicating the Kingston Realty Company a bankrupt, has been successful. The decision of the district court has been reversed by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The only question presented upon this appeal was whether this corporation—the Kingston Realty Company—prior to the institution of these proceedings was engaged principally in manufacturing, trading and mercantile pursuits, and so came within the following provision of the bankrupt law:

> Any corporation engaged principally in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing, mining, or mercantile pursuits, owing debts to the amount of one thousand dollars or over may be adjudicated an involuntary bankrupt.—(Section 4b as amended.)

The certificate of corporation of this company stated: "The purposes for which it is formed are the purchasing, holding, improving by grading, paving, sewering and construction of houses and other buildings, and the selling and leasing of real estate."

It is true that "the susceptibility to bankruptcy of a corporation does not depend upon its charter." Whether it can be adjudged a bankrupt depends upon what it actually does, not what it is empowered to do.

The principal assets of the Kingston Realty Company were found to be real estate, and it carried on a business amounting to ten million dollars in three years, the general nature of which was as follows: It acquired many parcels of real estate and improved them by the erection of buildings and otherwise. When improved it sold them and purchased other parcels which it likewise improved. It held some of its property and leased it. Sometimes it sold the vacant lots which it acquired. It purchased large amounts of materials for its buildings. It operated window-frame factories and stone-crushing and concrete making plants, most of the products of which it used in its operations. Some of its products, however, were sold to outside parties and it sometimes bought and sold building materials. It operated a city hotel, which it owned, and had at one time operated a summer hotel. But it did not appear that these last dealings were of magnitude as compared with the real estate operations. The principal business of the corporation, therefore, was in the opinion of the superior court that stated in its certificate of incorporation, although it engaged in some incidental and possibly ultra vires transactions.

The corporation was a real estate company. Apparently it was not engaged in manufacturing or in trading or mercantile pursuits. One of these two propositions had then, as we learn from the papers in the case, to be established before the bankrupt law could possibly apply: (1) Building houses is manufacturing. (2) Dealing in real estate is trading or a mercantile pursuit.

In the opinion handed down the court says: "And even if one of these propositions be established, the basis for apportioning the business and determining what particular branch the corporation was principally engaged in is not obvious. But we need not consider that question unless and until it is reached.

"Is the building of houses manufacturing? It strains the term to use it so. Goods, wares and merchandise are manufactured; houses are constructed. Houses are real estate. They are not articles of commerce, and the term manufacturing as used in the statute does not apply to their construction.

" 'The distinction would seem to run along the line of those articles which are more or less fixed in place, and not ordinarily the subjects of bargain and sale as articles of commerce, as contradistinguished from those which are movable and ordinarily regarded as subjects of sale and manual transfer—articles of trade in the common course of mercantile business.' (Columbia Ironworks vs. National Lead Co., 127 Fed. 99, 102 Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit.)

"If this corporation had been engaged in constructing houses upon other persons' land instead of upon its own, there might possibly be more ground for claiming that the statute applies. But it is held that construction companies are not engaged in manufacturing."

* * "The same distinction between real and personal property involved in defining the term 'manufacturing' arises in interpreting the terms 'trading' and 'mercantile pursuits.' Dealing in articles of commerce—goods and merchandise—alone constitutes trading or a mercantile pursuit as those terms are used in the statute. A dealer in land is neither a trader nor a merchant.

"For these reasons we hold that this real estate corporation did not belong to the classes of corporation enumerated in the bankrupt law as subject to adjudication in bankruptcy.

"The decision of the District Court is reversed with costs."

The Consideration Not Always a Guide.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

The proposed Saxe law imposes another burden on real estate already hedged around with numerous statutory restrictions designed to annoy and harrass owners.

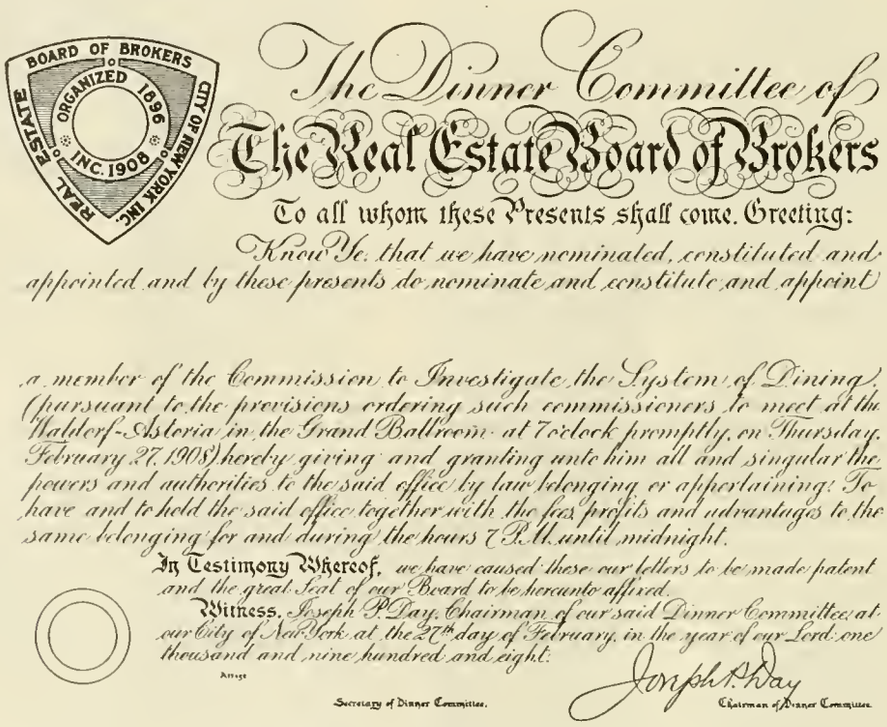
There is no difficulty at present for an active, intelligent and experienced appraiser to familiarize himself with real estate values in the locality allotted to him, through various sources, without regard to consideration in a deed. If alert he will keep himself posted through the owners and real estate agents of the prices of property offered for sale; his experience as a real estate man in this regard will stand him in good stead, and he will be able to judge between real and fictitious values.

The consideration paid for a property is not always a true guide to its value; for instance, an adjoining owner will sometimes pay more than the value for an adjoining parcel to increase the size of his own holdings, either owing to the demands of his business or for other causes.

A buyer may wish a particular business property or residence site for a variety of reasons, price being no object to him (in special cases), and thus pay more than its true value.

Property in Manhattan and the Bronx is now taxed almost to its limit of value, and in many cases for more than it will produce on a sale.

The value a property owner receives for his land is his private concern, not the public's, any more than the price a storekeeper receives for his goods.



Taxes should be imposed upon property estimated on its rental value, not on its cost; in many instances properties do not pay two per cent. on its cost. In such cases the consideration is no guide.

A great injustice will be inflicted on property owners if they are compelled to make public the price paid for land. The provision for secrecy is no protection, as all records are open to inspection and cannot be kept secret.

Real Estate Board of Brokers Dinner.

The dinner of the Real Estate Board of Brokers promises to be a huge success. Final arrangements have been completed. Several surprises are in store for those lucky enough to be able to attend. The Long Island Real Estate Exchange are going to be well represented, having reserved three tables. The New Jersey-New York Exchange, with the Newark Exchange, has reserved two tables. The speakers' subjects have been chosen with a view to locality. Each of the different metropolitan zones will be represented. The boxes, which were sold at auction the other day, have been awarded to Messrs. Francis E. Ward, D. A. Clarkson, A. N. Gitterman, John J. Clancey, D. M. McLaughlin, Wm. G McAdoo, E. A. Tredwell, Guy C. Dempsey, Richard Alexander, A. V. Amy, A. W. Fox, Edward L. King, Joseph P. Day and William H. Britigan.

FACSIMILE OF DINNER INVITATION.

Sir Thomas Lipton Leases Business Building.

A lease was recorded on the property at the southeast corner of Franklin and Hudson sts. This lease was given to Thomas Johnston Lipton, of England, by Mary E. Bechstein, and runs for 15 years, from May 1, 1908, at a graduated rental of from $19,000 to $21,000 a year. This lease was executed by Walter A. W. Melville, as attorney. A power of attorney from Sir Thomas Lipton was also recorded at the same time. This latter document was drawn March 25, 1907. The building just leased is a 6-sty mercantile structure and occupied by Bennett, Sloan & Co., tea importers. The size is 89.3 on Franklin st, 57.3 on Hudson st, 88.7 on Leonard st and irregular on the east.

Meeks Estate at Auction.

An auction sale of importance will take place on March 19 next when the Meeks estate holdings will be disposed of to the highest bidder.

The properties, which are to be sold at the stand of Bryan L. Kennelly, include 14 and 16 Vesey st, a 5-sty business building, 50.2x100, built practically to the full depth of the lot. This structure is located 24.11 west of the Astor House. The New York Real Estate Salesroom is on the street floor of this building. This property has been in the Meeks family a great many years. John and Joseph Meeks acquired an interest in January, 1836. The amount paid was $35,000. On Feb. 2, 1846, an additional interest was purchased for $15,000. John Meeks conveyed to Joseph Meeks his one-half part on Feb. 1, 1875; consideration nominal. The Record and Guide office was in this building for fifteen years prior to moving uptown.

Interesting features of this sale are that this old building will be sold by a real estate house that was established in 1847, and the property will be sold on the premises.

The 5-sty store and loft building 28 Vesey st is also going to be sold to the highest bidder. This building occupies a lot 24.1x76. The adjoining building, 30 Vesey, on the northeast corner of Church st, will also be disposed of. This is a 5-sty structure, 28.4x75, and is also a store and loft building. The only uptown parcel to be sold is 31 West 27th st, 28x65x98.9, situated 137 ft. west of Broadway. This house was used as the residence of the Meeks family for some years, until business necessitated a removal. The price paid in 1854 for this property was $28,000.

Amendments to Elsberg Law.

Allan Robinson, president of the Allied Real Estate Interests, in speaking of the act amending the Elsberg law, said:

"The amendments offered by the Allied Real Estate Interests to the Rapid Transit Act are not intended to deprive the city of the right to build its subways, but are intended to add another method of building subways so that the Public Service Commission in asking for bids on future subways may ask for bids in the alternative (1) subways to be built at city expense and leased to private corporations, and (2) subways to be built and operated by private capital. If for any reason the city could not or would not build future subways, the Public Service Commission would then be in a position to accept bids from private capitalists. The present temper of the people in New York is such that every opportunity should be offered by the law for the building of subways. There is no difference, in our opinion, between a franchise for twenty-five years, such as is provided for in these amendments, and a lease for the same period. In either case the Public Service Commission, representing the city, will have proper oversight and supervision of the operation of such a subway. If city money cannot be had, private money should he allowed to build subways."

—The announcement is made by James Kolb that the firm of Kolb & Walters, 5 Beekman st, was dissolved on Feb. 4, 1908. Mr. Kolb is going to continue in the business at the old address.

Brokers Agitated Over Saxe Bill.

The bill introduced by Senator Saxe in the Legislature has caused a great commotion among real estate brokers. They have not been exercised so greatly over anything in a long time. Almost to a man they condemn the measure as being prejudicial to realty interests. All kinds of reasons are given, but they are unanimous that the actual price paid for a parcel is no one's business except the buyers and sellers. The contention is that real estate owners do not in any way, shape or manner object to paying taxes on what a property is worth, according to law. What it is worth, however, and what it sells for are, in many cases, two different amounts. There are roughly two classes of sales, namely, private and forced sales. The former, according to a leading broker, supposedly, brings a fair price, while the latter hardly ever brings its actual worth.

THINKS IT WILL WORK HARM.

A prominent real estate man who has been in the business for many years, gave as his opinion that it would work great harm to the community at large. He said: "In the first place there are a large number of trades consummated in this city. While, as a rule, an equitable amount of actual cash may change hands, still the prices that are placed by both sides on their respective holdings are usually far in access of their real values. After a sale of this kind has been put on record, the other similar properties on the block would be assessed at like figures. That certainly would be an injustice. In the second place," he continued, "dishonest people will convey properties at abnormally high figures, say 25 per cent. more than their worth, for the purpose of re-sale and in order to mislead intending purchasers. Thirdly, special prices are frequently paid for real estate where a certain lot is wanted to make a plot. Suppose an owner has fifty feet of land on a given street. He wishes the adjoining lot for the purpose of improving with a 75-foot building. This fancy price goes on record and the other owners suffer."

FURTHER INJUSTICES.

"Suppose a man purchases a private dwelling," he went on, "and being artistically inclined spends five thousand dollars in interior fittings. A customer comes along and buys this house, paying an increased price, because the building is in better condition than its neighbors. The rest of the row pays the tax on the additional price. The truth of the matter is," he concluded, "that there are really two prices—one for cash and the other for time, or on mortgage. If an owner has to wait for a portion of his money, he expects, naturally, to be remunerated. What are you going to tax a piece of property on, its cash or its time value?"

VIEWS OF A SPECULATOR.

One of the largest real estate speculators, when asked for his opinion of the bill, said: "It will kill the real estate business. Property must be bought and sold on its merits. There are no two parcels in this city of like value. The same property is rarely worth the same price to two different people. Each man buying Manhattan realty has a fixed purpose. He is very careful to look into all the details before signing a contract. Each man has his own ideas of what kind of an investment he wants. It will certainly greatly injure the business, from a speculator's standpoint, and, after all, is it not the speculator who makes the market possible? Active trading will be killed if you eliminate the professional speculator.

A LAWYER GIVES HIS OPINION.

"Should this bill pass," said a prominent real estate lawyer, "I am quite certain that it will have a tendency to have fictitious prices put in deeds. This not only to have a possible affect on a perspective purchaser, but also to influence those with money to loan on mortgage. On a large deal the new owner will pay his fine of two hundred dollars and charge it to profit and loss. Suppose a man takes advantage of the clause to impart the information solely for the use of the Tax Department. Would not this information come out at the end of the year? Won't people easily figure what the owner said he paid? While I do not buy or sell real estate, still if this measure passes I will be very careful in placing any realty loans."

Commissioner Lawson Purdy, in telling the City Club of the advantages of the Realty Consideration bill, which is now pending at Albany, told of the careful efforts made by the Tax Department deputies to arrive at a true valuation of real estate property. Operators and real estate boomers were anxious to frustrate the attempts made by the department, but he predicted a general lessening of assessments as a result of the measure. It would also, he said, increase the city's borrowing capacity.

To Study Foreign Mortgage Conditions.

Frank Bailey, vice-president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, will sail for Europe on March 7 for a brief trip, during which he will make some stay in France for the purpose of studying the Credit Foncier and French methods of money lending in general, as regards real estate.

Mr. Bailey, who has made an exhaustive study of real estate as collateral, recently expressed the belief that the devotion of large funds to small mortgages on residential real estate is one of the most vital needs of American cities, and especially of Brooklyn, of the present day. He considers that there is no way in which the evils of tenement house life and of too densely populated areas can be better avoided than by the judicious investment of capital in first mortgages on the homes of working people and small wage earners—especially in that class of loans averaging $3,000 and under.

Realty Interests in Jersey Preparing.

More than 150 members and their guests attended the fourth annual banquet of the Board of Real Estate Brokers of Jersey City, held at the Jersey City Club on Tuesday evening. The event marked the gathering of those most conspicuous in realty affairs in Hudson and the immediate adjoining counties. Coming as it did upon the eve of the opening of the Hudson River tunnel it was an occasion which contributed far more than passing interest, for the members of that body, spurred on by the impressive importance of so great an undertaking to property interests in nearby Jersey, took this opportunity of publicly showing their preparedness as an organization to meet the great changes soon to follow.

Perhaps the deepest impressions were made by the remarks of Joseph P. Day, who in telling language importuned the fraternity to depart from the archaic custom of waiting for business to come to them, but to seek it through modern methods. This, he said, could be done in no better way than by newspaper advertising.

Otto Kempner, president of the New Jersey-New York R. E. Exchange, spoke ably on the "Value of Organization to the Broker," urgently counseling unity of effort. Mr. Kempner said that not only would collective exertion on the part of real estate brokers raise the standard of the profession but increase the opportunities for doing business as well. Among other speakers were William Jeffrey, Robert Carey, Rev. Walter B. Greenway and Francis McCauley, of Weehawken.

The success of the banquet was due to the painstaking work of the committee of arrangements, consisting of President Frank Stevens, Geo. A. Foye, Thos. A. Ryer, Francis Gormley and C. Howard Slater.

Allied Real Estate Interests to Incorporate.

The Allied Real Estate Interests, Allan Robinson, president, are going to be incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The work done by this organization has been very beneficial to realty owners. Their duties in looking after owners' interests have been so many that it was thought by those in charge that results would be more easily obtainable should this course be pursued. The organization was originally founded to have the mortgage tax law repealed, and it aided in this materially. The Allied Interests were also in a large measure responsible for the passing of the recording tax law that is in force at the present time.

The articles of incorporation are as follows:

We, the undersigned, all of whom are of full age, at least two-thirds of whom are citizens of the United States, and more than one of whom are residents of the State of New York, desiring to form a corporation pursuant to Article II. of the Membership Corporation Law of the State of New York, do hereby make this certificate for such purpose as follows:

First.—The particular objects for which the corporation is to be formed are to collect and diffuse correct and reliable information relative to real estate, and to promote concerted action by owners of and others interested in real estate in the City of New York concerning all matters affecting their interests.

Second.—The name of the proposed corporation is: ALLIED REAL ESTATE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Third.—The territory in which the operations of the corporation are to be principally conducted is the whole of the City of New York.

Fourth.—The principal office of the corporation is to be located in the City of New York.

Fifth.—The number of the directors of the corporation shall be five.

Sixth.—The names and residences of the persons to be the directors of the corporation until its first annual meeting are as follows: B. Aymar Sands, 58 West 48th st, New York City; Alfred E. Marling, 47 West 47th st, New York City; Charles S. Brown, 247 Lexington av, New York City; Randolph Hurry, 242 Lexington av, New York City; Allan Robinson, Pelham Manor, N. Y.

In witness whereof we have made this certificate in duplicate at the city of New York this .... day of February, 1908.

Thoroughfare Building Open to Public.

On Wednesday last the new building which occupies the block square between Broadway and 8th av, 57th and 58th sts, was opened to the public. This structure is known as the "Thoroughfare Building." It derives its name from the fact that an arcade 15 feet wide has been built through the premises, joining Broadway with 8th av. This thoroughfare will shorten considerably the distance between Broadway and 57th st to 8th av and 58th st. There are eighteen stores along this arcade. The original intention was to have fifty-one stores on the ground floor, but this number was lessened. Several of them were combined into one larger store to accommodate the needs of the occupants. The upper portion of the building will be devoted exclusively to business. It will be remembered that while the old houses were being demolished one of them gave way, injuring some of the wreckers.

The suit is to foreclose a mortgage dated May 15, 1900. It was made by the Morton Trust Co. and the Third Avenue Co., the former as trustee. It was to secure the payment of principal and interest on the bonds. All the real estate holdings of the company as well as the street franchises are involved in this suit.

Some Points a Property Owner Should Know About Electric Lighting.

The user of electricity is frequently inconvenienced by the dimness of some of his incandescent lamps, and in order to supply the deficiency in light instinctively turns on other lamps, with the result that at the end of the month his bill for current supplied is unnecessarily large. When lamps fall off perceptibly in candle power it would be economy for the user to throw them away and provide new ones at his own expense. By this it is meant that it will be more economical for the amount of light obtained, for as the lamps fall off in candlepower more must be lit if it is desired to equal the original quality of light.

The system of having all the lamps in a room controlled by one wall switch is another source for wasting current. One enters a room to get a pamphlet or on some like errand, the switch is turned on, and immediately the room is flooded with the light of a half dozen or more lamps, when one, or perhaps two, would have been sufficient. If your lighting system is controlled entirely by switches, turn off all lamps with the exception of those actually required for the desired illumination. This may be done by either turning the key at the socket or unscrewing the bulb until the electrical connection is broken.

Excessive electric light bills are frequently traced to a "ground" in the circuit, which can easily be detected upon examining your current meter. To do this properly, extinguish all lights just before retiring, read the dials accurately, then re-read the next morning and compare. If the meter has registered during the interval, your wiring requires immediate attention. Failure to remedy a "short circuit," however slight, may result in a serious fire. A faithful observance of these suggestions will be found profitable.

PROPERTY OWNERS' SECTION.

Delancey Street Widening.

ASSESSMENT ELIMINATED BY CITY AUTHORITIES.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment at its meeting held on Friday, Feb. 14, 1908, adopted a resolution to the effect that the whole expense for the acquisition of the property required by the city for the widening of Delancey st, from Suffolk st to the Bowery, in the Borough of Manhattan, should be borne and paid for by the City of New York, the original resolution of the Board adopted July 28, 1903, provided that 70 per cent. of the cost for the widening should be assumed by the city and 30 per cent. by the property owners deemed to be benefited, in which event in view of the awards of almost four million dollars, for the property taken in the proceeding, the assessment would amount to in round figures about one million dollars. The area of assessment as adopted by the Commission extends east to the middle of the block, between Willett and Sheriff sts, north to 100 ft. beyond St. Marks pl, south to the middle of the block between East Broadway and Henry st and west to the middle of the block between Wooster st and West Broadway. There were over 1,800 separate parcels assessed, running in individual cases from five to $27,000, the matter was referred to a select committee by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on Oct. 11, 1907, consisting of the Comptroller, the Corporation Counsel, the President of the Board of Alderman and the President of the Borough of Manhattan.

A special act was passed known as Chapter 444 of the laws of 1907, which gave the Board power to eliminate the assessment if it deemed it advisable. The committee report recited in part "that there has been an unqualified discrimination on the part of the city in this instance, as it has assessed abutting owners to pay for land required for approaches to bridges, and access to said bridges, which has never heretofore been known." The property owners were ably represented by I. T. Flatto, of No. 150 Nassau st, who was formerly connected with the Real Estate Bureau of the Department of Finance; Edward Kaufman, former County Clerk of Brooklyn, and Jacob Katz, of the East Side Property Owners' Association. The unjust discrimination was clearly shown in that there was no local assessment for the extension of Delancey st from the Bowery to Elm st, and the widening of Delancey st, from Clinton st to the East River, and in the Borough of Brooklyn there was no local assessment for the acquisition of property for the extension of Flathush av, and the widening of Roebling st and Montrose av, which are on the Brooklyn end of the Williamsburgh Bridge. The present status of the matter has caused rejoicing on the East Side. Mr. Justice O'Gorman on Feb. 17 referred the matter again to the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment. E. S.

How to Conserve Heat in Range Boilers.

Owners of apartments and buildings equipped with the range style of boiler frequently complain of the rapid cooling of water attending their use, particularly during the night, when most fires have been banked. This occurrence is annoying to early risers and unless a good fire is kept going hot water in the morning is a luxury not to be enjoyed. One of the best preventatives of the loss of heat by radiation as applied to boilers is a well lined covering such as asbestos or hair. If a jacket of such material be laced or sewed on the boiler, leaving no parts exposed, it will be found an excellent heat conservator. It will keep hot water ready for use when the fire is low, and even after the fire has been out for some hours hot water may be drawn from the faucet. To make a neat appearance the covering should be enclosed in a jacket of fine painted canvas which can easily be cleaned by scrubbing. Perfect fitting covers of the material described are now manufactured in large quantities and may be purchased from either boiler dealers or any of the plumbing supply houses.

Legislative Digest.

The act prepared by the Torrens Commission in relation to registering titles to real property, and facilitating and expediting its transfer, is to be known as "the land title registration law." It consists of 66 sections, with two schedules annexed. Section 64 specifies the fees to be charged by registrars for the various services performed pursuant to the act as follows:

(a) Filing the application, including entering it in the entry book, indexing it, and entering it in tickler certificate book, $1.50; (b) entering and filing each order of service or summons, 75c.; (c) entering and filing order appointing guardian ad litem, 75c.; (d) entering, filing and indexing judgment and issuing certificates of title in accordance therewith, and indexing same, $5; (e) entering, filing and indexing any lien, incumbrance or charge pending registration or subsequent thereto, $1; (f) entering, filing and indexing a deed or other paper requiring the cancellation of one certificate and the issue of another—for each new certificate issued, $2; (g) entering, filing and indexing any instrument cancelling any lien or incumbrance on a certificate, 50c.; (h) making any additional certificate, 50c.; (i) entering, filing and indexing a caution, $1.

Mr. Fowler's bill imposes a tax of 50 cents per cwt. on every automobile, the proceeds to be devoted to the maintenance of highways.

Two resolutions directed to the Greater New York Public Service Commission have been introduced in the Assembly. One of the bills calls for the immediate construction of new subways. It says in part:

"If the work of building such subways is commenced without delay it will bring about the two-fold result of bettering the transit facilities for the people generally and opening a wide field for employment of labor, which will relieve to a great degree the distressing conditions now existing among the vast number of unemployed."

Mr. Strauss has introduced a bill establishing a commission on appeal in New York and Buffalo, to which appeals may be taken from orders of the Tenement House Department by owners of tenement houses erected prior to April 10, 1901. The Tenement House Commissioner of New York City is to be one of the five commissioners and the other four are to be appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate. The Buffalo commission is to consist of three members.

Mr. Strauss has also introduced a bill repealing the law prohibiting the use of basements for sleeping apartments.

The subway construction bill favored by the Allied Interests of the State of New York has been introduced in the Assembly by Mr. Beverley R. Robinson.

It provides for indeterminate franchises with a minimum period of twenty-five years during which time the city shall not have the right to take over the franchise and property of the railroad corporation and to extend from twenty to thirty-five years the period for which a franchise for the equipment maintenance and operation of a subway constructed at city expense can be given.

The indeterminate franchise provision permits the sale of a franchise to maintain and operate a subway for a fixed period of not more than twenty-five years, and thereafter until the city at its option shall repay to the company the cost of construction and purchase the property owned and used by the company in connection with the subway. The terms of such purchase by the city must provide that no allowance shall be made to the company as payment for its franchise.

When such a franchise is offered for sale bids may be asked for the construction and operation of the road, either in cash or in annual fixed payments, or in payment to the city of a proportion of the net income annually after deducting from the gross income operating expenses and interest on the cost of construction and equipment at a rate fixed in the bid. Bids may be called for on any or all of these bases at the same time, and the Public Service Commission is at liberty to accept any one of the bids which it believes to be for the best interests of the city.

Power is given the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to exercise on behalf of the city the right to recapture the subway, and any resolution or ordinance exercising this right must fix a time, not less than one year nor more than two years after its adoption, when the subway shall be recaptured and the corporation paid for it. The deposit by the successful bidder of cash or approved securities with the Comptroller is made to cover a guarantee of compliance with the requirements of the terms of sale relating to the construction and equipment of the road and not its operation.

BRONX COUNTY AGITATION.

Assemblyman Schmidt on Tuesday introduced a bill providing for the reference to the people of the question whether the Borough of the Bronx shall be erected into an independent county. The text of the bill follows:

"Section 1. At the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, nineteen hundred and eight, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the Borough of the Bronx, of the City of New York, as now constituted, the question of whether such borough shall be erected into a separate county by the Legislature of this State. The proposition so submitted shall be:

"'Shall the Borough of the Bronx, as now constituted, be erected into a separate county by the Legislature of this State?'

The Senate Cities Committee has determined to report favorably Senator Owen's bill giving the New York Central franchise rights in East 149th st, East 144th st, Spencer and Cheever pls and Mott av. If the bill become a law the New York Central will have the right to close any of the streets named. It is a duplicate of a bill the railroad has been seeking to have passed for several years.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the lusurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$39,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assesment roll of 1907.

Tel., 2017 Cortlandt Send for our book "WATER TAX?"

BROAD EXCHANGE BUILDING, 25 BROAD ST., Oct. 7, 1907

GENTLEMEN: We wish to express to you our satisfaction with the manner in which you have attended to the various investigations made at our request. You are rendering a service to attorneys, title companies, and real estate owners for which there was a great demand, and which never before received attention. At the closing of a title one of the most annoying matters was the adjustment of the amount due for use of water. This your company has entirely obviated. I have recommended your company to many interested parties and have heard of no complaints in connection therewith. Wishing you success, we remain, Very truly yours, KURZMAN & FRANKENHEIMER.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgages, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the Instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.
